Powerful New Missile Announced by Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Lyndon Johnson sent the U.S. Congress a special message on defence today, disclosing plans to develop a new submarine-carried ballistic missile with twice the destructive power of the Polaris.

Called the Poseidon, the new missile was one of a range of new strategic weapons outlined by the president as means of keeping American retaliatory power ready to deter attack.

The president said that a new short-range attack missile called Spam will be developed for possible deployment on B52 or other bombers. It will be a winged missile, a "vast improvement" over present types.

Despite improvements in military power to be made in the fiscal year starting next July 1, Johnson said expansion in previous years and rigorous economies will make it possible to cut defence spending $300 million.

DEFENCE COSTS

He estimated defence spending for the present year at $49.3 billion, indicating that next year's will be $49 billion.

"The danger of war remains ever with us," Johnson said in outlining the policies that will guide his defence program.

"But if the hope of peace is sturdier than at any other time in these two decades, it is because we—and free men everywhere—have proved preparedness to be 'the most effectual means of preserving peace'."

Johnson's allusion to preserving peace by preparing for war was taken from George Washington's first message to Congress.

The president described

ARROWS LOSE HEADS FOR JOHNSON PARADE

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—The secret service has made sure President Johnson won't be ambushed by Indians during his inaugural parade.

Agents in Santa Fe examined the arrowheads of four New Mexico Indians who will appear in the parade in Washington Wednesday and found them to be steel.

Joe Herrera, sponsor of the Indian dancing group, volunteered to remove the arrowheads for the parade.

19 DEAD

Vicious Storm Lashes Britain

LONDON (AP)—At least 19 persons were feared dead today after the worst gales in 10 years battered the British Isles and the Bay of Biscay.

Four hunters were missing in the Lancashire marshes; police found the body of a fifth. Two fishermen were drowned in Dover Harbor and two others were killed in a highway accident.

The search continued for 10 men feared drowned off southern Ireland after a French trawler sank in a hurricane.

Weathermen said gales up to 100 miles an hour lashed the English Channel. The storm also brought rain, snow and sleet.

The Norwegian motor vessel Fossum's 27 crew members were saved after the ship, on a maiden voyage from Bilbao, Spain, sank in the Bay of Biscay. Her skipper clung to a frail raft for hours before he was rescued.

BUSH FIRE RUNS WILD IN AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—A 100-square-mile bush fire took eight lives including seven members of one family Sunday and killed thousands of animals in central Victoria State. Damage was expected to run into millions of pounds.

Police and soldiers using automatic weapons today began the mercy killing of at least 6,000 sheep and cattle maimed in the fire at Longwood, about 80 miles north of here.

Skilled Worker to Get Nod In New Immigration Policy

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's on-again-off-again immigration policy has been abandoned in favor of a long-term program tied directly to Canadian manpower requirements.

Responsibility for a new forward-looking approach to immigration has been delegated to one of four new directorates established recently in a major reorganization of the immigration department.

The policy and planning directorate will take a continuing hard look at Canada's immigration requirements and plan ahead to obtain the kind of qualified immigrants Canada will require. The aim will be to obtain skilled and professional workers and educated persons who can be trained by Canadian industry in a variety of skilled occupations.

The new policy brings to an end the former practice of opening the immigration gates when times were good and closing them when unemployment threatened.

The work of the new directorate and the three others—Canadian services, overseas services, and special services—was discussed in Ottawa at a three-day immigration conference which concluded Saturday.

SENIOR OFFICIALS MEET

It brought together for the first time senior officials of the immigration department in Canada and abroad to discuss future immigration requirements and develop a positive program to ensure that these requirements are met.

The reorganization of the department also includes steps to:

- Make immigration posts abroad more attractive.
- Improve the pay of immigration officers abroad.
- Give officers at home and abroad more responsibility to make decisions on their own initiative, a step to speed the handling of immigration applications.
- Improve the morale of immigration department employees by giving them the prestige accorded career diplomats.

DOES NOT AGREE

R. B. Curry, assistant deputy minister of immigration, said in an interview the department does not agree that sources of skilled immigrants are drying up or Canada will be seriously affected by a United States decision to discard its quota system and admit immigrants on the basis of skills, a policy adopted by Canada a few years ago.

"We can get skilled immigrants even if the competition does increase," he said.

"Skilled people are available and can be persuaded to come to Canada even from countries with healthy economies. Can-

Luther King Hit, Kicked

Negro Leader Assault Victim

Alabama Hotel Scene of Attack

LUTHER KING
. . . attacked

The man, who previously had asked and obtained permission from King to attend a Negro rally tonight, waited at the edge of a small crowd while King and 11 other Negroes were registering, and then without warning he hit King in the right temple and kicked him in the groin.

The assailant was arrested immediately by Selma's public safety director, Wilson Baker, and taken to jail.

The man talked to King earlier on the sidewalk and gave his name as Jimmy George Robinson.

After the attack, other Negroes grabbed the man and Baker, who was standing on a stairway, rushed in, seized the man by the neck and hustled him outside.

King said later he suffered a slight headache but otherwise did not appear to be injured.

A short time earlier, other Negroes had integrated three downtown Selma restaurants without disorder while scores of others lined up to seek registration as voters.

King was attacked in the lobby of the century-old Hotel Albert of Selma's main thoroughfare, Broad Street.

The hotel is next to one of the restaurants which was integrated, and across the street from another.

MANAGER APOLOGIZES

The hotel manager, Robert Gay, apologized to the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner and said he would sign a warrant.

Baker replied, "I'll sign one myself."

Outside the hotel, the man tried to lie down on the sidewalk and drag another officer with him. Baker picked the man up off the sidewalk and gave him to other policemen who took him to city jail. Baker, a former catcher for Cincinnati Reds and more recently chief law enforcement instructor for the University of Alabama, is more than six feet tall and weighs about 250.

He had promised before the integration test came today that he would tolerate no disorder and that anyone who violated the law would go to jail.

Robinson, of Birmingham, was charged with assault and disturbing the peace.

Robinson was wearing khaki pants and shirt, uniform of the segregationist National States' Rights party, a white supremist organization active in the segregation movement.

ARREST NEO-NAZI

Earlier, a white youth who claimed to be a member of the American Nazi party was arrested by city police while he was waiting to taunt the Negroes at one of the restaurants. The American Nazi party is another white supremacist group.

A group of Negroes, a white minister and his wife from Maryland ate lunch at Selma Del, one of the city's most popular downtown cafes and one which previously was charged by the justice department with racial discrimination for refusing earlier to serve Negroes.

The white clergyman was Rev. W. S. Causey, assistant pastor of the Warner Memorial Presbyterian church at Kensington, Del.

Across the street, 12 Negroes in two groups were served lunch at Tim's Cafe.

Otis Adams, owner of the cafe, angrily told reporters he had no choice under the civil rights law.

"It's a hell of a thing when you can't run your own business," Adams said.

The group sat three in each of two booths, while about 20 white patrons ate at other tables and the lunch counter.

Earlier King led approximately 200 Negroes to the Selma County Courthouse in the first step of the voter registration campaign.

There were no incidents.

RUSSIA SEEKS VOTE BEFORE UN PAYMENT

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Soviet chief delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told UN Secretary-General U Thant today the Soviet Union will make a substantial voluntary contribution toward United Nations solvency—once the General Assembly has resumed voting.

The United States has insisted that the Soviet Union make a large payment before being allowed to vote.

Fedorenko's restatement of the Soviet position meant that the Soviet-U.S. deadlock on the issue persisted, just before the assembly's afternoon resumption of its 19th annual session.

U.K. Statesman Grows Weaker

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill has had a "peaceful day" today "with no change in his condition," his physician, Lord Moran, said tonight.

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's strength is gradually ebbing and his physician, Lord Moran, today announced that "he is a little weaker."

The valiant 90-year-old warrior was slowly giving way to the cerebral stroke that felled him last Friday.

Sympathy and sorrow was welling up around the world as British officials quietly began preparations for the great homage that will be due the wartime leader in the event of his death.

There was no doubt that although a commoner, Churchill would be accorded a state funeral with all the ceremony due a sovereign. It would be the greatest honor since the death of the Duke of Wellington in 1852.

Lord Moran, 82, who served Churchill all through the Second World War, arrived at Churchill's residence at 11:17 a.m. und issued his medical bulletin 30 minutes later.

'A LITTLE WEAKER'

The bulletin said:

"Sir Winston had a restful night. He is a little weaker, but otherwise there is nothing to report."

This was the seventh bulletin since Churchill was stricken with cerebral thrombosis Friday. All have told of the steady decline of the aged statesman.

Moran, 82, examined Churchill twice Sunday. After the second examination he said: "After a restless start, Sir Winston has had a peaceful day, but he has lost ground."

CHILDREN STAY LATE

Churchill's three surviving children stayed late with 79-year-old Lady Churchill near the bedside, dispersing only in the early hours this morning.

His actress daughter Sarah, 49, said as she left: "He is sleeping peacefully."

The increasing gravity of Churchill's condition became apparent at noon Sunday when his doctor announced after a 45-minute examination that his patient showed pulse irregularity.

Throughout Sunday, millions of Britons prayed for the man who resolved 25 years ago never to surrender their country.

HIS MOTTO

'Never Give In—Never Give In'

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Near death as in full life, Sir Winston Churchill fights on.

"They say he's unconscious," said an old friend of Britain's wartime leader, "and medically they must be right, but how can Winston ever be unconscious"

Blinking back a tear, the friend added:

"Ever since he was born, he's been a fighter. Every bone and muscle of the man has been taught fight. Fight's the very soul of man."

The friend, who wouldn't be quoted by name, tiptoed into Churchill's ground floor bedroom Sunday and found the old man lying with his eyes closed, his heavily veined arms and hands outside the covers of his bed, the hands paler than the white sheets.

Seeing the old friend enter, a nurse bent over the patient and, raising her voice, said into his ear:

"It's —— ——. It's ——."

PRESSED HIS HAND

"I put my hand on his," said the friend, "and he pressed my hand. Imagine.

"Unconscious? Perhaps he is. Perhaps the whole thing's automatic, and I would be surprised. But whatever it is—he fights on."

In a speech 24 years ago Sir Winston told the boys at his old school, Harrow, on the northern outskirts of London:

"Never give in. Never give in. Never, never, never, never, in nothing great or small, large or petty—never give in except to convictions of honor and good sense."

VISITORS GET TRANSLATION

OTTAWA (CP) — Simultaneous translations, French to English and English to French, will be available to the general public when the House of Commons reconvenes next month. Each of the 476 seats in the public gallery will have its own attached ear phone. This is the first instance of such a translation system being supplied to the parliamentary public galleries of any country.

Car Pact Scored As Rules Breach

(See Story Page 7)

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Board of Trade considers that the Canada-United States agreement for a tariff-free cross-border market on motor vehicles and parts may be a breach of international trading rules.

A spokesman for the government department said Sunday that the Canada-U.S. pact "seems to conflict with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade."

The breach, he added, appears to be more on the side of the United States than on Canada, though the board understands that the U.S. may seek a GATT waiver to implement the agreement.

"If a waiver is requested, the U.S. would need the support of two-thirds of the votes cast."

Asked if Britain would support such a waiver, the spokesman said he could not comment at this time. It would depend on many things.

ASKED TARIFF CHANGE

The implication of his remarks appeared to be that Britain will press for removal of U.S. tariffs on British cars. Other European motor-vehicle exporters may take a similar attitude.

The spokesman said Canada allows British cars to come in duty-free but the U.S. charges a tariff of 6½ per cent. Britain maintains far heavier tariffs on both Canadian and American cars. In addition, it charges a heavy road tax on six and eight-cylinder North American vehicles.

THE WITCHING HOUR

Ding Dong, Water's Gone

TORONTO (UPI) — Public works department engineers got caught with their pressure down Sunday night. They didn't know the Wizard of Oz was on television.

At 8:30 p.m., Toronto and its 12 suburbs echoed to the sound of running bathwater and flushing toilets as viewers rose from a two-hour viewing of Judy Garland and the Wicked Witch in the Wizard of Oz.

Generally on Sunday night, the works department prepares for an excessive demand of water at regular 30-minute periods.

One engineer said: "It's the first time I've ever been caught."

He said at one transfer station, the water level dropped 30 feet when the Wizard of Oz show ended. At 9 p.m. when the Ed Sullivan show ended, the level dropped only two feet.

He described the three-minute period after the Wizard ended as the biggest pressure drop, because of television, in seven years.

The engineer said the operators also keep a careful eye on the nights of the Stanley Cup playoffs. One operator takes along a transistor radio so he can tell when the hockey periods end.

Slide Smashed Plant; Bennett Aid Asked

OCEAN FALLS (CP)—A weekly newspaper editor who lost a $30,000 printing plant in last week's slide has asked Premier Bennett for assistance.

John Buchanan said during the weekend he is in the unique position of being the possessor of the only privately-owned structure in Ocean Falls.

The rest of the buildings are owned by Crown Zellerbach Canada Company which operates the community's only industry, a pulp mill.

Mr. Buchanan's print shop and building were wrecked in the slide that also smashed two duplexes and a credit union office and killed seven persons.

The shop contained equipment that he had assembled for the last 10 years since he founded the Ocean Falls Advertiser. Insurance would not cover the loss.

He said he sent a wire to Premier Bennett Saturday asking for government funds so he can get the newspaper back into publication.

If the government did help there would be no change in the newspaper's editorial policy.

"I've been a member of the Social Credit party a long time."

Suspicious Principal Sets New Tests

POWELL RIVER (CP) — Students at Max Cameron High School believe in extensive research in preparing for their exams.

But Principal David M. Mitchell, suspicious that some of the research may have occurred in the dark of the moon with stolen examination papers, has ordered all Christmas exams for Grades 10 to 13 written over again.

"The culprits copied the examination questions without disturbing anything else," Mr. Mitchell said.

"I have no idea how they managed it.

"They either got keys to the school, the office and the cabinets, or else they picked the locks."

He believes the culprits copied the questions and put everything back just as it was.

Suspicion was aroused when the usual also-ran Grade 11 students solved a math question that tripped even the top scholars.

Mr. Mitchell has his eye on three students—all boys—but says he hasn't proof enough to warrant disciplinary action.

Some of the examination questions, he believes, were sold to classmates.

"But I've found out they didn't make much. I think they gave the questions to many of their friends."

For the next exam, not only the questions, but the school locks will be changed.

Pope Sends Message Of Concern

LONDON (Reuters) — Continued sympathy and concern over the illness of Sir Winston Churchill was expressed Sunday by both the great men of the world with whom he has worked and the simple ones who like and admire him.

Pope Paul VI asked his apostolic delegate in London, Archbishop Igino Cardinale, to convey best wishes and assurances of his prayers to the family of the 90-year-old statesman.

President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana sent this message to Lady Churchill: "In these dark hours over the illness of Sir Winston Churchill, I and the government and people of Ghana convey to you and the entire family our deepest sympathy. We most sincerely pray that, with his usual courage and determination, he pulls through."

In Tokyo, chairman Keniichi Hayashi of the Churchill Club of 1,100 amateur painters expressed the group's deep regret at his illness.

He said allies trusted U.S. strength and adversaries respected it. But he emphasized that the challenge to keep military power modern was unceasing.

Mr. Curry said, however, that Canada will have to work harder to get qualified immigrants as a result of the new U.S. policy and steps being taken by other countries, such as Australia, to obtain greater numbers of immigrants.

"The machinery to obtain immigrants has been tuned up. We are revitalizing the machinery, and this already is reflected by the fact the flow of immigrants in 1964 was about 20 per cent greater than in 1963."

ART TREASURES STOLEN IN U.K.

GUILDFORD, England (AP)—Thieves broke into the 18th-century Clandon House mansion Sunday and stole historical and art treasures worth thousands of pounds. Among the items stolen were a portrait of Edward, Prince of Wales, dated 1698, and a purse containing letters written by Queen Charlotte. Lord Onslow, 51, gave the 90-room mansion to the National Trust some years ago.

More Gurkhas Arrive In Malaysia

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP)—British transports flew another detachment of Gurkha troops into Malaysian Borneo Saturday amid reports that Indonesia is reinforcing troops on its side of the border.

British intelligence sources said there were indications the Indonesians were building their force on the western end of the border with Malaysia to about 3,000 men.

They said the arrival of the Gurkhas — tough mountain people from Nepal — boosted the strength of the Malaysian defenders to about that number.

PM, Diefenbaker Should Resign, Claims MP

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker should resign as leaders of their parties, Gordon Aiken (PC-Parry Sound-Muskoka) said here Saturday night.

Addressing a high school student's seminar, he accused his party's national leader of misjudging Quebec's problems.

Asked who might succeeed Mr. Diefenbaker as party leader, Mr. Aiken replied:

"The choice of the Conservative leader is a question to be decided by a party caucus and by the executive of the national . . . association."

But Dr. Harry Harley (L-Halton) thought former justice minister E. Davie Futon would succeed Mr. Diefnebaker as party leader.

Asked who might succeeed Mr. Pearson as national Liberal leader, Dr. Harley replied:

"In keeping with the Liberal tradition of alternating between French and English-speaking leaders, I think the leadership would go to either Paul Martin (Secretary of State for External Affairs) or Jean Lesage (premier of Quebec) . . .

EDMONTON (CP) — Retired Roman Catholic archbishop J. H. MacDonald, 84, died Sunday in hospital. Funeral service will be held Wednesday.

In failing health since 1955 when he suffered a series of heart attacks, he resigned as head of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Edmonton Aug. 11, 1964.

Archbishop MacDonald was consecrated in Sydney, N.S., as bishop of Victoria, in 1934.

He went to Edmonton in 1936 as coadjutor archbishop and became head of the Edmonton archdiocese two years later on the death of Archbishop Henry J. O'Leary.

Ambulance Plan Applications Pass 5,000

Applications to join a prepaid ambulance coverage service are coming in at a rate of 150 to 175 a day.

John Hanrahan, president of Garden City Ambulance, said 50,000 application forms have been mailed to Greater Victoria residents over the last few weeks.

The last 10,000 application cards were mailed Friday.

So far, slightly more than 5,000 applications have been received by the ambulance company. He anticipates receiving about 25,000.

Biggest response is among old people. There was little response from the young.

Coverage costs $2 a year for a single person or husband and wife, and $3 a year for a family. There is no limit to the number of legitimate calls an insured person may make.

The company owns two ambulances and expects delivery of a third one in a week.

Revolving Lobby To Emphasize Vancouver Needs

British Columbia's legislators will undergo a new experience at this year's session opening Thursday a revolving lobby.

Vancouver City Council has decided to send its aldermen to Victoria on a rotating basis throughout the session to impress on MLAs the city's need for more money or tax sources.

It will be the first time that a systematic lobby is concentrated on the members and its results will be closely watched by other groups.

The plan, proposed by Mayor William Rathie, involves dispatch of five aldermen at regular intervals to treat groups of MLAs to sandwiches, coffee and the arguments for giving Vancouver more municipal grants or new sources of revenue.

The lobbying, which Mr. Rathie said will be polite as well as intense, will continue until all parties in the legislature are conversant with the city's needs.

Cabinet Paying Year-Old Bills In Winter Works

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today said stiffer requirements this year for winter works grants had nothing to do with a $442,000 reduction in government assistance to municipalities.

He said a supplementary vote of $63,308 approved by the cabinet as part of the current fiscal budget was needed to pay off bills more than a year old.

The addition brought the current fiscal year's winter works budget to $1,750,000 compared with $2,255,900 the previous year but the reduction was due to fewer municipal applications for "a variety of reasons," Mr. Campbell said. A Times report Friday attributed the cause to the controversial changes in requirements.

Mr. Campbell said there will be no indication of the effect of the stiffer requirements on the grants until next winter because bills from municipalities trickle in as much as a year late.

Dynamite Find Brings Charge Against Man

A man was arrested Sunday night near a cache of dynamite hidden in bush near Greenridge Crescent, behind Grower's Winery at Lake Hill.

He was taken into custody in a stakeout by Saanich detective Ed Anderson and Constable Jim White. The watch was arranged by both Saanich and city police.

In court this morning, Larry Preston, 3920 Quadra, was charged with unlawful possession of explosives.

Court was told that Preston was on bail on a city charge when arrested by Saanich police. He had been charged with theft under $50 and released on bail.

Magistrate William Ostler set bail of $1,000 on the Saanich charge. The case was adjourned to Jan. 26 for election.

$100,000 IN COINS TAKEN

Gunmen Loot Historic Chateau

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's Chateau de Ramezay, built by a Frenchman, taken over by the British and once captured by the Americans, was looted of old coins Sunday night.

Police estimate the loss at $100,000.

Gunmen in hoods intimidated Assistant Curator Anna O'Dowd after visiting hours and cleaned three of the museum's showcases of coins.

John D. King, manager of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society of Montreal which runs the museum, believes the thieves will have to dispose of their loot on the black market. "Any honest dealer will immediately question these coins."

He said the loot included silver coinage of the various regimes which have occupied the chateau and lead tokens which Montreal Presbyterian Church members used to hand in to obtain communion.

TOOK HER KEYS

Miss O'Dowd, in her 60s, said the break-in took place between 9 p.m. and midnight when she was upstairs in the apartment she occupies in the stone house. She heard noises and came down to face the revolvers of two men who had apparently broken the lock of an iron door at the rear.

They allowed her to return to her apartment after she provided keys to the coin cases. They cut Chateau telephone wires before fleeing and apparently tipped police themselves.

The 260-year-old building got its name from French colonial officer Claude de Ramezay, who had it built near Montreal's waterfront when he was named governor of the city in 1705.

He and his family occupied it through 20 years of repelling the British and the Iroquois; then it became a post of the fur-trading Compagnie des Indes. The British made it a governors' residence again when they took Canada from the French.

The United States Army moved in during General Montgomery's year-long occupation of Montreal in 1775. A plaque on its front wall indicates that since the British recovery of the city it has served as an assembly hall, courthouse, education ministry, normal school, university, and, since 1895, a museum.

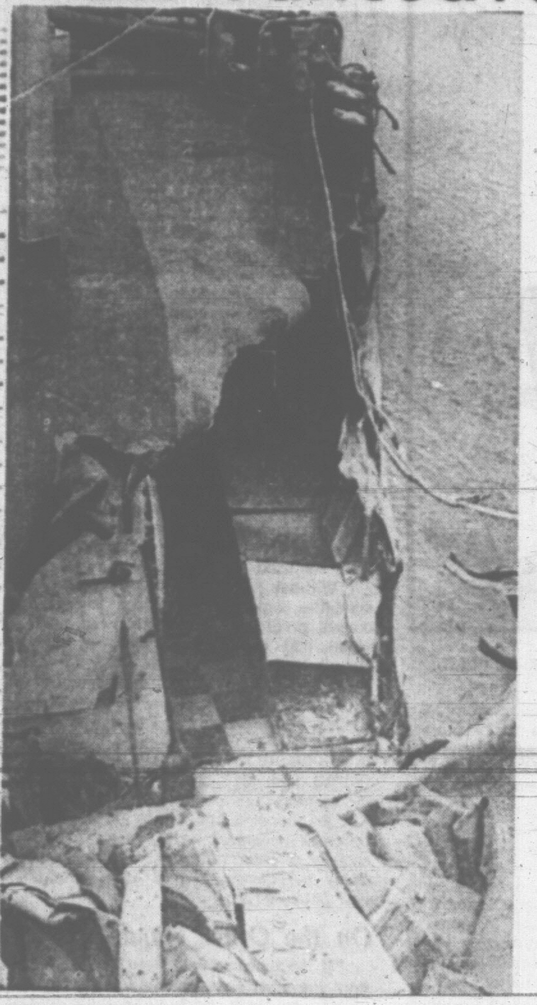
Ships Drift Onto Beach After Vancouver Crash



FIVE-FOOT GASH was torn in side of the United States destroyer-escort Whitehurst in fog collision outside Vancouver Harbor Saturday night with Norwegian freighter Hoyanger. (CP Wirephoto)

VANCOUVER (CP)—A United States destroyer-escort and a Norwegian freighter collided in the fog-shrouded narrow entrance to Vancouver harbor during the weekend then drifted ashore near a headland known as Calamity Point.

The USS Whitehurst, manned mostly by "weekend sailors," suffered a five-foot gash on the starboard side.

It is believed the 9,477-ton freighter Hoyanger suffered little damage.

No injuries were reported among the 38 men on the freighter or the 200 men on the destroyer-escort.

The freighter, outbound for Seattle, struck the inbound naval vessel in the first narrows at the harbor entrance about 7 p.m. Saturday.

Like two ghost ships they drifted in the dense fog on a strong outgoing tide toward a beach where they came gently to rest as residents shouted futile warnings from the shore.

PULLED CLEAR

An hour later, the freighter was pulled clear by tugs and she proceeded on to Seattle where she arrived Sunday morning.

Tugs pulled the naval vessel, a reserve training ship based in Seattle, clear early Sunday morning. She had been so high out of the water Saturday night that her rudders and one propeller were out of the water.

Hundreds flocked to the beach to stare and shout witty remarks to the crew.

After an inspection by divers at a drydock here, the U.S. Navy announced in Seattle that a fleet tug would be sent to tow the Whitehurst back to Seattle Tuesday.

The 160 reserve officers and men—often known as weekend sailors—were to be taken back by the destroyer USS Marshall which set out on a training cruise with the Whitehurst and another escort, the Brannon, Sunday morning.

Some 40 regular crew members of the ship would remain here. The Navy said the tow is necessary because of a bent propeller shaft. Little concern was expressed over the gash.

ANTICIPATE INQUIRY

Official sources anticipated an inquiry into the collision and declined comment. But it is reported that the radar-equipped signal station on Lions Gate Bridge across the entrance to the harbor had told both ships that the other was approaching.

Veteran mariners said that the Norwegian vessel should have stayed with the destroyer when it realized that it was holed.

Beachfront residents in suburban West Vancouver were astonished to see the ships coming out of the fog.

"It was like a ghost ship," said Ronald Brown, who saw first the freighter, then the destroyer escort hit the beach.

He said that it appeared that the ships were not aware how close to the shore they were.

"The ships did not start reversing engines until they were almost on the beach."

Will Fulton Give The Word Tonight?

Speculation intensified today that B.C. Progressive-Conservative leader Davie Fulton would hint during a speech here whether he will re-enter federal politics.

He was expected to be invited to accept the federal Tory nomination for Victoria when he was to address the Greater Victoria PC Association annual convention tonight at 8 in the Empress Hotel.

If a formal invitation is made, his reply will be watched closely even though few expect him to accept. Most observers believe he will run in Kamloops again, whether it is for federal or provincial office.

Speculation that he will return to the fedral arena has been building up since the last provincial election when the Conservatives failed to gain a single seat. The former justice minister was handed a personal defeat by Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi.

Esquimalt-Saanich MP George Chatterton also will speak at tonight's meeting, which be conducted by provincial party president W. A. McLennan as chairman.

Burma Seizes Combine

RANGOON (AP) — Burma's revolutionary government today nationalized the Burma Corporation, the country's largest mining combine, Burma's broadcasting service announced. The Burma corporation was half owned by the Burmese government. The other half was controlled by British, American and Indian interests.

California Safari Hunting Tourists

Come to Victoria and Vancouver Island will be the pitch delivered this week by 11 men going to Los Angeles.

Black Ball manager Pat Frumento and Sam Lane, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, leave by car Tuesday.

They will stop at chambers and clubs on the way to the Sports, Vacation and Travel Show Jan. 22-30 in Los Angeles.

Others who will help man the combined B.C. Ferries-Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau leave Thursday by air.

They are Walter Dodsworth, bureau president; Ron Worley, ferries assistant general manager; Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow and Mike Heppell, assistant commissioner of the bureau.

Also taking part are Vic Downard, Harry Harrod, Corky Corbett, Bob Innes and Ed Norman.

EXPECTED to be named vice-premier and defence minister in the new cabinet of Premier Tran Van Huong is Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu. Naming of a new cabinet is another effort to give the government a measure of stability.

IT'S COLD ALL THE WAY TO FLORIDA

CHICAGO (AP)—Numbing cold stabbed deep into the eastern half of the United States Sunday, adding new misery to many sections still recovering from heavy weekend snow storms.

Freezing weather forced Florida fruit and vegetable growers to light their burners in an effort to save crops. Miami set a record low of 39 early this morning. Tallahassee, Fla., registered 19 degrees.

Officials announced schools would be closed in wide areas of Virginia and North Carolina where up to 18 inches of snow fell during the weekend. About 100 schools were closed in the east Tennessee mountains.

Servants to Seek Right to Bargain

A campaign to gain collective bargaining rights for provincial civil servants across Canada will be launched immediately by the Canadian Federation of Government Employee Organizations.

National secretary H. B. Hunter said the 8,000-member B.C. Government Employees' Association "will join locally in the campaign to achieve bargaining rights for government employees in B.C."

A spokesman for the association, which has 1,500 members in Victoria, said the group will probably request a meeting with the cabinet on the subject.

The Canadian Federation of Government Employee Organizations is composed of provincial associations representing civil servants in all provinces except Quebec, New Brunswick and Newfoundland.

The only civil servants with full collective bargaining rights are in Saskatchewan, where employees come under the jurisdiction of the Labor Relations Act.

B.C. civil servants do not come under the Labor Relations Act.

"We have only rights to make representations and not negotiate across the bargaining table," said the spokesman.

U.K. Cuts Trade Gap

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain reduced its adverse trade gap—the excess of imports over exports—by £42,000,000 ($126,000,000) during December, it was announced today.

Newspapers Quit

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Three newspapers in the West Java city of Bandung were reported Sunday to have ceased publication because of a shortage of newsprint. The Indonesian government controls the distribution of newsprint, which lately has been imported mostly from Communist China.

Centennial Grants Use Urged for Swartz Road

Greater Victoria municipalities will be asked to give up their 1967 centennial grants totalling $450,000 to buy land for a new Swartz Bay highway.

George Barr, chairman of the local branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada, said at the weekend his group will approach the municipalities and Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi on the subject.

He said if the municipalities turned over their grants, it could be important in persuading the provincial government to go ahead with the $20 million project.

"I think they will back" the idea, he said.

"It would be a project that would help every community involved in it.

NATURAL STATE

"We suggest purchase of land to develop a parkway entrance into the city of Victoria in the form of a completely divided highway through land left in its natural state."

He said the highways department would have to choose the route but it could make use of existing parks and also follow the contours of the peninsula from Swartz Bay instead of being arrow straight.

The centennial grants would buy a great deal of land that might become too expensive in future, Mr. Barr said.

The only access to the new highway would be through park-like spurs and separate entrances could be built to Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

The Continental Concept

THE AGREEMENT SIGNED Saturday by Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson initiating free trade between Canada and the United States in motor vehicles and parts could prove to be the most significant economic development in the history of relations between the two countries.

This is the first full-scale attempt to "rationalize" a major industry so that its operations in Canada and the United States will play complementary roles. In this case, for instance, instead of both countries manufacturing a full line of autos, the companies involved are expected to assign certain models or components to be wholly manufactured in one country for sale in both. All of Canadian production of autos and components, excluding parts for the replacement market, will have free entry to the United States. But duty-free entry of American-manufactured autos and parts can be obtained only by recognized Canadian manufacturers and not by consumers.

This means, of course, that the established Canadian segment of the industry will continue to set prices of all vehicles sold in Canada on a basis of cost of manufacture, plus charges on the increased capital investment which will have to be made in plant and machinery.

The agreement hopefully predicts that by 1968, when a review of the situation is to be made, expanded Canadian output will have resulted in a levelling-off in the price differential between the products of the two countries and Canadian consumers will benefit from savings of $500 or more per vehicle.

It is clear, however, that for the next three years at least Canadian auto buyers will be expected to finance a large share of the industry's capital investment by paying higher prices than Americans. This investment will be owned mostly by Americans even though it will be paid for mostly by Canadians, and the fairness of this is open to question. There will be a counterbalance, of course, in terms of higher employment in the Canadian industry and a reduction in the deficit with the United States in vehicle and components trade which currently runs at $600 millions a year.

The implications of what this auto free trade agreement could mean for Canada's economic future seem to have had curiously little impact on Canadian political life though it could be the start of complete re-direction of the national economy. Mr. Pearson made his purpose clear on this point in an article he wrote for the current issue of "Foreign Affairs" magazine. In it he called for a continental approach to industry, to energy resources and to raw materials.

The general principles of continental co-operation, the prime minister wrote, were first explored in conversations between him and the late President Kennedy. The theme has been continued in discussion with President Johnson — with the auto agreement as the first tangible result.

He realized, Mr. Pearson said, that in a program of co-operative development of the resources of the continent, "Canada was bound to be aware of the disproportionate strength and responsibilities of the United States." No Canadian, of course, can fail to be aware of this "disproportionate strength" which is the source of most of the current imbalances in the economy of this country. Nor can Canadians miss the fact that America's "disproportionate responsibilities" have led to what is often seen as less than full consideration of Canada's position as the United States' most important supplier and customer.

This proposed new policy— and it is radically new—is thus an attempt to develop the Canadian and American economies in a partnership which, while it cannot be equal, will be in proportion to the strength, resources, responsibilities and needs of each.

Flowing from an attempt to achieve what would be close to economic union of the two countries comes the great question: Can economic union be accomplished without inhibiting the political independence of Canada, the lesser partner?

It is this question which should now be occupying the attention of all thoughtful Canadians for it is on the answer to this that the future of Canada as an independent nation depends.

Our Halo's Awry

THE HON. J.T. THORSON HAS served Canadians well by his remarks in Victoria on discrimination. He has told us that our halo isn't on quite straight.

It is almost a national pastime in this country to protest racial, religious and color bias in other nations. This may be reasonable enough. We, and all people of good will, are entitled to express disapproval when we see examples of unfairness in the treatment of one section of a population by another.

But when we are inclined to point an accusing finger at factions in other lands, it is well to remember the words of Mr. Thorson.

"There is," he says, "still discrimination against Negroes and other Canadians whose skins are not white, and there is strong anti-Semitic sentiment in several parts of Canada."

He gives further point to his championship of human rights by drawing attention to the attitude, legal and personal, which Canadians adopt toward Indians and Eskimos. He believes, and many join him, that they should enjoy equality of status with other Canadian citizens.

Mr. Thorson recognizes that certain changes in legislation are required to bring all our people up to full citizenship. More important, he understands the need to impress on Canadians, as individuals, the rights of their fellow residents to the full enjoyment of life in this country.

It is reasonable to expect that required changes in law will come soon. It is probably more important that Canadians change their attitudes to those of different origins and faiths in order to accord them equal, dignified and comfortable relationships in the national family.

Mr. Thorson says quietly that "there is no superior race and no basic difference between human beings who constitute the Canadian nation." Here is an invitation to Canadians to search their consciences.

'As I Say, Not As I Do'

THE KITCHENER TRAFFIC advisory committee intends to keep a sharp eye on police cruisers operating in the Ontario town—as many motorists try to do but for a different reason.

The committee claims that the police cars are driving down the centre of the road and that drivers are forgetting to use signals. In fact, "they're doing a poor job of driving."

To all of which the police cruisers can reply with an old saw: "Do as I say, not as I do." And the cruisers can make it stick.

Facing the New Realities

Western

READERS of the first report of the Economic Council for Canada will be impressed by the number of times in which the key words, "efficiency" and "adjustments" occur. Often they are found together and in contexts which some interests may find disturbing. It commonly happens, for example, that groups waiting upon the government refer with alarm to their declining share of the home market as if the particular percentage achieved in a favorable year ought to be regarded by the nation as something to which they have a natural right. But it is implicit in the report that such propositions cannot be entertained for the efficient use of resources in a period of increasing competition is bound to necessitate shifts which will often involve difficult adjustments.

Thus it is the view of Dr. Deutsch and his colleagues that industry should not only exploit but anticipate the trading opportunities created through the Kennedy Round. In the case of the European Economic Community, which also involved tariff reductions over a period of years, many firms acted in this manner. Similar anticipatory adjustments by Canadian industry, involving a movement towards longer production runs, more industrial specialization and higher productivity, would benefit this country through increased exports and enhanced capabilities to meet import competition.

Instinctive Reaction

Resistance to change, especially when it is associated with the dread word "automation," is also instinctive with a good many labor leaders. But a willingness to accept change in many forms is a condition of high employment which the report contemplates. Change is inevitable and all about us. It is the main theme of the "growth" chapter in the report. How quickly old realities are yielding to the new is apparent on every page although it may not be apparent to most of us as the changes proceed.

Consider, for example, these significant figures. In the years since the war, employment generated by our primary industries has shrunk by 40 per cent while that provided by secondary industries has increased 44 per cent.

The goods producing industries and construction from 1946 through 1963 added only 75,000 jobs to the country while the service-producing industries (transportation, utilities, trade, finance, insurance, real estate, public administration, personal, recreational and community services) were adding 1.6 million.

More From Fewer

It is generally known that the agricultural revolution produced a drastic fall-off in farm employment; the figure given is 545,000 with another 100,000 (mainly outside the Prairie provinces) expected to leave by 1970. But one may find the same phenomenon in a rapidly expanding industry which may, in other respects, confer immense benefits on the economy. Thus, between 1949 and 1963, output in the fuels industry rose by 500 per cent while employment was actually contracting by 15 per cent.

Change takes many forms. Forestry, a typical primary industry, affected by mechanization, not only requires a diminishing labor force but a different sort of force.

Technological change is to be welcomed because, by bringing into use new processes and products, by reducing costs and widening markets, it creates new employment opportunities. But at the same time it creates difficult problems of adjustment for individuals. The mobility of labor becomes more than ever important.

How do we grapple with this situation? What is needed is a whole complex of policies: "inter-related and complementary public and private action in respect of basic education, training, re-training, mobility and job placement" and better labor-management co-operation.

While this sounds extremely general, the report is frequently specific in its recommendations. This is notably true in the section on labor market policy. The council agrees emphatically with the recommendations of the Gill committee, maintaining that the National Employment Service is not presently playing its proper role; that it ought to be completely separated from the Unemployment Insurance Commission, accorded a much enhanced stature within the labor department and given new, wider and more positive tasks.

Canada has always relied heavily on technology from foreign countries and must do so in future. Even so demand will exceed supply. If Canadians are to participate in the most swiftly growing industries—the science-based industries whose products are the fastest growing element in world trade—more of our own resources will have to be dedicated to research and development. The "most urgent need" is for increased participation by the universities, which up to now have suffered from a "woeful lack of resources," and by private industry which has been restrained by the scarcity of professional and highly skilled manpower and also by the inadequacy of the available incentives.

The scarcity of skilled manpower is disturbing because, as the report notes, highly educated workers create work not only for themselves but for others as well. Hence the "key role of immigration."

'Brain Gain'

In the decade ending in 1963 slightly more than 80,000 professional and highly skilled technical workers came to us from outside North America, 60 per cent of them from Britain. We have had, it appears, a net "brain gain."

Unfortunately the attraction of the south is strong because the demand for such workers in the United States exceeds the supply. At the same time recruitment in Europe is becoming more difficult. The British, for example, are so acutely conscious of the shortage there that they have set themselves to increase the number of places for full-time students in higher education from 216,000 in 1962-63 to 560,000 in 1980.

The Canadian problem is thus formidable. We will certainly have to develop more aggressive immigration policies than those of recent years. But, as the report notes, "A much larger part of the solution must be sought in educating and training a sufficiently higher proportion of our own young people in the levels of skills required by a modern industrial society."

Not So Immature

As one of the supporters of serving alcoholic drinks in the McPherson Playhouse, I write to comment on Bessie Forbes' column of Wednesday. Lest anyone should think that I am an alcoholic, I do in fact drink only in moderation! My stand in this matter has been provoked by one group of people trying to deprive others of their right to choose. The matter is one of principle and is not only applicable to liquor.

To return to Miss Forbes' column, she must of course have her tongue in her cheek when she agglomerates the non-vocal citizenry to her own point of view.

After this opening she practically lectures the rest of us on what is the right time and place for a drink, assuring us that this is not the theatre foyer. While it may not be the right place for your columnist, what right has she and her associated minority to attempt to deprive the rest of us of free choice! After all, those who do not like alcoholic drinks can always have coffee. Does she overlook the fact that people are of many different types, temperaments and needs?

In discussing practical matters of theatre operation, she suggests in effect that the theatre would be in turmoil for some minutes after each curtain-up due to near-drunks struggling to their seats. I wonder if Miss Forbes has ever been in a theatre bar at intermission time? A buzzer is rung a few minutes before the end of each intermission and playgoers are expected to be in their seats by curtain-up and nearly always are; the excitement of curtain-up practically ensures this. I have yet to see anyone tipsy on these occasions. It is therefore impossible to accept the suggestions that a bar would cause confusion in the seating and contribute to the number of so-called problem drinkers.

Miss Forbes contrasts drinking habits in Europe with those in B.C. She intimates that we are an immature people unable to take our drink intelligently. I have only been in B.C. for 12 years, but my own observations do not confirm this suggestion! If, however, it should be true, then let us expose ourselves to temptation as soon as possible so that we may grow up. A dynamic growing people cannot be held to a mother's apron strings.

The above without malice to our Bessie.

You, too, May Be Wealthy

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Hutchison

HAVING carefully read and been baffled by the economic prophesies for 1965 as presented by the best experts, I wrote to some wise friends of mine in New York and asked for the truth, however unpleasant.

What I wanted to know was not the conflicting views of this authority or that but the hard and accepted consensus of financial opinion, the joint judgment and collective wisdom of Wall Street, which never errs, more than two or three times a week at most. You can always make money if you consistently follow its recommendations, in reverse.

At my request the reliable old banking firm of Joblot, Pelvis and Mump has re-read and summarized briefly, clearly and unequivocally the new year's statements recently issued by all its competitors. I am permitted to reveal this survey here for the benefit of hesitant investors who may have been a little confused up to now.

"Without reservation," says my dependable report, "the great financial houses predict a prosperous year, provided that capital investment is high enough but not too high, consumer spending exactly equated with production, wages reasonable, costs competitive and the world free of any international disturbance. None of these things, however, is necessarily expected.

"All monetary specialists concur in the opinion that the United States dollar will not be devalued unless devaluation becomes necessary as a result of the outflow of gold, which may or may not occur in consequence of developments now unforeseeable.

On the Other Hand

"If the price of gold is to be doubled even the most conservative financial advisers urge their clients to invest in gold mines but on the contrary assumption such investments would be somewhat hazardous.

"It should be remembered, as all sophisticated financiers agree, that President Johnson's budget is designed to increase revenues by reducing taxes and if this effort succeeds we venture to think that his objectives will be attained. Otherwise he will fail. This is important for the investor to know in advance.

"As an educated guess, experienced brokers conclude, after long study, that there will be no danger of inflation unless prices rise. On the other hand, if they rise sharply and massively then inflation will inevitably occur, in some measure at least. The more honest type of counsellors are not attempting to hide that fact from their clients.

"World conditions, especially in such troubled spots as The Congo and Southeast Asia, are sure to have a stimulating or depressing effect on business. The investor is warned, therefore, to take full account of these imponderables which no government in the world can possibly anticipate and act accordingly, with daring and caution.

"As a first step, before any money is risked, the investor should closely read the minds of Messrs. Mao, Sukarno, Tshombe, Nasser and all the other dictators. Once their intentions are plainly understood by the investor, if not by those gentlemen themselves, then it will be safe to invest marginally, assuming, of course, that the investor also knows how the British exchange crisis will turn out, what dangerous step President de Gaulle proposes to take next and how the central banks will fix interest rates, if they can.

"A factual assessement of these non-facts will produce profits, which we strongly recommend, or losses, to which we are opposed in principle.

Buy or Sell

"Again, the prudent investor should watch with care the rise in wages and production costs, as well as the level of corporate earnings, because, in our considered belief, they will affect dividends and they, in turn, must affect the value of stocks. Hence, as we see it, the stock market will either rise or fall or remain stationary. That fact must be realistically faced and therefore the investor should take appropriate action by buying or selling stocks immediately.

"Summing up the final verdict of Wall Street on the prospects of 1965, there is almost complete agreement that the economy will continue to grow at a rapid rate until the speed of its advance slackens. If this should occur we look for less buoyant conditions.

"In short, good times will require sustained prosperity and if it is not sustained above a certain point a recession to a degree not presently foreseeable is likely to follow before the end of the year, or earlier, or later as the economic climate decides. If a recession occurs we confidently predict that it will be long or short, according to its length. It will be shallow or deep according to its depth, which is incalculable.

"This strictly factual analysis of the statements issued by the most respected financial firms," Messrs. Joblot, Pelvis and Mump conclude, "should be a useful guide to the ordinary small investor who might also consult his horoscope, a gypsy fortune teller, the habits of woodland animals and the migration of waterfowl in the spring.

"Our own private view is that the investor should reconsider what he now intends to do with his money and do exactly the opposite which, on historic experience, is more likely to be right. With these assurances from the ablest minds in Wall Street we send you our own dubious prediction of a prosperous and happy new year, approximately, or the opposite as the case may be."

BOOK LOVERS

More books are published in Iceland per head of the population than anywhere in the world. There has been complete literacy for more than a century, and a poet or novelist in Iceland is a man of considerable substance, not, as in England, at best a mere ornament of the gossip columns.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

During a recent address at a joint luncheon meeting of men's and women's Canadian clubs, Dr. Malcolm Taylor, president of the University of Victoria, asked: "What is it to be a Canadian in Canada's century?"

This question looms large in the minds of thinking people who claim Canada as their own through right of birth or by adoption.

It's a question that, in the past decade especially, has presented so many facets, it is hard for the average person to put an answer into words.

Dr. Taylor had no such difficulty. He cut through the fog of uncertainties and brought his answer into sharp focus. It was impossible to doubt or to misunderstand.

* * *

Being a Canadian in Canada's century is not one but many things, he said, for by the nature of our beginnings, we became the heirs of great cultural legacies from Britain, France and the United States.

He pointed out that we inherit the traditions and ideals of British representative government.

That the nation that created the mother of parliaments taught us the true nature of democratic political representation, the rule of law, the dignity and obligations of public life, the indispensable role of loyal opposition, the difference between the formal government and the working government.

He reminded us that our inheritance includes the great traditions from France: a respect for family, for the life of the spirit, for the greatness of the classical tradition and the continuity of history.

* * *

He said we are also the beneficiaries and legatees of the United States spirit of 1776, with its Declaration of Independence that proclaimed the pre-eminence of the individual against tyrannical government, asserted the equality of all men, and, by successful revolution and outstanding constitution, made the proclamation a living ideal to this very day.

These great and enduring cultures have been joined and enriched by those of other national groups, Dr. Taylor said.

All of these we have adopted, adapted, enlarged and been influenced by, each in his own way and through his own experiences.

* * *

The speaker described our culture as of many colors "like a varied and beautiful mosaic."

Despite this great diversity, Canadians have shown how they may be united in those matters vital to them as free men. They have developed political institutions to facilitate the achievement of common goals and, against great odds have carved out of the frontier a new nation where democratic ideals could become living reality.

Concluding this part of his address, he said quietly:

"This is the nation we love, that we are dedicated to serve and that, despite its problems, may well have greater potential for development of its people than any other society on earth."

That is what a society is for, he reminded us, to assist in the development of the individuals that compose it.

* * *

The kind of societies that the world has known to this point in its history have been those in which the standard of living depended on physical labor to produce food, goods and services and which, as a result, could afford to educate only a very few.

Such societies have never considered knowledge an economic resource.

Knowledge rather than man's muscle energy will be Canada's most important resource in the years that are ahead, Dr. Taylor predicted.

Much of his address has been reported in the press, with the exception of his definition of what it is to be a Canadian in Canada's century.

I'm passing it on to you here because I believe it may help to clarify your thinking as it has done mine.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

I believe there was a turning-point for Lester Pearson in the last weeks of Parliament's sittings. It was revealed in the Commons when 105 opposition members voted (technically against a Speaker's ruling) literally against accepting the PM's explanation of his memory lapse in the alleged bribe affair.

It has been revealed more significantly though less sharply in the attitude to Mr. Pearson which one notes now amongst those who have stuck with him the longest, always believing that he was going to straighten away and show his stuff. I refer to the pro-Pearson reporters and editorial writers. Even those chronically Liberal organs in Toronto and Winnipeg are pulling strange stops and pushing odd pedals.

* * *

Some time in 1961, during the uproar over the James Coyne-Bank of Canada controversy, John Diefenbaker had a similar climacteric. From then onwards, the Diefenbaker reputation slipped and faded. In a phrase the judgment was: an ineffective prime minister. It became a concerted trend, building and building up to the massive press attack, almost total in 1963, on John Diefenbaker.

Then, Lester Pearson was the alternative at hand, the new hero who symbolized the lovely prospect of a return to the good old days of competent Liberal government. Today, of course, John Diefenbaker is a very doubtful alternative. How can you take up with fervor what you have destroyed? It is even harder to consider such a "dangerous" choice as Tommy Douglas and the New Democrats. Therefore, one cannot prefigure the next direction or trend following the Pearson climacteric of the past weeks. Some enthusiasts will clamor for Paul Martin; some, even the same ones, will demand a new Tory leader in the name of national unity and the grand old parties. Some may return in desperation to good old Mike if he allows them to save face by making some cabinet switches.

* * *

What about the Pearson cabinet? Is it any compensation for its awkward, bumbling leader? One political scientist acclaimed it at the start as the "greatest collection of talent in Canadian history." It gives me a curious impression of an odd bag of men who would like to appear to be a team but cannot find a means to do so. In sporting terms, it hasn't jelled. Unlike the Toronto Argonauts, it hasn't or can't concede that it needs a new coach and a new quarterback.

My usual view in this column emphasizes House performance and merit in politicians who build or lessen their party among the voters, not politicians as administrators or policy-makers. In these terms, it seems to me that the Pearson ministry is no better (if as good) than the Diefenbaker ministry was between '58 and '62.

The only marked difference is that Mr. Pearson and his ministers have had a greater loyalty from all the caucus. What makes this Liberal cement is hard to say. I would credit it to the wry candor Mr. Pearson probably uses in outlining his plight in the secrecy of the caucus. Some of it must come from the sheer strength of the conceit, still so unshaken, that the Liberal party is the only one which can govern Canada.

In a comparison, I cannot recall any session in the Diefenbaker years which has meandered like this one. Never, even in the last weeks of his last minority government, did Diefenbaker lose his grip on the House itself, the way Pearson has.

* * *

In terms of ministers, Paul Martin and Paul Hellyer may stand out over Howard Green and Douglas Harkness in their handling of portfolios but with them the marked advantages seem to end.

Mitchell Sharp is no better in the House or out in the country as a vote-getter than was George Hees. Jack Pickersgill may make a great minister of transport some day but so far he has no edge in accomplishment or House performance over Leon Balcer. Pugnacious Donald Fleming compares favorably to his counterpart Walter Gordon. At least, he wasn't wispy and tentative. Alvin Hamilton in agriculture was a giant when one assesses the present, peregrinating incumbent, Harry Hays. Isn't Davie Fulton almost heroic in retrospect when one thinks about him and the present minister of justice, Guy Favreau?

Taken all in all or one by one, the Pearson ministry does not seem as good to me as the ones John Diefenbaker had. Certainly, this PM is less dominant as a personality who embraces the whole ministry.

KHRUSHCHEV . . . slams door

'NOT FIRED'

Khrushchev Walked Out, Dane Says

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (Reuters)—A man who purports to be a close friend of Nikita Khrushchev claimed today the former Soviet premier was not fired but angrily quit after severe criticism by his colleagues.

The man, a Dane who was unidentified, gave his account of Khrushchev's departure from office last October in the Copenhagen newspaper Ekstrabladet.

According to the report, the former Soviet premier and Communist party secretary was not fired. He left "in a mood" and slammed the door behind him when he was being criticized by the Soviet presidium.

The friend was quoted as saying Khrushchev was taken to task over his off-the-cuff speeches and decisions during his visits to the United Arab Republic and Denmark earlier last year.

The vote went against Khrushchev on all counts, whereupon he left the room shouting: "I am leaving for good."

PURSUE NATIONAL AIMS

Europe, U.S. Plan Nuclear Talks

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN (AP)—European leaders start this week a series of visits that will help shape future co-operation between the United States and its allies on the use of nuclear weapons.

The United States controls well over 90 per cent of the Western world's nuclear strength. It will probably continue to do so for many years—though perhaps with increasingly influential advice from its allies.

The U.S. government would like to tie the allies into an accord that would give them nuclear roles, and at the same time prevent them from developing nuclear weapons on a national scale.

The major allies, West Germany, Britain and France, have aims of their own. Britain wants to cut its military spending and move toward disarmament. President Charles de Gaulle wants to develop the small French nuclear force and, with it, his country's influence.

ELECTION NEAR

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard has an election coming up in West Germany. He wants to show the voters he is getting them the best kind of defence, that he is making progress toward re-unification of Germany and doing something for the unity of Europe.

On Tuesday Erhard goes to see De Gaulle. So far, they have disagreed openly on nuclear matters. Erhard has supported the U.S. scheme for a multilateral nuclear force, a fleet of surface ships armed with Polaris missiles. This would give West Germany its first nuclear role, though a small one.

De Gaulle opposes MLF. He does not seem to think the West Germans need play a nuclear role at all, certainly not just now.

CO-OPERATION PLEDGED

At the same time, France and West Germany are pledged to co-operate on defence and foreign affairs. Erhard hopes to get De Gaulle's go-ahead for plans to extend this co-operation to the six nations fusing their economies in the Common Market: West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

On Thursday, after Erhard gets back from France, Harold Wilson arrives in Bonn. Britain's prime minister will have a cold time of it if Erhard and De Gaulle have made any solid agreement.

BRITAIN BURDENED

Britain's small but expensive armory of nuclear weapons is a heavy burden on its economy. Wilson wants to merge most of it into an Atlantic nuclear force with West Germany paying some of the cost. He does not object to a small MLF as part of this, but so far has appeared unwilling to let Britain join it.

Unless he shows more readiness in this direction, Wilson is unlikely to get far toward making a nuclear agreement with West Germany and other members of the Atlantic alliance that he can take to President Johnson for U.S. support. An MLF based on just the United States and West Germany is not looked upon with favor in Washington. Because of all this disagreement, many Europeans think the whole MLF idea will be dropped.

You know it's winter when Volkswagens start passing you on hills.

Unless, of course, you're already driving one.

Then you know it's winter when you start passing everyone else.

In the winter, a Volkswagen goes where others fear to tread.

Because the Volkswagen tread gets more traction.

You know what happens when somebody else gets stuck in the snow. They need a push.

Well, that's our way, too. Only we let the engine do the pushing. Not people.

We put the engine in the rear with its weight over the drive wheels. So the back wheels make the front move without the help of a driveshaft.

We think that makes sense. Just as much sense as having no radiator, no water to boil over, no water pump, no rust, no anti-freeze and no big gas bills.

If you don't like pushing and you haven't got any pull with a tow-truck concern, a trip to your VW dealer is a good idea.

Or you can forget it. And we'll pass.

In the Industrial list, Ford of Canada was ahead seven to 188, General Motors ⅜ to 104 and Goodyear Tire three to 160. Harding Carpets climbed one to 29, while Alberta Gas, Shop and Save and Consolidated Paper each gained ½. Quebec Natural Gas and Dominion Stores advanced ⅜ each.

AT NEW YORK volume was estimated at 5,600,000 shares compared with 5,370,000 Friday.

A four-point jump by Du Pont was a big help in pushing averages beyond their November records.

AT MONTREAL industrial turnover stood at 132,900 shares and mines and oils volume was 718,200 shares.

Industrials were up. Asbestos picked up ⅝.

Banks were also slightly better. Nova Scotia was up ¼.

In foods and beverage issues Walker-Gooderham advanced ¼ and Ogilvie Flour and Canadian Breweries were off ⅛ each.

AT LONDON the stock market was firmer today following the December trade figures but business was on the small side. Gilt-edged stocks improved.

Dollar stocks showed up well in reflection of Friday's advance on Wall Street leading Canadians to move ahead under the lead of International Nickel included Algoma, B.A. Oil, Canadian Husky, Consolidated Paper, Imperial Oil, Noranda and Trans-Canada Pipe. Among those to decline fractionally were Abitibi, Aluminum and Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas. Canadian Pacific found support in rails.

Canada Studies New Tax Pacts

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson, sun-tanned and rested, today was back in the Canadian capital following a 10-day Florida vacation and an important signing of a North American free trade auto pact with U.S. President Johnson.

The prime minister and Mrs. Pearson flew into Ottawa Sunday evening from Washington where he stopped overnight to meet with several officials, including U.S. Vice-President Elect Humphrey.

The Pearsons stepped off the Jetstar aircraft to be greeted by several cabinet ministers and the U.S. ambassador to Canada, W. Walton Butterworth.

At a short press conference, the prime minister said it might be worthwhile exploring whether the techniques involved in the auto pact could be applied to other industries.

He had been asked whether the agreement, signed by the two leaders, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and External Affairs Minister Martin at the LBJ Ranch Saturday, was a possible first step towards a continental common market.

Mr. Pearson said that the auto industry was better fitted for such a free trade plan than most industries. Before any expansion to other industries was considered the auto plan should be examined on its merits.

COULD EXPLORE

But he said it could be worthwhile exploring whether the techniques used in the motor vehicle field could be applied to other industries.

"I don't know whether it would be possible," he said.

The agreement, announced Friday in Ottawa and Washington, provides for the abolition of North American tariffs for manufacturers of most motor vehicles and original parts. It is expected to increase Canadian vehicle production by about one-third during the next 3½ years.

The prime minister and Mr. Johnson, besides discussing the trouble spots in Southeast Asia and the United Nations financing crisis, talked about U.S.-Canadian negotiations for a new commercial air route agreement.

MAY BE NEXT

Mr. Pearson said he hoped this would be the next agreement signed by the two countries.

The press conference was restricted mainly to the auto agreement and the talks with Johnson. Mr. Pearson said he expects to hold a more extensive press conference later this week.

He spent his two-week vacation in Florida reading books and mail from Ottawa, swimming and walking in the sand—both on the beach and in golf course bunkers.

FRIENDSHIP WALK STARTS TOO SOON

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (CP)—Paul Martin had problems Saturday when—in a going-away ceremony at the LBJ Ranch—he signed his name in a wet concrete slab.

Prime Minister Pearson, his wife and the external affairs minister were handed nails for the job. Johnson keeps the signed souvenirs in a special friendship walk.

Martin, however, dated his slab Jan. 16, 1964. Then, somebody stepped on his signature.

WATCH FOR THE FLYER

IN WEDNESDAY'S COLONIST

Why did Mr. & Mrs. Graham open a Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit Account?

It all started when Mary Graham saw all the bargains advertised in the newspaper. Several stores were having big sales and she showed Jack the low prices on portable T.V.'s, and, of course, the specials on fur jackets. These sales were a "once-a-year" chance for the Grahams to take advantage of good buying opportunities but they didn't have the ready cash. The next day Jack Graham was discussing his problem with his Scotiabranch manager. He learned the details about Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit and Jack quickly saw its many advantages. After a few questions about his job and how much uncommitted monthly income was available for Cheque-Credit, Jack and Mary Graham were well on their way to getting the things they needed—and at sale prices, too.

Cheque-Credit gives you the extra money you need—when you need it!

1 You select the monthly payment that you can afford and then apply for twelve times that amount.

2 When your application has been approved you receive a book of special personalized cheques.

3 You are not confined to spending in specified stores. Your cheques are good for anything you need, anytime, anywhere in Canada.

4 The charge on Cheque-Credit accounts is $6.00 per year for each $100 borrowed. You pay only on the amount of credit actually used. You do not pay anything for the money held in reserve for your account.

5 Your monthly payment is approximately one-twelfth of the amount of credit you have used so far.

6 Each month you will receive a statement of cheques written, payments to be made, and the amount of credit still open.

7 Each payment you make rebuilds your Cheque-Credit reserve, giving you a continual supply of credit.

Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit is life-insured, too, at no extra cost to you. Find out today all about Cheque-Credit at your nearest Scotiabranch.

Bennett Roaster Named Top Toaster

VANCOUVER (CP)—Margaret Ma Murray, who claims to be the only one who can cut Premier Bennett down to size, will be lone guest speaker at a testimonial dinner for the premier next month.

"Why they asked me, I don't know," Mrs. Murray, outspoken publisher of the weekly Bridge River-Lillooet News said Friday.

"I've been roasting Bennett for years. Everybody in B.C. knows that I've often said I don't give a damn for him, his government or his policies.

"But I'll be delighted to speak at the party."

The occasion is a testimonial dinner given by a non-political group of Vancouver businessmen Feb. 17. It marks the time when Mr. Bennett will have held the premier's office longer than any other man. The Social Credit premier took office in August, 1952.

BOLTED RANKS

Mrs. Murray is a Liberal who bolted ranks in the last provincial election to support Progressive Conservative Davie Fulton.

A spokesman for the dinner committee said she was invited to be lone speaker because she "is a true British Columbian, a controversial figure who has seen this province come of age."

More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend the dinner which comes two days after Mr. Bennett surpasses the 12½-year record set by Conservative Sir Richard McBride.

Habs Find Cure

By Canadian Press

Home ice blues has become a contagious disease around the National Hockey League.

But the initial carriers, Montreal Canadiens, apparently have found the cure.

The Canadiens, losers of three straight home games going into the weekend, snapped out of their Forum slump Saturday night by edging Boston Bruins 3-2. But the other five home teams lost during the weekend.

Detroit Red Wings dumped the Maple Leafs 4-2 at Toronto Saturday night while New York Rangers trounced their hosts, Chicago Black Hawks, 6-3.

On Sunday night, the Leafs invaded Boston and handed the Bruins a 3-1 setback, New York downed the Wings 4-2 at Detroit, and the Canadiens won a 4-2 decision at Chicago.

The results left Montreal atop the standings with 49 points, two more than Chicago and three more than third-place Toronto.

SINKS BRUINS

The Canadiens twice rallied from 2-1 deficits in the third period to sweep their two games, supported by the goaltending of Gump Worsley, recalled from Quebec Aces to give regular goalie Charlie Hodge a rest.

Claude Larose sank the Bruins with his 12th of the year at 14:15 of the finale, four minutes after Ralph Backstrom had tied the game. Johnny Bucyk and Murray Oliver had tallied for Boston in the first period and J. C. Tremblay provided Montreal's reply.

Worsley performed admirably, kicking out 24 shots and making a game-saving stop on Leo Boivin. On the next play Backstrom scored on a breakaway to tie it.

TOUGH ON JOHNSON

Larose was alone in front of the net to score the winner on Backstrom's pass from behind the net. Defeat was hard to swallow for Bruin goalie Ed Johnston, who made 36 saves.

The Canadiens also trailed the Hawks 2-1 early in the final period but rallied on goals by Larose, Leon Rochefort and Claude Provost.

Provost gave Montreal a 1-0 lead in the first period but Phil Esposito scored the equalizer on a power play in the second. Eric Nesterenko put the Hawks ahead at 3:29 of the third.

Larose, however, tied it while Chicago's Chico Maki was penalized at 11:51 and Rochefort, called from Quebec along with Worsley, got the winner at 15:41. Provost's second goal and 17th of the year went into an empty net in the last minutes.

WORSLEY STARS

Again Worsley was outstanding, turning in 34 saves. He stopped 14 shots in the first period alone, including four off the stick of triggerman Bobby Hull.

New York was the only other team to win both weekend games and climbed within six points of fourth-place Detroit.

Camille Henry almost single-handedly whipped the Wings, registering a power-play goal in each period and bringing his season total to 18.

HULL SCORES 25TH

Don Marshall scored for the Rangers and Paul Henderson got Detroit's other goal. Henry had the lone marker in the third period, beating Roger Crozier again while Bill Gadsby was off with a minor.

Henry also scored Saturday after the Rangers had jumped to a 4-0 lead by the early minutes of the second period in Chicago. Phil Goyette, Marshall, Earl Ingarfield, Bob Nevin and Rod Gilbert also scored for New York.

Maki, Fred Stanfield and Bobby Hull tallied for the Hawks. It was Hull's 36th goal in 41 games.

PLANTE INJURED

Jacques Plante was injured in the late stages of the game and gave way to Marcel Paille, who handled the contest in Detroit as well.

Glenn Hall was New York's victim in the Hawks' nets, but Denis DeJordy was the losing netminder against the Canadiens.

Heads Up, Gump!

Goalie Gump Worsley strikes puckish pose as he follows old hockey rule and keeps eye on puck after stopping shot with chest. Worsley was weekend star for Montreal as Canadiens chalked up a pair of victories. They nipped Boston 3-2 Saturday and bopped Black Hawks 4-2 Sunday in Chicago. Worsley made 58 saves in the two games. (CP Wirephoto)

Gutoski, Comox Airman To Carry Island Hopes

PORT ALBERNI—Rinks from Victoria, Courtenay and Campbell River are carrying Vancouver Island's hopes for provincial championships in curling.

Former provincial champion Tony Gutoski and Dave Patterson of Courtenay emerged as the Island's two representatives in the men's Pacific Coast finals after coming out on top in the zone finals here at the weekend.

Winner of the women's Island title is a Campbell River rink skipped by Frank Serjeant. Only one woman's rink advances to the Coast finals at Cloverdale.

Gutoski and Patterson lead their rinks to Chilliwack, where the Coast finals will be played Jan. 30-31.

DEFEATED NEFF

Gutoski, backed by Jim Dickson, Dick Fisher and Stew Mason, picked off his berth Sunday by defeating Nanaimo's Doug Neff 9-8 in the "B" final of a double-knockout playoff.

Gutoski defeated Esquimalt's Lyle Gordon 13-7 to reach the "B" final.

Patterson clinched his spot by winning three straight games, the final an 11-8 decision over Neff in the "A" windup. Neff's setback in the "A" final sent him directly to the "B" final.

Patterson, an airman based at Comox, is supported by third Gerry Munro, second Al Thompson and lead Sandy Sandbery.

UPSET VICTIM

The upset victim in the eight-rink final was Duncan's Glen Harper, two-time B.C. champion. Neff handed Harper his first loss, 10-8, and then the Duncan skip fell out of the picture when he dropped an 11-10 thriller to Gutoski.

Also reaching the Island finals were rinks skipped by Don Moss of Victoria, Bob Cummings and Jim Marasco of Port Alberni.

Mrs. Serjeant, a former Island champion who curled in Nanaimo until this year, scored a thrilling, last-rock 9-8 victory over Port Alberni's Ev Stirzaker to win the ladies' berth.

FORCED PLAYOFF

Rounding out Mrs. Serjeant's rink are Jean Barber, Louise Montieth and Cathy Enns.

Mrs. Serjeant was assured of a berth in the final by coming out on top in the "A" section of the double-knockout affair. But Mrs. Stirzaker forced a sudden-death playoff by defeating the Campbell River crew 9-5 in the "B" final.

Knocked out earlier were foursomes skippered by Carol Williams of Saanich (Allan's), Agnes Thien of Nanaimo, Ruth Jackson and Dorothy Fukuyama of Victoria, Helen McLauglin of Comox, Marg Harper of Duncan and Marg Brillinger of Esquimalt.

FREAK TRUCK MISHAP KILLS STOCK-CAR FAN

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A fork-lift truck supporting spectators on a platform rolled suddenly down an incline at a stock-car race Sunday, killing one man and injuring two other men and two boys.

Killed when the vehicle ran over him was Ronald Eugene Pickle, 20, of San Diego.

The mishap occurred in an infield area just after the start of the 500-mile $65,000 Motor Trend-Riverside Raceway road race for stock cars.

Officer Paul Kearney of the California Highway Patrol said the truck rolled forward down an incline about 10 feet into an embankment and part way through a chain-link fence.

Pulling Goaltender Lucky for Luckies

Up-Island entries swept five out of a possible six points from their Victoria-area rivals in the Vancouver Island Hockey League over the weekend.

Second-place Saanich Safeway Cavaliers salvaged the lone point, playing to a 7-7 draw with Port Alberni Luckies at Memorial Arena on Sunday.

Alberni tripped winless Victoria Cougars 7-5 while Nanaimo thumped the Safeways 8-3 in Saturday games.

Cougars and Cavaliers swing right back into action tonight, meeting in a 7:45 p.m. clash at the Arena.

Luckies salvaged their draw Sunday by scoring the tying goal after pulling out goalie Dave Thein in the final 30 seconds. Gary Skolos scored the equalizer with only 14 seconds showing on the clock.

Larry Meyers and Bob Harris each scored two goals for Safeways while Ken Walls and Dale Newbury each countered a pair for Alberni.

Totems Were So Angry That Zeidel Could Spit

And Larry Did Just That As Leafs Defeat Leaders

The way Victoria Maple Leafs have been rampaging through the Western Hockey League in recent weeks they have several times had rivals almost mad enough to spit.

Leafs finally went all the way Sunday at Seattle. They whipped the league-leading Totems 3-2 and in the process left the Seattleites so frustrated they actually started spitting.

Anyway, one Totem did.

The saliva tosser was boisterous Larry Zeidel, who had been feuding with Victoria rookie Rollie Wilcox all night.

Larry eventually spouted over mid-way in the third period. Whistled down for his fifth penalty of the game by referee Willie Papp, Zeidel spat at the official and was ejected from the ice with a game misconduct sentence, which packs an automatic $50 fine.

It was a completely frustrating evening for all the Totems, who were returning home after a long road trip with their once healthy lead over Portland shrivelled to a single point.

Bothered all the way by tenacious Victoria checking, the Totems scrambled to 1-1 tie with the Leafs in the opening period, dropped behind 3-1 in the second session and didn't get back within one goal until only 62 seconds were remaining.

One Point Away From Third Spot

Victory was the second in two nights for the Leafs, who have lost only three of their last 14 games. They whipped Vancouver Canucks 6-2 Saturday night at Memorial Arena and Sunday's win boosted them within one point of the third-place Canuks.

Coach Rudy Pilous' Leafs get a chance to jump into the third spot Tuesday night. They tangle with the Totems again at Memorial Arena while Portland Buckaroos play at Vancouver.

Several rugged exchanges marked Sunday's game with Zeidel usually in the middle of things. Apparently bearing a grudge against Wilcox, he took a double minor with the Victoria rookie early in the second period and later in the session Zeidel and Wilcox tangled.

TAYLOR JOINS FRAY

Bobby Taylor of the Leafs barged into the fight and was followed by Chuck Holmes of Seattle. When peace was restored, Zeidel, Wilcox and Taylor each had a minor and major penalty, and Holmes picked up a major.

Larry got another minor in the third before he started acting like a fountain.

On the hockey side of the action, Dick Lamoureux, Steve Witiuk, on a picture play, and Danny Belisle scored the Victoria goals. Veteran Gordie Sinclair and Holmes replied for Seattle.

Victoria goalie Al Millar came up with another sharp performance, blocking 28 shots while Seattle's Jim McLeod was making 20 saves.

For Belisle, Sunday's goal was his fourth in a happy weekend.

Now skating at his best lick of the season, Belisle enjoyed his first three-goal game in three seasons Saturday to emerge as the Victoria star.

Defenceman Fred Hucul stepped out of the penalty box to open the scoring and Milan Marcetta potted his 21st goal of the season to give the Leafs a 2-1 lead as they soundly outskated the Canucks in the opening period.

Canucks had more of the puck in the second session, but Belisle counted twice to make it 4-0.

Bob McCusker and Ron Mathews scored for Vancouver around Belisle's third counter in the final session before Leaf defenceman Claude Labrosse wrapped up the scoring with his first tally of the season.

Victoria's Larry Keenan, who needed a goal to tie a WHL record of scoring one or more goals in consecutive games, had a few good chances but couldn't connect and saw his streak snapped at eight games.

DEFEAT PORTLAND

Blades Block Buckaroo Bid

Los Angeles Blades kept pace with the hot Victoria Maple Leafs Sunday in the Western Hockey League race.

They remained two points behind the Leafs and blocked a Portland bid to take over first place by whipping the Buckaroos 6-3 at Los Angeles while Victoria was tripping the leading Totems at Seattle.

The Bucks have 48 points in league standings to 49 for Seattle.

Los Angeles jumped to a commanding 4-0 lead in the first two periods, but the Buckaroos bounced back to make a close contest of it.

Portland's Dick Van Impe, Andy Hebenton and Pat Stapleton connected on consecutive goals to trim the Blades' lead to one goal at 4-3.

A Portland goal that was apparently scored by Tommy McVie was disallowed when officials said he kicked it in. From there, Brian Smith and Norm Johnson tallied for Los Angeles to clinch the victory.

Johnson scored twice in the game, as did Stan Maxwell. Willie O'Ree got the other tally.

Nats Sharp At Passing, Shoot Poorly

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's national hockey team could stand a little improvement in the shooting department.

The team displayed a knitted defence and some smart pass combinations Sunday night in registering a 5-2 victory over a make-up junior team of players from Montreal and Peterborough of the Ontario Junior Hockey Association.

It was the nationals' 17th win in tune-up games for the world amateur championships March 4-14 at Tampere, Finland. They have lost 10 and tied two.

"We're a little weak around the nets," Rev. David Bauer, the team adviser, said after the game.

Canada fired 40 pucks at goalie Chuck Goddard, one of eight Peterborough players with the juniors. But the nationals failed to capitalize on lapses by the junior defence.

RON HOWELLS FOUND GUILTY OF BOOT FIX

NOTTINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Ronald Howells, a former player for English professional soccer teams Walsall and Scunthorpe United, was found guilty in court here today of conspiring to fix an English League match.

Howells, 29, was one of 10 players or former players accused of similar offences.

He was convicted of conspiring with former Mansfield town players, Sam Chapman and Jimmy Gauld, and others "unknown," to ensure that Scunthorpe lost its match with Derby County in April, 1963.

Gauld and Chapman previously pleaded guilty.

ELLIS WINS PLAYOFF

Sensational Putts Ruin Billy's Hopes

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Wes Ellis, Jr., tied Billy Casper, Jr., on the 18th hole with a sensational 45-foot birdie putt Sunday and then holed an eight-footer on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff to win the $34,500 San Diego Open golf tournament.

The 32-year-old Ellis, a club pro from West Caldwell, N.J., came from behind with three brilliant birdie shots.

He sank a 35-footer on No. 17, which narrowed the gap, tied the score with the 45-footer on No. 18, and then won the $4,850 top money.

Ellis had rounds of 66-65-71-65 and Casper had 70-68-65-64, both for 267 totals.

In the playoff, Casper reached the edge of the green, a par-four, 347-yard hole, and Ellis' ball went on the green, eight feet to one side of the flag. Casper almost holed his shot and tapped it in for the par four. Then came the sudden-death shot by Ellis.

Johnny Pott, who missed a four-footer on No. 16 which would have given him a tie, finished with a 65 for 268. Casper and Ellis tied at 267.

George Knudson of Toronto came in with a 64 for 269.

Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont., faded from the tournament Friday with 68-76-144.

The playoff was the third in the last five years. Tommy Jacobs defeated Pott in 1962 and Arnold Palmer won over Al Balding of Toronto in 1961.

West Clobbers East In AFL Star Test

HOUSTON (AP) — Keith Lincoln caught a 73-yard touchdown pass and scored on an 80-yard run and John Hadl threw three touchdown passes Saturday in a 38-14 West romp over the East in the transplanted American Football League All-Star game.

SLIM CROWD

A slim crowd of 15,446 watched the game at Jeppesen Stadium.

The game was moved from New Orleans on short notice last Monday after 21 Negro players claimed racial discrimination.

It was close in the first half when the West took a 17-14 edge, but it turned into a runaway in the second half.

Hadl, San Diego quarterback who played most of the game after Len Dawson of Kansas City suffered a nose injury in the first period, had three touchdown passes but it was Dawson who tossed the bomb to Lincoln, fleet San Diego running back, on the first scrimmage play of the game.

SILLY ATTITUDE . . . . . . SAYS NHL BOSS

Must Conform to Rules

MONTREAL (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said today he is "terribly disappointed" at the "silly attitude" adopted by linesman George Hayes which led to his suspension Friday.

"He is the employee with the longest service to the league outside of myself and I have always been happy with his technical work on the ice," Campbell said.

"But he must conform to the rules laid down for control of the staff. We can't have one set of rules for him and another for everyone else."

Hayes, an NHL official for 19 years, was suspended when he refused to undergo an eye examination made compulsory for all league officials. He said it is against his principles.

"I feel I should be judged by the job I do on the ice and not by some report from an eye doctor," he is reported to have said.

Campbell reiterated that every other referee and linesman underwent the eye examination which he termed "a confirmation of fitness." The results were "very encouraging," he said.

Campbell said at present Hayes is under suspension but that his contract will be terminated if he does not comply with the rules "within a reasonable period of time."

Does Columbus Side Really Run League?

Irate United Claiming Points After Italians Fail to Appear

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Victoria fans and soccer executives alike are still fuming over the failure of the Vancouver Columbus team to show up for Saturday's Pacific Coast League game with United.

United president Ron Southern said Sunday he has submitted a claim of default.

"If we are not awarded the two points," he said, "we will file a protest with the B.C. Soccer Commission and if we get no satisfaction from them, we'll go right to Geneva—the International Football Federation . . ."

Columbus officials claim they missed an 11 a.m. ferry sailing "by 15 minutes." They were due to arrive on the Island at 12:45. Game time was scheduled to be 2 p.m.

"Dense fog" in Vancouver was given as the reason the Italian team missed the boat.

But the reasons (Columbus version) are filled with discrepancies.

The Victoria Maple Leaf and Vancouver Canuck hockey teams, travelling by chartered buses, both managed to catch the 11 a.m. ferry. I travelled with the Victoria hockey team. We had no difficulty catching the ferry and there were no traffic problems.

'You'll Be Sure to Hear From Us'

Yet Columbus manager Pete Mainardi was reported to have claimed the Vancouver soccer team's bus "got behind some slow-moving vehicles and could not pass in the heavy fog."

However, neither Pacific Stages nor Vancouver Tours Ltd. — the two companies usually called upon by soccer teams — had any request for chartering a soccer team on Saturday.

League president Bill Findler, contacted later, said the Columbus team "usually travels in cars."

Findler was asked if United would be awarded the two points. "I can't say," he answered, "until I find out what action is planned by Victoria."

Would the Columbus team be fined?

"I can't answer that either until we check into the circumstances."

Pray tell, Mr. Findler, do circumstances really matter?

'Not Even Matter For Discussion'

Several hundred fans showed up at Royal Athletic Park for the expected game. An estimated 300 to 400 turned away and about as many stayed on to see a hastily-arranged exhibition.

Prior to the exhibition, United kicked off at 2 p.m. and put the ball into an empty net in an effort to justify its claim to the points.

"Anywhere else but here," said Southern, "the home side is awarded two points if a team fails to show up . . . no matter what the excuse.

"It's not even a matter for discussion. It is automatic.

"The Coast League is getting to be more and more a one-club affair and more and more a bush league.

"I'm disgusted."

It has long since been suspected that Columbus, and not Mr. Findler, runs the Pacific Coast League.

It will be interesting to see how this affair will be handled.

SIGNED for another $105,000 season is Willie Mays. Perhaps best player in baseball, the 34-year-old San Francisco Giant outfielder turned in his signed contract Saturday.

Pickering Captures 'Masters'

CALGARY (UPI) — The Bob Pickering rink of Avonlea, Sask., Saturday won the Masters open curling championship here with a 12-7 win over Hersh Lerner of Winnipeg after 11 ends.

The Pickering quartet won a total of $1,000 in prize money.

Pickering opened by stealing a point on the first end and two more in the second. Although Lerner narrowed the gap to 3-2 in the third end, the outcome was never in doubt.

The Pickering rink curled much more sharply, averaging 82.9 per cent compared to the Lerner rink's average of 74.3. Tops on the Pickering crew was second Garnet Campbell, who had only one complete miss in the game, and finished with a remarkable score of 91.7 per cent.

Wanderers Trip Meraloma Squad

VANCOUVER—Veteran fullback Don Burgess booted two penalty goals to spark Oak Bay Wanderers to a 14-3 exhibition rugby victory over Vancouver Meralomas Saturday.

John Stewart and Goodman Goodmanseth scored a try apiece for the Bays while Dave Clarke rounded out their total with a conversion.

Barry Burnham scored a penalty goal to account for Meralomas' only points.

Austrian Takes Coveted Trophy

ST. ANTON, Austria (AP) — Austria's Gerhard Nenning, 24, captured the coveted trophy of the Arlberg Kandahar skiing races Sunday.

Nenning edged out Karl Schranz, his teammate and four-time trophy holder.

Victoria Pairing Dance Champions

VANCOUVER (CP) — Karen Magnussen, a pretty young miss from North Vancouver, put on a beautiful display of skating as she captured first-place in senior ladies' singles competition in the B.C. sectional figure skating championships Saturday night.

Karen edged by Judy McLeod, and Cynthia Titcombe, both of North Vancouver. Heather Fraser of Victoria placed fifth.

Mary-Ellen and Jim Hiback of Victoria, skated off with the gold dance championship, edging Joni Graham and Don Phillips of Vancouver.

In the senior men's singles, Steve Hutchinson of Vancouver took top honors. David Coffin of North Vancouver placed second.

And in the ladies' gold free-skating event, Lindsay Cowan edged her teammate Karen Magnussen to capture first place. Heather Fraser of Victoria finished in fourth position.

The team trophy was won by Capilano Winter Club of North Vancouver with 49 points, North Shore was second with 38 and Victoria finished third with 21 points.

California Man Wins Road Test

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., won the 500-mile, $65,000 Motor Trend road race for late-model stock cars Sunday at Riverside raceway.

Gurney, 33, driving a 1965 Ford, was timed in 5:41.42, averaging 87.708 miles an hour.

Second was Junior Johnson of Ronda, N.C., in a 1965 Ford. He was 27 seconds back of the leader. Third, one lap back, was Marvin Panch of Daytona Beach, Fla., in a 1965 Ford.

A car driven by A. J. Foyt of Houston, last year's Indianapolis 500 champion, flipped off the track and overturned. Foyt suffered chest injuries.

UPSET CHINOOKS

Braves Set Up Furious Finish

Give University of British Columbia Braves all the credit for supplying the ideal ending to the Inter-City Junior Basketball League script.

They hung a 63-56 defeat on the Victoria Chinooks at Central Junior High School Saturday night to create a fight-for-first finish next Saturday.

Chinooks and Vancouver CYO, deadlocked for first place, will meet at Central in the last game of the schedule.

It was a big weekend for the Braves, who followed up Saturday's victory with a spine-tingling 58-57 victory over Alberni on Sunday. The result gives UBC the inside track on the fourth and final playoff berth.

Vic Rahn, who scored 14 points against the Chinooks, was UBC's hero Sunday. He scored 18 points, including the winning basket with only 25 seconds to go.

VIKETTES TRIPPED

John Lauvaas, with 15 points, was top man for Chinooks, who lacked their usual crispness and trailed 38-31 at the half.

Elsewhere on the basketball floors . . .

UBC's women's team made it two-for-two for their school by trouncing Victoria University 51-39 despite a 15-point display by Vikettes' Sylvia Campbell.

At Oak Bay High, the hosts won a thriller and Victoria High Totems dropped another in exhibitions with mainland teams.

The Bays, sparked by big Brian MacKenzie and Bob Burrows, edged Lord Byng 56-55 while Totems, lacking their usual cohesion, dropped a 44-43 duke to Burnaby Central in overtime.

MacKenzie dropped in 20 points while Burrows potted 17 for the Bays. Burnaby's big gun was Terry Hiduk, who scored 21 points.

Wales Beats England

CARDIFF (Reuters) — Wales beat England by 14-3 in the Rugby Union international championship match here Saturday. Wales led 3-0 at half-time.

Treloar Cracks Canadian Mark

Grant Treloar and a Victoria Amateur Swim Club relay team bettered Canadian records Saturday in the first stage of the annual city swimming and diving championships.

The meet resumes Friday at 5:30 with diving competitions at Royal Roads and then winds up with the balance of swim events at the Crystal Garden pool on Saturday.

Treloar broke the national 100-yard freestyle mark for boys 13 and 14 with a timing of 55.5 seconds.

The starry young swimmer then anchored a VASC team to a record-setting performance in 200-yard relay. Treloar, Bruce Denniston, Ross Bruce and Dave Owen covered the distance in 1:50.6.

VASC's Olympians amassed a whopping 495 points to take a commanding lead in the run for team honors. YMCA finished the first stage with 383 points.

GEORGE ROYAL SIXTH . . . . . . AT SANTA ANITA

Hill Rise in Front

By Associated Press

Hill Rise, thundering down the stretch on the outside, won the $61,550 San Fernando Stakes for four-year-olds Saturday over 1⅛ miles at Santa Anita Race Track, Arcadia, Calif.

Pelegrin, front-running leader most of the way, was second, and Canadian B., a non-stakes winner owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. Goldenberg of Canada, was third

Hill Rise picked up the winner's share of $39,050; Pelegrin got $10,000 and $7,000 went to Canadian B.

Hill Rise, under Donald Pierce, hung back until the turn into the stretch. Then Hill Rise, runner-up at the Kentucky Derby, surged around the field to the outside in a sprint to the wire, winning by two lengths.

George Royal, a Canadian horse bred in British Columbia, was given a chance to share the money but ran a disappointing race. He was running close to Hill Rise but couldn't match the winner's closing surge and finished sixth.

At Miami, Dark King fought off challenges by Bid End and Lord Birchfield to win the $31,650 Royal Poinciana Handicap before an opening day crowd of 23,145 at Hialeah Park.

Rainy Lake came on fast in the stretch to take second and Big End was third.

FIRST TIME IN COWICHAN VALLEY

Catholics, Protestants Pray Together

By DON DINGWALL

DUNCAN — For the first time in the history of the Cowichan district, Roman Catholics and Protestants knelt together in prayer on Sunday.

Occasion for the joint service was the opening of a week of prayer for Christian unity.

Presiding at the first service, Rev. Chris Jack, of St. Andrew's United Church, Nanaimo, described it as "unique and historic."

The service was held in St. John's Anglican Church. A second service will be held there tonight.

For the rest of the week services will be held at St. Edward's Catholic church and an invitation has been extended to Protestant and other congregations to take part.

Sisters of St. Ann's Convent, Duncan, took part in Sunday's service, some as members of the augmented choir.

Mr. Jack called on the various denominations to follow the spirit of Christ into unity.

He said their act of joint worship would give fresh hope and confidence to the idea of Christian unity.

In taking part in the services, sponsored by Cowichan Ministerial Association, the district's Roman Catholics are following the advice of Bishop Remi De Roo.

Why nickel in stainless steel?
and why it is so important to modern design in household products

NICKEL IS THE HALLMARK OF QUALITY IN STAINLESS STEEL

Nickel's contribution to quality stainless steel is toughness, durability and resistance to corrosion. Nickel stainless steel is easy to keep clean, sanitary and gleaming; it will not crack or chip; it will not rust or stain.

The International Nickel Company's continuing programme of research and market development helps Canadian manufacturing industries produce quality products, and helps strengthen Canada's economy.

18-8 NICKEL STAINLESS STEEL looks better lasts longer NICKEL QUALITY

Look for products carrying this 18-8 seal which indicates a nickel content of approximately 8%.

Doesn't Hold a Grudge

The German Shepherd in this picture obviously holds no grudge against the human race . . . although it wouldn't be surprising if she did. The young bitch was found in the Langford area Sunday with five coils of wire wrapped tightly round her throat. SPCA officials who removed the wire are searching for the person who tried garrotting the friendly animal. Meanwhile, all is forgiven as she shows by giving vet's assistant Leslie Belfit a wet but loving kiss in return for her treatment.

Saturday they out-drifted teams from three other clubs to win the Clark Gibson team trophy event.

Other clubs competing in the team events were Seattle YC and Corinthian YC, also of Seattle. The races were sailed in flying juniors, a two-man boat.

Other skipper on the RVYC team was Chris Sanderson and crew members were June Batey, Sally Rochfort and Bert Findlay.

BONNER MUM ON JONES SUSPENSION

The government's next move in dealing with purchasing commission chairman George Jones, acquitted of charges of accepting benefits, was still a mystery today.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said there had been no decision yet whether the case would be appealed.

He would not comment on whether Mr. Jones' suspension by an Oct. 2 cabinet order would be lifted or his withheld pay cheques released to him.

Meanwhile, Mr. Jones—who has consistently gone to work since the suspension order—said he is busy preparing the commission's annual report to the legislature which employs him directly.

He said he had no thought of resigning.

Horse Hunt Continues On Island

A search was still on today for several horses missing in snow-covered country near Campbell River.

The horses, missing since late November, belong to the K Bar X dude ranch, 12 miles south of the up-Island village.

Weekend searches rounded up 25 of the 34 horses.

Many were half-starved and one colt had to be carried back on an automatic sled.

Twelve were rounded up Sunday.

Many were found sheltering in wooded areas where they were able to scrounge among the lighter covering of snow for food.

Heading the search is ranch owner Ken Canfield.

In a bid to rescue the animals before they starve to death, he called in an aircraft and an RCAF heliocopter from Comox.

Also lending a hand was Victoria SPCA chief David Beeching.

Mr. Canfield, who took over the ranch after coming from the prairies last May, was hindered by not knowing the countryside.

WORTH $300

The horses, including a Shetland and a Welsh pony belonging to his young children, are worth up to $300 each.

Said his wife Georgeliene today: "We had no idea the winter was going to be as bad as this.

"As far as we knew it was customary to put the horses out in winter and we did likewise."

Meanwhile, back in Victoria, Mr. Beeching criticized owners who put livestock out to graze in winter.

He said: "The custom seems to have grown of letting some stock winter graze.

"The terrain in this part of the world is secondary growth and bush with a few swampy meadows.

"It is not fit to put stock out unless they get some supervision and supplementary feed.

"Horses are dying as a result of this practice."

Official Stand On Pollution Taken By City

City council today wallowed 90 minutes in special debate on the question of treated sewage, finally opposing in principle the discharge of effluent into Gorge waterway.

The meeting was called to enable council to make a stand by today's deadline on a Saanich proposal to increase the flow into Colquitz River of treated effluent from a plant serving North Ridge subdivision.

The Saanich application was made a month ago and a 30-day period is allowed for objections to be made.

Council's resolution makes no reference to the Saanich application, which must have pollution control board approval.

It authorizes city solicitor T. P. O'Grady to appear at any hearing the board may call and make known Victoria's position, which is that the city and Metro Health Board are in harmony and on record in opposing pollution of the Gorge or other inland waters.

City engineer James Garnett reported to council as a result of discussion that council was advised to point out to the pollution board there are hazards involved in the Saanich scheme for a treatment plant, or its alternative — individual septic tanks.

'Dry' Theatre Hinted By A-G's Department

'No Precedent' Found For Stand-Up Drinks

City council may find it hard to catch the waiter's eye when it calls for drinks in the McPherson Playhouse foyer.

A spokesman for the attorney-general's department today indicated there is no precedent for a stand-up bar to serve theatre-goers between acts and no existing channel for obtaining it either.

"It is very questionable that the Liquor Act makes any provision for this type of licence in any event," the official said.

"The act says licences are issuable only to restaurants, resorts, dining rooms and hotels so it is more complicated than just applying for a licence — it would require a statutory amendment."

SIMILAR METHOD

City council is investigating the means by which a Vancouver theatre obtained a licence to serve liquor, in the hope that a similar method could be employed when McPherson Playhouse is operating.

Not counting the estimated 1,400 petitioners who have written the mayor and council opposing liquor in the civic playhouse, Mayor R. B. Wilson said last week the question is "academic" because there seems no legislation to permit it.

Foulis Story 'Involved' Says Banker

Hearing Started On Fraud Charge

A city bank manager testified today that an explanation of an allegedly fraudulent transaction by Robert A. Foulis "seemed pretty involved to me."

Foulis is the former Vancouver man, now living on Salt Spring Island, who is charged with defrauding seven men in Victoria of $238,550 between 1958 and 1963.

The preliminary hearing of the charges began today in city court before Magistrate William Ostler.

Foulis is charged in connection with a scheme for buying discontinued lines of liquor and re-selling them. He is alleged to have obtained $56,800 from Dr. John G. Patterson and $73,000 from Ernest Benton, both of Victoria, among others.

E. C. Brown, manager of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce at Douglas and Cormorant, said Benton and Patterson brought Foulis to his office on June 6, 1963.

Mr. Brown said he wanted to hear from Foulis an explanation of his business dealings with Mr. Benton and Dr. Patterson.

BORROWING MONEY

Mr. Brown said, under questioning by Crown Prosecutor W. R. McIntyre, that the bank was not directly involved in the deals but Patterson and Benton "were borrowing money from me and I knew they were sending it to Foulis."

Mr. Brown said the explanation given by Foulis was so complicated that he called in his secretary to take notes of it.

According to the notes Foulis had said that distilleries sometimes decide to discontinue a line, or change its labelling or bottle.

RECALL STOCK

In such cases distilleries will sometimes recall existing stock from liquor stores.

Mr. Foulis said he had arranged to obtain this stock, on which tax had been paid, and could resell it to clubs. Mr. Foulis claimed distilleries sold discontinued lines at good discount because it cost too much to rebottle the liquor.

Mr. Brown said that after his secretary typed up notes of this explanation they all went and had coffee.

Robert Mason, purchasing officer for the Liquor Control Board, said it is common practice when a distiller makes changes in product or packaging to sell off the old line. He said that only rarely is the discontinued line exchanged for the new.

Evidence was also given by Detective W. R. McGrenera, of the Vancouver city police, about an interview he had with Foulis Nov. 21, 1963.

He said Foulis told him that he had been employed in the past as a salesman for Adam's Distillery, a sales manager for Alberta Distillers and as vice-president for sales of Potter's Distilleries.

Trio Scared Off In Burglary Try

A janitor frightened off three men who tried to rob the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Club, 1001 Wharf St., early Sunday.

Two of them apparently hid in the club after closing time. Police believe they huddled in a space above the men's washroom that is used for air conditioning equipment.

Janitor Charles Poole went upstairs in the club shortly after 6 a.m. Sunday. He spotted a car parked outside and saw it move up to the double doors. He heard a whistle and then surprised two men as they opened the doors.

Police surmise the two were about to let the third man inside. All fled before police arrived on the scene.

RVYC Sailors Drub Navy Frostbiters

Frostbite sailors of Royal Victoria Yacht Club gave navy crews a lesson in sailing Saturday and Sunday at the club's closed course at Cadboro Bay.

They drubbed members of the Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association 4-1 in team races in Davidson and El Toro classes.

The meet was the first in a home-and-home series for the two clubs. Return match will be Jan. 30-31 and it will be raced in El Toros and 420s.

The races, which turned into drifting matches at times because of light breezes, attracted more than 50 boats.

In RCNSA individual races, John Mallison won in the Davidson class and Robin Spear captured El Toro honors.

Ed Cushing was top RVYC Davidson skipper, and Dave Anstey won his club's El Toro event.

Stolen Register Found on Malahat

Shawnigan RCMP have recovered a cash register stolen Jan. 3 from Individual Dry Cleaners, 2182 Oak Bay Ave.

The register was empty when it was stolen. It was spotted by a tourist taking photos at the Gulf Islands viewpoint on the Malahat near Bamberton.

The badly damaged register was lying in snow behind a retaining wall. It was turned over to city police.

CLEAR TODAY?

Air Traffic Grounded For 4th Day

Dense fog continued to blanket most of Vancouver Island's east coast today, grounding all flights at Victoria International Airport and bringing traffic to a crawl.

As the weatherman predicted a possible break, visibility at Pat Bay was still almost nil this morning.

All incoming and outgoing flights have been cancelled indefinitely, including routine flights by the navy's VU 33 Utility squadron stationed there.

No regular flights have left the airport since the blanket descended Friday.

The picture was the same in Vancouver and all flights to and from Eastern Canada had to be diverted to Edmonton.

COMOX CLOSED

Regular flights from RCAF Station Comox were grounded.

Crews stood by in the hope of getting airborne this morning as visibility stood at one-quarter mile.

But by noon visibility was only 220 yards.

Except for a brief spell Friday, aircraft have been grounded now four days.

Back on the ground, traffic fared a little better.

Although vehicles in Nanaimo and Duncan were still crawling along this morning with lights on, RCMP say the fog has presented no serious problems to date.

B.C. Ferries reported both routes, from Nanaimo and from Swartz Bay, running as usual with no delays.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines reported no serious delays in Up-Island services.

50 TICKETS

Across on the mainland, police in Vancouver and Burnaby handed out 50 tickets over the weekend to motorists driving in the fog without headlights.

But Victorians need have no fears.

City police office said today they were not aware of any such charge locally.

Despite some fog in the city early on, the blanket had rolled away by the time most office workers settled down at their desks.

Weatherman William Mackie said the chances of more fog were pretty good.

But it should thin out a little by Tuesday.

REPAIRING LARGEST FISH NET in B.C. today at CPR pier in Inner Harbor were Thomas Hunt of Victoria and David Wright of Rosedale, B.C. The net belongs to the Pacific Venture, which will be going out after herring as soon as minor engine repairs are made. The ship, which has recently undergone overhaul at McKay-Cormack Shipyards, landed record catches at Prince Rupert in 1964. The huge net measures 325 fathoms by 55 fathoms, or 1,950 by 330 feet. FOR CONVERSION

Swedes Win $14 Million Hydro Deal

B.C. Hydro has awarded a $14,000,000 contract for electrical conversion equipment to a Swedish firm.

A spokesman for the Hydro said this morning that the Swedish company Asea of Vaesteras would supply the bulk of the new equipment.

Two substations, one at Arnott on the mainland, the other at Stratford on Vancouver Island, will be involved in the conversion which will enable the mainland station to convert A.C. current to D.C. for transmission by submarine cable. The Island substation will convert the current back to A.C. for domestic and industrial use.

The changeover will result in an extra 130,000 volts being transmitted to the Island.

At present seven submarine cables provide two complete circuits to bring power to the Island with one cable spare.

The spare cable will be used to carry the extra voltage.

MAXIMUM LOADS

"The other six cables are already carrying maximum loads," the spokesman said. "By converting the power from A.C. to D.C. and then back again for consumer use is the most practical way of getting more power to the Island to serve its growing needs."

Lack of available sea floor for the laying of extra cables makes it necessary to use the conversion method rather than attempt to locate new submarine cables.

BY 1967

Work on the conversion of the two substations will commence as soon as the Swedish company makes the new equipment available.

It is expected to be completed with the new equipment operating at capacity by 1967.

The Arnott substation is located near the Tsawwassen ferry dock. The Stratford substation is near Duncan.

HUSBANDS TO SHOOT LEOPARD, BUFFALO AS WIVES SHOOT FILM

Victorians Going to Africa for Big Game

By JIM HUME

Eight Victorians—four husband and wife teams—are heading for Equatorial Africa January 30 to hunt big game.

The husbands, George Farmer, George Goy, Dr. Robert Gale and Norman Lougheed, will seek the trophy heads while the wives record the 21-day Uganda safari on film.

The group will operate out of Entebbe, Uganda, in Eastern Equatorial Africa with leopard and water buffalo the main targets.

Mrs. Goy said this morning all the preparatory work has been done, but packing is lagging a little.

"We've had all the shots we need and all the paper work has been done," she said. "But about the only thing ready so far as packing goes is my husband's rifle."

While hunting big game will be nothing new to the four men, the African scene and its animal life will be.

"My husband has hunted big game all over B.C. and the Yukon," Mrs. Goy said. "But none of us have been to Africa before or hunted leopard or water buffalo."

Mr. Farmer said he would be happy with whatever trophies he could find.

"We shall be happy to hunt whatever game is in the area the guide takes us to," he said. "I would like a leopard but I understand they're pretty scarce."

Sewing Aids Save Mom's Grey Hairs

By Penny Saver

If ever there was a reason for mothers to go grey it's trying to mend or replace frayed, worn collars and cuffs or trying to renew that worn-out pocket in hubby's trousers. Even for the best home seamstress these chores pose a difficult problem.

All too often, while the body of a garment remains in wearable condition, the collars and cuffs tend to fray and tear leaving a rather woe-begone appearance. However, as to most problems, there is a solution—buy ready-made cuffs and collars.

Knitted cuffs for both adults' and children's clothing are available in the shop I was in this morning. They are suitable for sportswear clothing and ideal for making one of Dad's heavy shirts into a casual jacket. They are made of a wool and cotton blend and come in a wide range of colors. Prices are 39 and 49 cents.

If hubby's line of work demands tie and collar, you're almost bound to be in the market for white shirt collars and cuffs. The ones I found are made of sanforized broadcloth and sell at 79 cents. They are easily attached and add years of wearability to the shirt.

You can add longevity to a pair of trousers, too, with replacement pockets priced at 45 cents. Full-length, the pockets are triple thread reinforced and have a smooth inside. The rounded corners provide extra strength and help avoid fraying at the corners. Pockets are available in both sew-on and iron-on styles.

With pleated skirts still showing strong on the fashion scene, it's only natural that Mom is busy sewing for herself and her daughter.

But, if you're at all like me, you hate the painstaking chore of measuring each individual pleat so the skirt will have that even look you are striving for. Now you can measure your pleats and have them perfectly accurate in a matter of minutes. All you need is a simple gadget called a permanent pleat maker.

These sell at 59 cents and will make half-inch to one-and-a-half-inch pleats as well as the popular box pleats. You simply cut the pleater to your own measurement, unfold the pleats, stitch in your material and refold along the former pleat lines.

There are many more sewing aids available in this shop, so if you are interested, call Penny at 382-3131 and ask where she shopped.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If You're Dieting, Beware Of the Sunday Hazard!

This is the seventh of 15 articles by Josephine Lowman which tell you exactly how to lose up to 20 pounds in eight weeks.

Save this article as you continue the routine for the eight-week period. It will help you through each Sunday, the most difficult day of the week for many women trying to reduce.

* * *

Lowman

Sunday is as great a hazard for a woman who is reducing as a sand trap is for a man who is playing golf. The man may have a splendid score and then one trap may ruin it. A woman may have counted her calories faithfully all week, and then comes Sunday! The family is at home loafing all day and nibbling on delightful items while visiting and looking at television. Friends may drop in. That one day may cancel out the progress she has made during the rest of the week.

Today I bring you menus which will please your family and indicate what you may have without going over your allowable 1,200 calories.

Breakfast . . . for you:

Half grapefruit with half teaspoon sugar,
One piece toast, lightly buttered,
Two strips of crisp bacon,
Coffee with one teaspoon sugar.

Breakfast . . . for your family:

To the above add—eggs fixed anyway—more toast—with jelly if desired—more bacon or sausage—if preferred—more sugar.

Dinner . . . for you:

One cup of hot consomme with parsley.
Two small crackers,
One serving of baked or broiled chicken (one-half of medium broiler or one good helping of roasted chicken),
Half cup cole slaw,
Half cup green lima beans,
Fruit cup, sweetened with artificial sweetener.

Dinner . . . for family:

The same except larger helpings and seconds if desired. Add hot rolls. The family can also have dressing and gravy and jelly which you must skip. Substitute one of their favorite desserts for your fruit.

Supper . . . for you.

Scrambled eggs (two) cooked in top of double boiler. Season with celery or onion salt or very small amount of butter,
Cucumber and lettuce salad, with low calorie salad dressing.
Eight ounces of skim or powdered fat free milk.

Supper . . . for family:

Same salad—any kind of sandwiches—hot chocolate.

You can use this more or less as a guide for future Sundays. Think over the items you are not allowed and those which you are. For variety you can substitute meat, fish or seafood for the chicken, a baked potato for the limas, carrot and celery sticks for the cole slaw, add a green or yellow vegetable and have a moderate helping of gelatin instead of the fruit cup.

If you have missed any of this series or would like to have my BIP kit which gives you all the information you need and also a chart on which you can plot your weight loss send 25 cents, plus 15 cents for postage and handling, and your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

An ideal way to set your buffet table for casual eating or between-meal snackers is with an array of tidbits using the all-time favorite, corned beef, as a base.

New Ideas for All-Time Favorite Between-Meal, Ice-Box Snackers

Since it was first introduced to icebox-raiding Canadians in 1872, canned corned beef has been a prime favourite for snacks. With good reason: its hearty flavor satisfies, yet doesn't spoil the appetite for meals later on. Now, in keeping with the trend to nibblers that are glamorous as well as delicious, the canned corned beef snack takes on a variety of new and attractive good looks. Here are three: Celery Bites, strictly for the hors d'oeuvre plate; Corned Beef Stackers, cold refreshment for between meals and after-dinner get-togethers; Corned Beef Rollettes, hot-from-the-oven treats with particular appeal to teenagers.

Celery Bites are chilly little rounds of crisp celery filled with seasoned cream cheese and centered with a cube of the colorful meat. They are fun to make, and can be done a day or two ahead of serving if preferred. Corned Beef Stackers, on the other hand, are a quick-to-make snack whose come-hither appearance gives no hint of their being put together shortly after the doorbell rings. The Corned Beef Rollettes are an easy, miniature version of Pigs in a Blanket, using refrigerated biscuits as the wrap-up for strips of the meat.

For all of these the canned corned beef should be thoroughly chilled before using. That way, it can be sliced or slivered with the greatest of ease. A few hours in the refrigerator will firm it properly; cans of the meat kept there as a matter of course will assure sliceable corned beef ready for use on the spur of any moment.

CORNED BEEF CELERY BITES

Cut an equal number of large crisp celery stalks about 6 inches long. Fill all with cream cheese that has been seasoned with salt, a few drops of Worcestershire sauce and a little grated horseradish. Then cut chilled canned corned beef into strips about ¼-inch thick. Press strips lengthwise down centres of half the filled celery stalks; press remaining stalks, cheese side down, over meat. Scrape off any cream cheese that squeezes out and use again. Wrap celery-stalk pairs in waxed paper and chill several hours, up to two days. To serve, cut into ½-inch thick slices.

CORNED BEEF STACKERS

Use crisp saltine crackers as the base. Top each cracker with: ¼-inch thick slice from 10-ounce loaf of sharp natural Cheddar cheese; a dab of prepared mustard; half of a ¼-inch thick slice of chilled canned corned beef; a thick slice of dill, sweet stuffed olive and a cocktail onion held in place with a party pick.

CORNED BEEF ROLLETTES

One-third cup mayonnaise, ⅓ cup grated Parmesan cheese, 2 packages refrigerated biscuits, 1 can (12 ounces) corned beef, chilled, sesame seeds.

Combine mayonnaise and cheese. With rolling pin, flatten biscuits to make ovals about 4 inches long. Spread dab of mayonnaise mixture down centre of each. Cut chilled canned corned beef into strips ½-inch thick. Place one strip lengthwise down centre of each biscuit; pull sides of biscuit well over meat strip and pinch edges together tightly to seal. Sprinkle with sesame seeds. Place on greased baking sheet and bake as directed on package for biscuits. Serve hot.

Makes 20 Rollettes.

Red and White Flowers Set Decor For Yankoski-Hudson Nuptial Mass

Large baskets of red and white chrysanthemums decorated St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral when Fr. M. J. Costelloe officiated at the nuptial mass uniting Barbara Ann Hudson and John Anthony Yankoski in marriage.

Organist, Miss Marguerite McKay, played "Oh Promise Me" during the ceremony.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. George Norman, 1475 Derby Road, and Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Yankoski, 4156 Birtles Avenue.

Given in marriage by Fred Beil, a family friend, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie, styled with a full-length train, highlighted with lace appliques. Sleeves of the bodice ended in lily points. Her scalloped edged veil misted to her shoulders from a pill box headpiece. Only jewelry was a gold cross, gift of the groom, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red and white carnations, holly and mistletoe.

Maid of honor, Miss Doreen Effa, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Janet Hudson, sister of the bride, chose identical Empire-line gowns of blue brocade. Bridesmaid, Miss Beryl Yankoski, sister of the groom, wore a similar gown of pink brocade.

The senior attendants wore toning pill box headpieces edged with veiling, and the junior bridesmaid, a floral hat en tone. All wore engraved gold crosses, gift of the bride, and carried cascade bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Ringbearers were Chris and Tom Warran, cousins of the groom.

Richard Browne was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Gary Fullerton and Storm Andersen.

Fr. Costelloe proposed the toast to the bride at a reception which followed in the Club Soho.

A three-tier wedding cake, topped with bells and made by the groom's aunt, Mrs. F. Warran, centred the bride's table. Pink and white satin ribbons completed table decorations.

The couple are now making their home at 3030 Tillicum Road.

DEAR ABBY . . .

There's a Hitch!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I started going with Earl 10 years ago, he promised me that after he finished his 20 years in the navy we would get married. Well, he's been out three years now, and he never says anything about marriage any more. He even placed his hand on the Holy Bible once and swore he'd buy me a ring, so when I asked him why he didn't, he said I talked too much. After 10 years of going around together he decides I talked too much!

I found a book of matches in his pocket on which was written in his own hand, "IS THERE ANY WAY I CAN SEE YOU TONIGHT?" I am sure he wasn't writing that kind of message to another man. I am 39. Do you think it takes a 41-year-old man 10 years to make up his mind?

GLADYS

DEAR GLADYS: No. I think Earl finished one 20-year hitch and he's not about to go for a lifetime hitch just yet. The handwriting on the book of matches is clear enough. Don't wait for him to draw you any pictures.

DEAR ABBY: Why do you claim that you answer people's problems when you don't? This is the fourth letter I've written to you and it will be the last if you don't answer. Do you just throw a letter away if you can't think up a smart answer for it? My problems are a lot more serious than some of the stupid ones I have seen in your column. Does a person have to PAY to get his letter in the paper? If you don't answer this one, I am going to quit taking the paper.

LONG-TIME SUBSCRIBER

DEAR SUBSCRIBER: Does your newspaper run a "tag" after each of my columns stating that I will answer all letters WHICH INCLUDE A SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE? If it doesn't, it should. All these letters ARE answered, but due to the space limited to me, only a few letters can be answered daily in my column. Sorry.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, dad, husband and I had a big argument and we want you to settle it for us. Every time we go out for dinner, my husband orders steak. He is left-handed and can't cut it properly, so he gives his plate to me and I cut it for him. My parents say that this is not proper, but my husband and I don't see anything wrong with it. What is your opinion?

LEFTY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Why your left-handed husband has trouble cutting steak is beyond me. But if he wants you to cut it and you're willing, it should be nobody else's business.

Confidential To Mother of Seven In Columbus: Television will never replace reading. Limit those children of yours to so many programs a day, or when opportunity knocks later in life they won't be able to hear it for the television blaring.

ROMAN DOUBLET AND HOSE — Micia of Rome is showing this doublet and hose at-home outfit consisting of a sweater and tights made of open weave hand-loomed pink and red wool, studded with red crystals and highlighted by a garter worn below the knee clipped with a diamond bow-knot. BOUTIQUE PHASE

Italian Style Show Sends Ideas Whirling

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—The boutique phase of the Florence collections for spring and summer left ideas still whirling today as high fashion showings began.

Avagolf solved the problem of women who look best in long skirts but would love to wear pants. They did it with a roller-towel arrangement that looks better than it sounds.

Their black silk knit apron shift, swinging wide open in back over nothing but a skirt, does create a minor social problem though: What a man should do with his right hand while dancing.

Terry cloth can go with raincoat poplin or colored madras this season. Glans says so, and they're the terry cloth experts. White terry comes in reversibles with these men's wear fabrics—to go over swimsuits or pants—or on its own and quilt-stitched for beach trousers and jackets.

A young bride could wear white linen or cotton organdy with something-blue lace stockings, or white stockings tufted in pale blue.

Wanda Roveda dedicated her teen-age collection to brides, which may not appeal to most parents but was a big hit with fashion buyers here.

You can add the popcorn surface to a trend for handcrafted looks in knits. Mirsa showed it big, bubbly and bright red for a long-hooded snow coat with matching muff and red leather boots.

Trico did fine, supple-as-crepe popcorn stitches, used them for bias-cowled bodices and ruffle borders on flat-knit skirts.

Watch out for full skirts. Micia used them for shawled short-short knit dresses with patterned stockings and for long dresses.

Boutique isn't boutique without color.

Here are a few lively combinations: Pale gold and salmon pink, neon pink and lavender blue, grass green and orange, lilac and gold, lacquer red with rust or magenta.

Adopt Fur Hat Fad

AMERICAN MEN GO RUSSIAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—A little bit of Russia has gone to the heads of American men. They are wearing fur hats just like Muscovites and just as their fathers did before the covered automobile came along and ruined the fur hat business.

Sadly convinced that nothing resists change more than the wardrobe habits of American men, the clothing industry is surprised by the fur hat's unexpected acceptance. It is grateful to Nikita Khrushchev, Yul Brynner, Harold MacMillan and skiing's new popularity.

Khrushchev gave a fur hat to MacMillan, the former British prime minister, and he wore it home from Moscow. Yul Brynner covered his baldness with fur in "The Brothers Karamazov."

A fad was born, and it proceded to become a fashion. Fur hats caught on five years ago in cold places like Minneapolis, then became stylish in New York. For some reason, New Yorkers keep the earflaps tucked in no matter what the temperature.

The fur hat business in the U.S. means mostly the firm of Jack J. Seifter & Sons, Inc. which estimates it produces 70 per cent of the 250,000 fur hats which will be sold to American men this winter or bought for them by their wives.

The price ranges from a bargain basement $3.45 to $50 for a Persian lamb, $250 for a Kenya leopard or $300 for a first-rate mink. The cheaper models are made of imitation fur which looks convincingly real but feels harsher than fur.

Morton Seifter, president of the hat firm, eschews the temptation to call man-made fur simulated fur, artificial fur, imitation fur or even something fanciful like furette. Bluntly, he says "We make fur hats and fake fur hats, mostly fakes."

The firm makes them in 30 styles or so, some of them called Consul, Diplomat, Cossack, Cuffed Ambassador, Jinnah, Embassy, the old-fashioned pillbox-shaped Detroiter (which dad used to wear) as well as the traditional Astrakhan, made of lambskin and shaped like an overseas cap.

The fur hat originated 1,000 years ago in the high mountain plains of what is now Turkey. Traders from Russia brought them home. Scandinavians, too, are particularly fond of them. Russians call them shapkas, Poles call them kosakis and Americans call them astrakhans.

BIGGEST CUSTOMERS

In America, Alaskans are big customers. "If Alaska had as many people as New York," says Seifter, "we'd be millionaires.

"But it has caught on everywhere," he says. "Every year my brother, brother-in-law and I figure, 'well, we've had it,' but every year it gets bigger. Fantastic.

"Men are slow to change to anything new. The whole thing in men's style is when one man sees some other guy wear it, he gets courage."

The Seifter business was started in 1888 by Samuel Seifter, who used to go to the plains of central Europe every year and bring back raw fur and make hats. Then came the derby and the closed car. The fur hat business soured. Seifter & Sons dabbled in the fiercely-competitive fur coat business, then settled on cloth ski caps until the current boom in fur.

Now fur hats are worn even by conservative dressers and even at fashionable places and hours. In a theatre, they're easier to handle than a traditional felt fedora.

"The fur hat is masculine," says the hat expert at the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. "It conveys a fashion image of ruggedness. Men like to dress to convey that image."

The United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers' International shares the industry's enthusiasm. "We encourage the wearing of headwear," said a spokesman. "What we're against is hatlessness."

Pink Champagne, Caviar Add To Inaugural Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was pink champagne domestic and smoked tongue and black caviar and so many people the next vice-president of the United States was almost backed into the kitchen.

But everyone had a nice word for everyone, and Hubert Humphrey, as always, had a few more at Perle Mesta's blast Sunday night which unofficially inaugurated the social swirl of inaugural week.

"How does it feel to be unemployed?" someone asked the vice-president-elect.

"Not unemployed," he grinned. "Unpaid." Humphrey went off the government payroll Dec. 29 when he resigned his Senate seat to advance his successor's seniority. His new paycheque of $43,000 a year doesn't start until he's sworn in Wednesday.

Clearly the top line of the evening came from Rudolph Nureyev, the great ballet dancer, who was asked what he thought of the great society. "I don't know," the Russian defector said, struggling to keep his elbows in and his champagne from spilling. "I haven't seen it yet."

Nureyev came with Dame Margot Fonteyn, the ballerina, who was radiant in something black. Like Carol Channing of Hello Dolly, they will perform tonight at the inaugural gala Sunday night, Miss Channing wore a big round white hat which was said to be modelled after the capital dome.

Mrs. Mesta, who is "social consultant" for this inaugural, gave the party in her 15-room penthouse apartment, which is full of expensive French furniture. The Marie Antoinette desk, someone whispered, is worth $25,000 and the bathroom fixtures are sculpted out of gold leaf.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD: Maximilián Schell and Princess Soraya are back together again and acting like devoted sweethearts, after several weeks of iciness. Honors go to mediator Gina Lollobrigida, who knew the situation and persuaded Max and Soraya to admit each was waiting for the other to make the first reconciliation move. Mayor Wagner ought to get Gina working on the Welfare strike.

Speaking of unions, comedian Buddy Hackett has irked the stagehands at "I Had a Ball' no end by telling the audience how much overtime the boys will get if he stays on three minutes longer. The customers laugh, but the stagehands don't.

Cary Grant must be chuckling. He made the front page of a metropolitan newspaper a few days ago with the same stock interview he uses on every newspaper woman. The key question is "Are you prepared to lose your son to another woman?" That and most of the other standard quotes was printed ages ago.

What's all the fuss about Elizabeth Taylor wanting to become a British subject, like her husband? Our state department didn't turn green when Lee Harvey Oswald flung them his passport and did his best to become a Russian Communist. Yet Liz made it clear in her statement that she is still fond of the United States, and she most probably isn't very good with a rifle, yet the Warren Commission has decreed that Oswald had a grudge against this nation and was a fabulous marksman.

Heads turned when Ava Gardner arrived at the Colony the other night with Sam Spiegel. Sam is a charmer, indeed, but not the charmer the regulars expected to see with Ava . . . There's a hush-hush screening of "Hush . . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte" at a Broadway theatre. It won't be too hard to find it, though. Just stand in the bright light Broadway area and listen for the screams and shrieks.

Get the producers of the new low-budget hit, "Nothing but a Man," to tell you their harrowing experiences while filming a script in Mississippi. The stories would make page one reading, but all concerned apparently have vowed not to talk because "it would make trouble for people who helped."

Michael Cacoyannis, the brilliant writer-director-producer of "Zorba the Greek," which is breaking records, visited Dr. Robert Baird's narcotics clinic in East Harlem to witness a session participated in by addicts who are trying to kick the habit. Cacoyannis came away dazed and shaken by the experience; he believes the story of the clinic would make a stark, powerful, perhaps incredible motion picture . . . Jack "Murph the Surf" Murphy has been observed at the bar of the Embers West (formerly the Spindletop) quaffing his drinks while wearing casual Florida-type attire—a sweater and slacks.

The French are so funny. Their musicians' union figured out a way to avenge themselves for recent government decision to disband three state orchestras. They plan to send full-scale crews to play Ravel outside the houses of ministers responsible for the foul deed—after midnight, of course. Ravel, indeed. How delightful! If they really wanted to annoy the villians, strange that they didn't think of some terrible Rock 'n' Roll tune.

Carol Burnett confides that she and Joe Hamilton aren't expecting a baby, despite the rumors, although they hope for another one soon . . . Students of the theatre are mystified by the big issue made by Broadway critics who complained that they didn't understand the new Edward Albee play, "Tiny Alice." Can't theatregoers just enjoy, without a blueprint of the obvious? Probably there are mighty few reviewers who could agree on the message of Shakespeare's "Coriolanus," let alone "Hamlet," but those plays have lived for an impressive length of time.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question an Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Cheryll Butler, age 14, of Sioux City, Ia., for her question:

Are lichens of any use?

Many of these modest plants grow on bare boulders. They look like rock paintings of pastel-tinted flowers and foliage. Other lichens grow on the ground, sharing the soil with the hardiest types of moss. There are lichens in cool, warm and tropical zones, and some thrive under the Arctic snows.

Our luxurious planet is clothed with countless assorted plants and populated with a million or so different animals. Every one of its plants and animals carries on a give-and-take relationship with its neighbors. Each has its own special place in the balance of nature that enables the earth to change, replenish itself and keep going. Each plant and animal not only has a use, but it is necessary to the well-being of a number of other plants and animals.

The little lichens do not look like important plants. A few varities spread like tinted pictures on the faces of bare rocks, but most of them live half-hidden in sheltered places close to the ground. They may spread in flat rosettes or mossy carpet of straight or branching spikes. Some varieties look like miniature sponges and others like frilly pom-poms of clustered foliage. But we need a magnifying glass to study them.

The humble little plants thrive in many places where larger and more complex plants cannot make a living. Reindeer moss is one of several lichens that thrive under the Arctic snows. These little plants provide food for hungry reindeer and other plant eaters of the frozen north. Iceland moss is a lichen that grows on bare, cold mountains of Iceland. It has medicinal qualities, and northern peoples often gather it to make bread. In many parts of the world other lichens are used to make textile dyes.

Thrives on Bare Rocks

But the most important function of the lichens is the creation of soil. Many of them thrive on bare rocks with nothing to support them but the moisture of the air. In growing, they produce acids that weaken and break up solid stones. And powdered rock is the first ingredient needed to make soil. The lichens of barren regions are busy helping nature provide the rich soil needed by the plant world that grows to provide oxygen and food for the animal kingdom. The hardy little lichens that grow alone in barren regions perform one of the most useful of all jobs in the complex balance of nature.

* * *

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book Globe to Diane Jones, age 12, of Madison, Tenn., for her question:

ARE HYENAS WILD DOGS?

Dogs and hyenas are meat-eating mammals with many features in common, but there are basic differences in teeth and feet. The two groups of animals are classified in different families. All dogs, tame and wild, have five toes on each front foot and four toes on each hind foot. Most hyenas have four toes on each of their four feet. Their heads are far more massive in proportion to their bodies, and their toothy jaws are far stronger than those of the dogs.

We call all the dogs canine animals because they are classified in the animal family Canidae. The hyenas are classified in the family Hyaenidae. There are about half a dozen different species of hyena, and the hungry meat eaters do their prowling and howling in various parts of Africa.

Understanding Through Art Championed by City Visitor

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A distinguished Oriental artist-philosopher said here today art should be put to greater use to promote good will and understanding between nations.

"Art is one medium which people of all races can understand," said Lou Lo Pang, president of the Oriental Arts Institute in Hong Kong.

"An artist should strive to show the common relationship between men of all nations," he added. "He shouldn't allow a gulf to exist between himself and humanity."

An exhibition of Mr. Lou's paintings at the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association headquarters at 636 Fisgard Street was so popular Saturday and Sunday it has been extended until Tuesday.

700 ATTEND

It is estimated that more than 700 people attended.

The artist, equally well known in the Orient as a scholar and philosopher, attracted visitors to him like a magnet.

Perhaps it was his smile, or humility.

But to some he appeared the epitome of an ancient Chinese sage—cheerful, polite, courteous, but never stiff.

A man of medium height with a crew haircut, he wore the traditional long dress with Mandarin collar, slit skirt and long, loose sleeves.

But visitors agreed that it is his personality which is striking. He doesn't speak English but somehow with his smile and gestures gets through to his listeners.

SELF-DISCIPLINE

As a philosopher he leads a life of self-discipline. He doesn't smoke, drink coffee or alcoholic spirits, eat beef, but enjoys tea.

While he makes no claim to being a mystic, his Victoria friends say he is well versed in the Chinese art of palmistry and phrenology. The latter deals with the study of the mind from the bone structure of the head.

One Victoria admirer who tried him out said he read him like a book.

Mr. Lou specializes in the painting of flowers, birds and animals. And like most Chinese artists he is opposed to the glorification of human personality and avoids emphasis on material things.

"I've been painting since the age of six," he said. "I'm still learning. I would like to know more about western art."

Born in Canton in 1916, Mr. Lou graduated from the Canton Municipality of Fine Arts Institute and later taught at several Chinese universities. He is a former professor of fine arts at the University of Canton.

In Hong Kong, he is also chairman of the International Artists Society.

On world affairs, he said present problems will never be solved by force.

"If the world is to survive, nations must learn to settle their differences by negotiation and compromise. There is no other way out."

Russians Protest

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet military newspaper Red Star today attacked the decision of the West German government to suspend legal prosecution of Nazi war criminals after May 8. The newspaper said the vast majority of wartime murderers have not been punished.

She tells policemen where to go.

AND POLICE LIKE IT

Woman Giving the Orders

Victoria police are taking orders from a woman these days.

And Chief J. F. Gregory says they like it.

The woman is Mrs. Joyce Waller, mother of two young children.

She likes giving orders too. "It's the most interesting job I ever had" is the way she describes her work as police dispatcher.

Mrs. Waller is one of a half-dozen civilians who have been taken on by the police department in the last year.

Chief Gregory said the civilians have freed uniformed personnel to concentrate on police duties instead of inside work.

Most of the dispatchers are men but Mrs. Waller fills in for them when they are busy on other jobs or during their lunch hours.

The job has given her added prestige in the eyes of her six-year-old daughter. Her daughter was watching a TV program recently when she suddenly piped up:

"Mummy, you say that, don't you? 'Car 54, where are you?'"

Population Boom Slows in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The baby boom is a bust in Chicago and some say the declining number of births is due to a birth control program.

Recent statistics revealed the number of births has dropped nearly 17 per cent, from 98,144 in 1959 to an estimated 82,000 last year, although the city's population remained stable.

Sociologist Donald Bogue, head of the University of Chicago's community and family study centre, and Mrs. Jane Browne, head of the Planned Parenthood Association of Chicago, both said the drop-off means more people are using birth control devices.

The association's 18 centres last year provided 16,000 persons—most of them on relief—with birth control devices and information, she said: "The number has doubled in the last two years and tripled since 1958."

Mrs. Browne estimated that "close to 90 per cent of the women on public assistance in Chicago are using birth control devices and have not had another pregnancy since coming to Planned Parenthood.

"We've touched over 50,000 homes in one way or another—especially in low income families."

Safety in Numbers

LONDON (Reuters)—A Polish immigrant has come up with his own solution to Britain's growing birth rate. He is trying to find six other men to share the same wife with him.

Engineer Paul Pawlowski, 37, has outlined his plan in a pamphlet which he sent to doctors and organizations concerned with moral and social welfare.

Pawlowski, who is divorced, said at his home in suburban Croydon: "I have had no response from Englishmen wanting to join me. But two Australians have written. I need four more men."

The Daily Mirror, reporting his plan today, said there was a girl ready to marry Pawlowski if she could have six other husbands as well.

She is pretty, long-haired Gwendoline Gater-Reid.

Opening lead—♠ 2

South might well have doubled the opening spade bid, but he chose to overcall with two hearts. Perhaps he just felt in a whimsical mood; perhaps he wanted to make sure that he would play the hand for his side.

North raised to three hearts. Now South decided that there might well be a slam in the hand. In any event, his four-club bid was a slam invitation. North refused the invitation by going only to four hearts and South bid four spades as a repeated slam invitation beyond the game level. Again North refused, but South went to six hearts anyway.

As North put down the dummy, he remarked, "You gave me a fine choice. I could drop you at two hearts or watch you play a slam. Good luck!"

South's play wasn't as whimsical as his bidding, but it was even more ineffective. He ruffed the spade opening and led a low club. West rose with the king and gave his partner a club ruff. Later on, South took the diamond finesse the wrong way and was down two.

Strangely, South could have made the hand. He might have led the ace of clubs at trick two and then diagnosed East's queen play as a singleton. Then he would have to guess the queen of diamonds correctly, ruff two more spades in his own hand, draw trump, cash the last diamond and lead the jack of clubs at trick 12. West could take his king, but would have to return a club to South's ten spot.

FRONTIERS OF SCIENCE

BRIGHTER THAN A BILLION SUNS - Part 1

NUCLEAR SCIENTISTS DELVING INTO THE INNER STRUCTURE OF THE ATOM ARE CONTINUALLY FINDING NEW AND MYSTERIOUS PARTICLES OF ENERGY TO PUZZLE OVER.
THIS LACK OF TOTAL KNOWLEDGE SOMEHOW SEEMS ACCEPTABLE BECAUSE OF THE INCREDIBLE SMALLNESS OF THESE PARTICLES WHICH HAVE NEVER BEEN SEEN, THEIR EXISTENCE PREDICTED ONLY BY CALCULATION.
BUT THE WORLD'S ASTRONOMERS ARE TODAY TRYING, WITHOUT ANY REAL SUCCESS, TO EXPLAIN SOME NEW OBJECTS IN THE UNIVERSE THAT ARE SO BIG THAT THEY SHOULD NOT EXIST AT ALL!
THE MOST REMARKABLE OF THESE IS CALLED 3C-273, AN ASTONISHING DISCOVERY REPORTED TO BE THE BRIGHTEST OBJECT EVER OBSERVED IN THE UNIVERSE. IT SHINES BRIGHTER THAN OUR ENTIRE GALAXY OF 100 BILLION SUNS COMBINED. 3C-273 BELONGS TO A MYSTERIOUS FAMILY NAMED "QUASI-STELLAR RADIO SOURCES" — QUASARS.

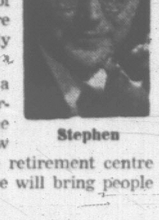
Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Gloss over the faux-pas and you realize Victoria received some valuable publicity Friday. The city's Centennial Square project was given a good chunk of Channel 2's Seven O'Clock Show.



Stephen

The program's suave host Bob Quintrell described the highlights of the "really good civic centre" and interviewed Mayor R. B. Wilson.

The mayor took full advantage of the opportunity to point out that there was more about Victoria than simply being a place for the birds.

He said the "city is changing a great deal . . . it is becoming an interesting place instead of a stodgy place to live. We hope to plan it to grow in the right direction. It will be the retirement centre of Canada and its general atmosphere will bring people here to live."

The slip of the tongue occurred when the mayor described the renovation of the old city hall as a "blend of the old and new."

As the cameras panned over the civic precinct and concentrated on the old building with its new addition he said: "A San Francisco source said it would be worth saving."

"There were some who thought it should be torn down," he continued, "but now we're getting nothing but complaints."

"Complaints?" countered Quintrell.

"I mean compliments," quickly answered our leader.

On the morning of the show the mayor squirmed in his office chair while recalling the episode and prayed: "I hope they cut it out."

They didn't but it showed our mayor to be a human being who, despite the verbal slip, was more than proud of what has been accomplished in the civic precinct.

The show's mobile unit did more than video-tape the Centennial Square in its visit last week. Dr. Malcolm Taylor, president of the University of Victoria, was the subject of another show due for airing at a later date.

SHASTRI FACES UNITED ATTACK

NEW DELHI (AP)—A crisis of confidence grips the Indian government.

New Delhi's top leaders privately say they are unsure of foreign policy and worried about India's internal health. Most important, their confidence in Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has slipped.

Shastri, 60, in office eight months, is coming under fire from his political opposition—rightist as well as leftist—and the Indian press is bombarding him with charges of indecisive rule of this land of 480,000,000 people.

Six months ago, when the stunning impact of Jawaharlal Nehru's death united India's ruling elite around Shastri, he could have easily withstood all this.

Today, even top aides in his Congress party are angry at what they call the prime minister's diplomatic ineptitude and political fumbling.

WANT HIS JOB

Several influential politicians quietly are campaigning for Shastri's job.

The only thing preventing an open political battle is fear among the aspirants that they lack the necessary party backing and that to challenge Shastri publicly at this time would unleash disruptive factors that could do immense harm to party and country.

This is reported by leading political and government figures who say nothing must be done to disturb India's precarious balance on the edge of economic chaos and political turmoil.

They see Shastri—a middle-roader—as the only man acceptable to the many factions of his huge Congress party. Almost all potential rivals in sight have carried leftist or rightist tags most of their political careers.

Nevertheless, political empire building is under way.

JOCKEY FOR SUPPORT

Railway Minister S. K. Patil, a pro-American conservative, is seeking support. A few months ago, he was strongly backing Shastri. Morarji Desai, an influential conservative, and V. K Krishna Menon, a leftist, are active. Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, who has acknowledged an ambition to be prime minister, is trying to work her way into the capital's inner circle.

Shastri, at first a reluctant hero, appears convinced that at this juncture he must hang on to the top job. But he also is aware that contenders are lining up.

"I have to carry on this burden," he said in an interview. "Given the time, some of the ticklish problems we are faced with at present will be resolved."

If any one ever kicked off Shastri's troubles it was his performance at the Cairo nonaligned conference in October. India hoped Shastri could take over Nehru's leadership of the non-aligned. Instead, Shastri took a licking in the backroom politics at Cairo.

TENDER FOR ALTERATIONS TO DRILL TOWER

PROFESSOR SAYS

Real Art Work 'Not Easy Task'

By CANDIDE TEMPLE
Times University Correspondent

Folk-singers and inexperienced painters and sculptors have something in common, says University of Victoria Professor Tony Emery.

Both produce interesting works of art which may fool a layman. Real art, Prof. Emery hastened to add, is not so easy to create.

The "apparently unconscious talent" of a good artist comes from long training, he said.

Prof. Emery was addressing a selected group of 46 Grade 12 students from Victoria secondary schools, receiving a preview of higher education. The lecture, the first in a series of six to be given by University of Victoria professors in their special fields of study, took place Saturday morning in the University's Student Union Building.

HIGHER LEARNING

The students were welcomed by Alma Mater Society President Olivia Barr and by University Registrar Ronald R. Jeffels whose idea it was to initiate the lectures to familiarize students with the various aspects of higher learning.

Each one-hour lecture is to be followed by a coffee-break, giving students a chance to chat with the professor and discuss their reactions to his talk. The question and discussion period following this is scheduled to last an hour.

Enthusiasm for Prof. Emery and his topic, however, pushed the discussion period to almost twice that length.

In his lecture, "40,000 Years of Art," he illustrated a summary of art history with slides and gave a brief explanation of the forms and techniques of art.

The students had an apparently inexhaustible supply of questions on Prof. Emery's opinions of everything from local art and architecture to the work of Canadian artist Harold Town.

Speaking of Town, Prof. Emery said the unique thing about him as an artist is that he has no desire to leave Canada.

KEEP PAINTERS

"It is up to you," he told the students, "to produce the society and the environment which will keep Canadian actors and painters in Canada."

Prof. Emery admitted that "the twentieth century is not an age for producing timeless works of art."

"A quick TV-commerial kind of art" is what mostly emerges," he said.

When asked for their impressions of the initial lecture, the students gave encouraging replies.

"I think it was a great success," said Oak Bay's Jan Hooson.

Vicki Simmons, also of Oak Bay, added, "I hope they're all like this."

Two Victoria Senior Secondary students were most impressed with Prof. Emery's oratorical ability.

"He's about the best speaker I've ever heard," stated Tom McVie.

His friend John Phillips added, "I wouldn't like to have to argue with him."

"Delightful, bright, alert and receptive," were Prof. Emery's descriptions of his listeners.

PRAISES PLAN

He praised the scheme as a whole for showing prospective university students that university "is not a hurdle to be leapt over but just a normal part of one's education."

Dr. Sydney W. Jackman of the department of history, will give the next lecture on The Arts of the Humanist on Jan. 23.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Striking shipyard workers released unharmed Thursday night 24 management hostages after reaching agreement on a pay dispute at Argentina's largest private shipyard. The workers had threatened to hurl the hostages from a two-storey building if police interfered.

HOME GARDEN

New Dwarf Strain Is Medal Winner

By HILDA BEASTALL

An all-American bronze medal winner for 1965 is a new strain of delphiniums of a desirable dwarf stature suited, it seems to me, to seaside gardens.

Hilda

Growing only to a height of 30 to 36 inches, Connecticut Yankee delphinium has been on trial at Canadian seed nurseries for two years.

The plants are neat yet bushy, having a spread of about two feet, and the blooms are two to two-and-a-half inches in diameter, excellent for mass planting.

Stems are strong and long lasting, suitable for cutting. Colors so far are mixed, predominantly purple, dark blue and light blue, but including also lilac and lavender.

As with all delphiniums, a well cultivated soil is needed, and mulching with compost or old manure by midsummer is beneficial.

Seed of delphinium should be sown now in flats indoors or in a greenhouse or coldframe to produce plants to flower outdoors this summer.

A temperature around 50 deg. F. is suitable for germination, and pricked out seedlings must be kept cool and airy until they are large enough to go outdoors.

After a hardening-off period in a coldframe, the young plants would do well in prepared rows in the vegetable garden for the first few weeks' growth.

Later removal to the flower garden can then be done without disturbance of the roots.

This new strain of dephiniums may add another dimension to some of our more exposed, cool summer gardens.

They should be worth a trial by those who have been unable to cope with the stately six and eight footers.

Gardeners entering the spikes in flower shows this year, should be careful to label their entries with the name Connecticut Yankee so that judges will not confuse them with the taller Pacific Giants.

Funds Sought

VANCOUVER (CP) — More funds for reforestation were called for in a speech made to the Truck Loggers Association convention here.

L. F. Swannell, assistant chief forester in charge of the operations, told delegates:

"Our nurseries can produce 25,000,000 seedlings yearly, and we have land and permanent staff now available for an annual production of probably 29,000,000."

'White Man Treats Indian Like Child'

EDMONTON (CP)—The most insidious enemy of the Canadian Indian is the white man's paternalism, but the Indian also suffers from his own "sectionalism and tribalism," William Wuttunee of Calgary, chief of the National Indian Council, said Friday.

Mr. Wuttunee said in an address to the annual meeting of the Edmonton Friends of the Indians Socie' that whites treat Indians "like ildren . . . second-class citizens . . . something that's sub-human."

He said the Alberta government has contributed to this sort of approach.

"In Alberta the Indian does not have the right to vote, nor does he have the right to decide whether he should drink.

"Indians shouldn't have to crawl on their bellies to ask for these rights."

He said if Indians could avoid sectionalism and tribalism they would be able to unite and work for a better lot.

The national Indian council was attempting to bring about such a united voice.

The federal administration concerns itself with the problems of people all over the world but not the problems of people in Canada, the Saskatchewan-born lawyer said.

"Canada has been very successful in hiding the skeleton in her closet."

The council had asked the National Centennial Commission for a $40,000 grant to help the Indians celebrate Canada's birthday, Mr. Wuttunee said.

"After a year of dawdling, the commission pared down the grant to $7,000."

The council had intended to use the money to finance the exchange of students and adults across the country to unify not only the Indian but the white man as well, he said.

Despite the setback, Mr. Wuttunee said the council means to go ahead with its plans. His organization hopes to represent Canadian Indians at the world's fair in Montreal, through backing from private interests.

Keener Interest Suggested In Latin American Affairs

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Canadians would be wise to take more interest in the 18 diversified republics of Latin America.

This was stressed by speakers at a three-hour seminar conducted by the Canadian Union of Students Committee of the University of Victoria in the Union Building on the Gordon Head campus Saturday afternoon.

The students showed keen interest by questioning the speakers.

W. A. Irwin, former Canadian ambassador to Brazil and Mexico and now publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, predicted the population of Latin America will reach 600,000,000 by the year 2000, compared with about 310,000,000 in Canada and the United States.

"In the changing pattern of world affairs," he said, "this diversified continent will play a very important part, and its future development is of vital concern to Canada."

Senor O. N. Brito, Brazilian consul in Vancouver, deplored "a widespread tendency" to regard Latin America as irresponsible, politically unstable and hindered by bad administration.

Prof. J. C. M. Ogelsby of the University's history department said Latin America has developed some of the world's most modern cities, huge steel and power plants, up-to-date factories and modern schools.

"Only a continent with the peculiar history of Latin America could have evolved so dramatically," he said.

Senor Brito spoke of the dangers of "generalizing" the characteristics of Latin American countries.

'MISLEADING'

"This presumption seems to arise from the common Iberian origin of Latin America, but it is indeed a misleading tendency."

He said it is hardly possible to point to a single identity as the characteristics of each country and its people are concerned.

Yet, in spite of this diversity, Latin America has ideals, aspirations and interests which date back to the Panama Congress in 1826.

The incipient Latin American states sought peace and friendship as well as mutual protection against reconquest by the mother countries or intervention by other foreign powers.

These long-standing aspirations had their fulfilment in the Inter-American Defence Treaty of Rio de Janeiro in 1947 and the signing of the charter of the Organization of American States at Bogota in 1948.

Now, Senor Brito said, the Latin American states are cooperating in such ventures as the Central American Area of Economic Integration and the Latin American Free Trade Association.

And "Operation Pan America," launched on the initiative of the Brazilian government in 1958, sought to reduce poverty and raise living standards through large-scale development.

DIVERSIFIED

He said the industries of Brazil are now as diversified as those of Canada, producing almost everything from clothing to electrical household appliances, from pins to heavy machinery, from precision tools to atomic reactors.

"We have the capacity to product 70 per cent of all our future needs of basic equipment as far as evaluation of presently known techniques allow.

"The main part of the task ahead will fall on our shoulders, but there is a wide field open for foreign aid and investment."

Answering questions from students, the consul said Brazilian industry is now being encouraged to seek new markets abroad.

To another question, Senor Brito said agriculture now accounts for only about 30 per cent of Brazil's gross national product. Yet 55 per cent of the country's population is supported by earnings from agriculture.

He said the passing of the Agrarian Bill would help correct the imbalance between high industrial production and a backward agricultural system.

Prof. Ogelsby traced the history of the Latin American countries from the days of the early Spanish and Portuguese settlers. More than half the population, he said, is one white, Indian and Negro.

Only about one-third of the people live in cities compared to two-thirds in the United States; many live in slums and many cling to old world customs.

The hope of the future, he said, is that prosperous farmers and industrial workers will create a new middle class to counteract the extremes of poverty and wealth.

DRAWN IN

Small communities would join to become larger communities, and isolated communities, now struggling to make a bare living, would be drawn into industry and modern farming.

Mrs. Olivia Barr, president of the Alma Mater Society of the University of Victoria, presided over the seminar, which was arranged by Miss Marie Howes and Miss Rosalind Boyd.

Among the special guests were Charles A. Sheehy, instructor in Spanish at the university; George Vincent, who travelled in South America with his family last year; Christopher Archer, a student of Latin American history and politics at the university; John Craddock, a Uvic student who formerly lived in Colombia; and Mr. Irwin, publisher of The Times.

Judge Splits Decision

Magistrate William Ostler made a split decision when it came to sentencing two 18-year-old youths in city court Friday.

He decided it would do "no good" to put Robert Richardson, 2862 Sooke Road, on probation so he sentenced him to eight months definite and four indefinite at the Young Offender's Unit at Oakalla.

But he gave a two-year suspended sentence to Glen R. Galbraith, 963 Isabel, although he agreed with Crown prosecutor Peter Birkett that it was "risky."

Richardson had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Industrial Iron, 343 Tyee Road, and to unlawful possession of housebreaking tools.

Galbraith pleaded guilty to possession of housebreaking tools.

'EASILY LED'

The magistrate said Richardson needs discipline and guidance.

Galbraith's counsel, Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre, said his client was "easily led." The magistrate said Galbraith was "not going to lay his troubles at Richardson's door."

Magistrate Ostler said he wouldn't have given a suspended sentence to Galbraith if there had been two charges against. The suspended sentence is for two years on a $500 bond.

BUZZY III . . . a newcomer with a reputation

Famed Buzzy III Now Pacific Coaster

By MARK DICKINSON

Canada's pride of the 6-meter class, Buzzy III, a slim racing sloop, found a new home on the Pacific Coast Saturday as she slipped into the water at Sidney.

Buzzy, 37 feet long, was designed by world famous New York naval architect, Olin Stephen, who created the America Cup defender Columbia.

She was built in Toronto by J. J. Taylor and Sons in 1956, and is said to be the only six meter ever built in Canada.

Owned originally by Brian Newkirk of Toronto, she was given to the Royal Canadian Yacht Club and sailed by Bill Gooderham, an eastern sailing master. He sailed Buzzy's predecessor to victories in the North American six meter championships for many years.

Buzzy was bought last September by two western sailing champions, Victor Palmer of Duncan and George Payne of Nanaimo.

The yacht was shipped from Toronto by rail and taken to Sidney to have the rudder, damaged in transit, repaired by E. W. Philbrook & Son.

Under the helm of her new owners, observers say, Buzzy should have no problem retaining her reputation against her new Pacific opponents.

Mr. Palmer has raced six-meters in these waters for many years and has crewed for Ches Rickard's Winsome III during the Swiftsure races out of Victoria. Mr. Payne skippers a Thunderbird and has crewed on the six-meter Alana.

PERRAULT SCORES

'A Delightful Fringe Benefit'

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

One of the major fringe benefits provided by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra in its 24-year history has been the revelation of much fine Canadian talent among its guest artist presentations.

It is almost solely through the Symphony Society that we have any opportunity to become familiar with some part of the growing roster of Canadian musicians.

Michel Perrault, guest conductor of the sixth pair of Victoria Symphony concerts in the current season, is no stranger to a few Victorians with whom he became associated during last summer's conductor course.

But he was meeting most of his audience at the Royal Theatre Sunday for the first time; and as at the Sidney premiere Friday, he enchanted them.

To his personality, his commentary, his music and his style as a conductor, they responded with delight.

HIS OWN WORKS

The French-Canadian artist had programmed two of his own works, a piquant filling between traditional layers of Handel and Mendelssohn.

Folk song material has attracted many creatively gifted musicians to exercise their powers of invention. But not many have avowedly borrowed form and style from the classical masters in order to do so.

This Perrault has done with his Suite of French-Canadian Folksongs, and he has at the same time succeeded in achieving an intriguing individuality.

Describing himself as a classicist with little use for what he regards as musical fads (including 12-tone music), Perrault also gave us four movements of a ballet suite, Sea Gallows.

In this work he conjured a brilliantly effective performance of his thickly orchestrated score, building a breath-taking climax in the finale.

There is a lovely Pas de Deux, reminiscent in its sustained mood and delicate coloration, of music of Ravel and DeBussy, and a vivid, almost Bacchanalian Pas de Trois.

Refinement in intonation and texture of the string tone continues to be a source of satisfaction and this of course was particularly highlighted in Handel's Concerto Grosso, Op. 6, No. 4—a clearly articulated and spirited performance.

IDEAL CHOICE

Mendelssohn's happy, vibrant "Italian" Symphony seemed the ideal choice for Michel Perrault's buoyant talents.

It moved along with almost scintillating brightness, vitality and grace (possibly a shade too fast in the Andante), to a truly frenetic but admirably controlled conclusion.

Mr. Perrault will conduct the final concert of this series tonight at 8:30 at the Royal Theatre.

DRILL-IT-YOURSELF PROJECT

Needs Thrill Like Hole in Head

AMSTERDAM (Reuters)—Dutch doctors today examined a 30-year-old medical student who drilled a hole in his own skull to get the same effect as smoking marijuana.

The student, 30-year-old Bart Huges, carried out the operation alone at home, his friend author Simon Vinkenoog told reporters.

Vinkenoog said Huges applied a local anesthetic, made an incision to open the skin then used a dentist's drill to make a hole a fifth of an inch in diameter.

He is now in Amesterdam hospital undergoing voluntary examination.

The effect, which Huges claimed to be lasting, was compared to that of marijuana or lysergic acid.

Lysergic acid is a compound that causes psychotic symptoms similar to schizophrenia.

The object of the skull-drilling operation, which is dangerous because it has to stop short of the membrane protecting the brain, is to increase the volume of blood to the brain, Vinkenoog said.

FOLLOWED INCAS

Vinkenoog said Huges carried it out after studying a similar practice by Tibetan monks and ancient Incas.

Hughes was quoted by the newspaper Haagsche Courant as saying: "I thought the effect would be immediate, but it took a few hours. I note my reactions constantly. There are big changes. I eat more and I am always hungry. Neon lighting tends to dazzle me."

Asked whether he would now be drilling holes in the heads of drug addicts, Huges replied, according to Haagsche Courant: "I am afraid I'm not qualified legally to do that. It's a pity, because I can thoroughly recommend it.

PENTICTON (CP) — Stanley John McKinnon, 17, was killed Sunday when his motorcycle was in collision with a car on Skaha Lake road. RCMP were investigating the mishap.

Art Works Released

MUNICH, West Germany (AP)—Thousands of works of art collected by Adolf Hiltler and Hermann Goering, his air force chief, will be taken out of storage and distributed among German museums and public buildings, it was announced Friday. The works are either items for which no claimant has been found or which had been legally bought by the Nazis.

$10 Million Program

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP)—The World Council of Churches' central committee recommended Friday "urgent and maximum support" for a five-year program costing $10,000,000 to boost Christianity in Africa. The five-year program is especially geared to refugee relief, committee delegates were told. More than 500,000 Africans are refugees.

Shooting 'A Tragic Mistake'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A district attorney's investigator said Sunday he would turn over to a county grand jury the case of a mother charged with shooting to death a college football star she found sleeping in her daughter's bed.

But George Currey, the investigator, called the shooting a "tragic mistake."

Blonde 22-year-old Carolyn Marlin, a local school teacher, sobbed when she told of the shooting early Saturday morning.

"Mother should have known I'm not that kind of girl," she said.

MOTHER CHARGED

The blonde's mother, Mrs. Hubert A. Marlin, was charged with murder in the death of Charles Ray Neal, 20, who ran 93 yards for a touchdown for Middle Tennessee State College in MTSC's Grantland Rice Bowl victory over Muskingum (Ohio), recently.

Authorities said Neal, a sophomore, was shot to death with a 16-gauge shotgun early Saturday at Miss Marlin's cottage where he and his college roommate were left snowbound following a double date.

Currey said the girl was in bed with Neal, but both were clothed and "there was no misconduct of any type involved." He said he would present the case to the grand jury in about two weeks.

Citizens Watch As Policeman Under Attack

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — A city prosecutor Saturday angrily criticized the fact that 150 persons stood by and watched while an RCMP constable was assaulted while making an arrest.

"This is the sort of thing that caused Prince George to hit the headlines across the country," Cecil Edwards said in magistrate's court.

"It's a situation that's too common in this city; not one of these 150 civilians came to the assistance of the police; they think its fun and games."

He was commenting after Harry Chew, 33, of Quesnel pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place and resisting arrest. Chew's wife, Teresa, pleaded guilty to assaulting a police officer.

The Chews, parents of four children, were fined a total of $155.

POLICE CALLED

The court was told that police were called to a hotel beer parlor when the Chews refused to leave.

There was a struggle while the couple was taken to the police van during which Mrs. Chew jumped on the policeman's back and clawed him.

Uvic Hosts National Talk Final

The University of Victoria will host the national university debating finals on March 12.

Six students, representing universities across Canada will take part.

Jean Bazin, French-speaking president of the Canadian Union of Students, will also attend.

The event will be composed of two debates, one of which will be broadcast live on Radio Station CJVI. The debators are also expected to appear for an interview on local television.

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes will present the winning debating team with the award.

Uvic Debating Society president Ian Munro termed the competition a national event and said he hopes for as much public support for it as possible.

U.S. Reject Demand

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The United Nations command Friday again rejected a Communist demand that it stop introducing new types of weapons into South Korea. U.S. Rear-Admiral Paul Blackburn, Jr., reinterated that the UN command will ship new equipment into South Korea as long as North Korea continues to violate the 1953 Korean armistice agreement by accepting up-to-date weapons from its Communist allies.

Luther King Hit, Kicked

Negro Leader Assault Victim

Alabama Hotel Scene of Attack

LUTHER KING - . . . not injured

The man, who previously had asked and obtained permission from King to attend a Negro rally tonight, waited at the edge of a small crowd while King and 11 other Negroes were registering, and then without warning he hit King in the right temple and kicked him in the groin.

The assailant was arrested immediately by Selma's public safety director, Wilson Baker, and taken to jail.

The man talked to King earlier on the sidewalk and gave his name as Jimmy George Robinson.

After the attack, other Negroes grabbed the man and Baker, who was standing on a stairway, rushed in, seized the man by the neck and hustled him outside.

King said later he suffered a slight headache but otherwise did not appear to be injured.

A short time earlier, other Negroes had integrated three downtown Selma restaurants without disorder while scores of others lined up to seek registration as voters.

King was attacked in the lobby of the century-old Hotel Albert of Selma's main thoroughfare, Broad Street.

The hotel is next to one of the restaurants which was integrated, and across the street from another.

MANAGER APOLOGIZES

The hotel manager, Robert Gay, apologized to the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner and said he would sign a warant.

Baker replied, "I'll sign one myself."

Outside the hotel, the man tried to lie down on the sidewalk and drag another officer with him. Baker picked the man up off the sidewalk and gave him to other policemen who took him to city jail. Baker, a former catcher for Cincinnati Reds and more recently chief law enforcement instructor for the University of Alabama, is more than six feet tall and weighs about 250.

He had promised before the integration test came today that he would tolerate no disorder and that anyone who violated the law would go to jail.

Robinson, of Birmingham, was charged with assault and disturbing the peace.

Robinson was wearing khaki pants and shirt, uniform of the segregationist National States' Rights party, a white supremist organization active in the segregation movement.

ARREST NEO-NAZI

Earlier, a white youth who claimed to be a member of the American Nazi party was arrested by city police while he was waiting to taunt the Negroes at one of the restaurants. The American Nazi party is another white supremacist group.

A group of Negroes, a white minister and his wife from Maryland ate lunch at Selma Del, one of the city's most popular downtown cafes and one which previously was charged by the justice department with racial discrimination for refusing earlier to serve Negroes.

The white clergyman was Rev. W. S. Causey, assistant pastor of the Warner Memorial Presbyterian church at Kensington. Del.

Across the street, 12 Negroes in two groups were served lunch at Tim's Cafe.

Otis Adams, owner of the cafe, angrily told reporters he had no choice under the civil rights law.

"It's a hell of a thing when you can't run your own business," Adams said.

The group sat three in each of two booths, while about 20 white patrons ate at other tables and the lunch counter.

Earlier King led approximately 200 Negroes to the Selma County Courthouse in the first step of the voter registration campaign.

There were no incidents.

RUSSIA SEEKS VOTE BEFORE UN PAYMENT

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Soviet chief delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told UN Secretary-General U Thant today the Soviet Union will make a substantial voluntary contribution toward United Nations solvency—once the General Assembly has resumed voting.

The United States has insisted that the Soviet Union make a large payment before being allowed to vote.

Fedorenko's restatement of the Soviet position meant that the Soviet-U.S. deadlock on the issue persisted, just before the assembly's afternoon resumption of its 19th annual session.

U.K. Statesman Grows Weaker

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's strength is gradually ebbing and his physician, Lord Moran, today announced that "he is a little weaker."

The valiant 90-year-old warrior was slowly giving way to the cerebral stroke that felled him last Friday.

Sympathy and sorrow was welling up around the world as British officials quietly began preparations for the great homage that will be due the wartime leader in the event of his death.

There was no doubt that although a commoner, Churchill would be accorded a state funeral with all the ceremony due a sovereign. It would be the greatest honor since the death of the Duke of Wellington in 1852.

Lord Moran, 82, who served Churchill all through the Second World War, arrived at Churchill's residence at 11:17 a.m. und issued his medical bulletin 30 minutes later.

'A LITTLE WEAKER'

The bulletin said:

"Sir Winston had a restful night. He is a little weaker, but otherwise there is nothing to report."

This was the seventh bulletin since Churchill was stricken with cerebral thrombosis Friday. All have told of the steady decline of the aged statesman.

Moran, 82, examined Churchipl twice Sunday. After the second examination he said: "After a restless start, Sir Winston has had a peaceful day, but he has lost ground."

CHILDREN STAY LATE

Churchill's three surviving children stayed late with 79-year-old Lady Churchill near the bedside, dispersing only in the early hours this morning.

His actress daughter Sarah, 49, said as she left: "He is sleeping peacefully."

The increasing gravity of Churchill's condition became apparent at noon Sunday when his doctor announced after a 45-minute examination that his patient showed pulse irregularity.

MILLIONS PRAY

Throughout Sunday, millions of Britons prayed for the man who resolved 25 years ago never to surrender their country.

HIS MOTTO

'Never Give In—Never Give In'

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Near death as in full life, Sir Winston Churchill fights on.

"They say he's unconscious," said an old friend of Britain's wartime leader, "and medically they must be right, but how can Winston ever be unconscious".

Blinking back a tear, the friend added:

"Ever since he was born, he's been a fighter. Every bone and muscle of the man has been taught fight. Fight's the very soul of man."

The friend, who wouldn't be quoted by name, tiptoed into Churchill's ground floor bedroom Sunday and found the old man lying with his eyes closed, his heavily veined arms and hands outside the covers of his bed, the hands paler than the white sheets.

Seeing the old friend enter, a nurse bent over the patient and, raising her voice, said into his ear:

"It's —— ——. It's ——."

PRESSED HIS HAND

"I put my hand on his," said the friend, "and he pressed my hand. Imagine.

"Unconscious? Perhaps he is. Perhaps the whole thing's automatic, and I would be surprised. But whatever it is —he fights on."

In a speech 24 years ago Sir Winston told the boys at his old school, Harrow, on the northern outskirts of London:

"Never give in. Never give in. Never, never, never, never, in nothing great or small, large or pretty—never give in except to convictions of honor and good sense."

Powerful New Missile Announced by Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Lyndon Johnson sent the U.S. Congress a special message on defence today, disclosing plans to develop a new submarine-carried ballistic missile with twice the destructive power of the Polaris.

Called the Poseidon, the new missile was one of a range of new strategic weapons outlined by the president as means of keeping American retaliatory power ready to deter attack.

The president said that a new short-range attack missile called Spam will be developed for possible deployment on B52 or other bombers. It will be a winged missile, a "vast improvement" over present types.

Despite improvements in military power to be made in the fiscal year starting next July 1, Johnson said expansion in previous years and rigorous economies will make it possible to cut defence spending $300 million.

DEFENCE COSTS

He estimated defence spending for the present year at $49.3 billion, indicating that next year's will be $49 billion.

"The danger of war remains ever with us," Johnson said in outlining the policies that will guide his defence program.

"But if the hope of peace is sturdier than at any other time in these two decades, it is because we—and free men everywhere—have proved preparedness to be 'the most effectual means of preserving peace'."

Johnson's allusion to preserving peace by preparing for war was taken from George Washington's first message to Congress.

The president described

ARROWS LOSE HEADS FOR JOHNSON PARADE

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—The secret service has made sure President Johnson won't be ambushed by Indians during his inaugural parade.

Agents in Santa Fe examined the arrowheads of four New Mexico Indians who will appear in the parade in Washington Wednesday and found them to be steel.

Joe Herrera, sponsor of the Indian dancing group, volunteered to remove the arrowheads for the parade.

19 DEAD

Vicious Storm Lashes Britain

LONDON (AP)—At least 19 persons were feared dead today after the worst gales in 10 years battered the British Isles and the Bay of Biscay.

Four hunters were missing in the Lancashire marshes; police found the body of a fifth. Two fishermen were drowned in Dover Harbor and two others were killed in a highway accident.

The search continued for 10 men feared drowned off southern Ireland after a French trawler sank in a hurricane.

Weathermen said gales up to 100 miles an hour lashed the English Channel. The storm also brought rain, snow and sleet.

The Norwegian motor vessel Fossum's 27 crew members were saved after the ship, on a maiden voyage from Bilbao, Spain, sank in the Bay of Biscay. Her skipper clung to a frail raft for hours before he was rescued.

BUSH FIRE RUNS WILD IN AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—A 100-square-mile bush fire took eight lives including seven members of one family Sunday and killed thousands of animals in central Victoria State. Damage was expected to run into millions of pounds.

Police and soldiers using automatic weapons today began the mercy killing of at least 6,000 sheep and cattle maimed in the fire at Longwood, about 80 miles north of here.

Skilled Worker to Get Nod In New Immigration Policy

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's on-again-off-again immigration policy has been abandoned in favor of a long-term program tied directly to Canadian manpower requirements.

Responsibility for a new forward-looking approach to immigration has been delegated to one of four new directorates established recently in a major reorganization of the immigration department.

The policy and planning directorate will take a continuing hard look at Canada's immigration requirements and plan ahead to obtain the kind of qualified immigrants Canada will require. The aim will be to obtain skilled and professional workers and educated persons who can be trained by Canadian industry in a variety of skilled occupations.

The new policy brings to an end the former practice of opening the immigration gates when times were good and closing them when unemployment threatened.

The work of the new directorate and the three others—Canadian services, overseas services, and special services—was discussed in Ottawa at a three-day immigration conference which concluded Saturday.

SENIOR OFFICIALS MEET

It brought together for the first time senior officials of the immigration department in Canada and abroad to discuss future immigration requirements and develop a positive program to ensure that these requirements are met.

The reorganization of the department also includes steps to:

- Make immigration posts abroad more attractive.
- Improve the pay of immigration officers abroad.
- Give officers at home and abroad more responsibility to make decisions on their own initiative, a step to speed the handling of immigration applications.
- Improve the morale of immigration department employees by giving them the prestige accorded career diplomats.

DOES NOT AGREE

R. B. Curry, assistant deputy minister of immigration, said in an interview the department does not agree that sources of skilled immigrants are drying up or Canada will be seriously affected by a United States decision to discard its quota system and admit immigrants on the basis of skills, a policy adopted by Canada a few years ago.

"We can get skilled immigrants even if the competition does increase," he said.

"Skilled people are available and can be persuaded to come to Canada even from countries with healthy economies. Can-

VISITORS GET TRANSLATION

OTTAWA (CP) — Simultaneous translations, French to English and English to French, will be available to the general public when the House of Commons reconvenes next month. Each of the 476 seats in the public gallery will have its own attached ear phone. This is the first instance of such a translation system being supplied to the parliamentary public galleries of any country.

Car Pact Scored As Rules Breach

(Se Story Page 7)

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Board of Trade considers that the Canada-United States agreement for a tariff-free cross-border market on motor vehicles and parts may be a breach of international trading rules.

A spokesman for the government department said Sunday that the Canada-U.S. pact "seems to conflict with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade."

The breach, he added, appears to be more on the side of the United States than on Canada, though the board understands that the U.S. may seek a GATT waiver to implement the agreement.

"If a waiver is requested, the U.S. would need the support of two-thirds of the votes cast."

Asked if Britain would support such a waiver, the spokesman said he could not comment at this time. It would depend on many things.

ASKED TARIFF CHANGE

The implication of his remarks appeared to be that Britain will press for removal of U.S. tariffs on British cars. Other European motor-vehicle exporters may take a similar attitude.

The spokesman said Canada allows British cars to come in duty-free but the U.S. charges a tariff of 6½ per cent. Britain maintains far heavier tariffs on both Canadian and American cars. In addition, it charges a heavy road tax on six and eight-cylinder North American vehicles.

THE WITCHING HOUR

Ding Dong, Water's Gone

TORONTO (UPI) — Public works department engineers got caught with their pressure down Sunday night. They didn't know the Wizard of Oz was on television.

At 8:30 p.m., Toronto and its 12 suburbs echoed to the sound of running bathwater and flushing toilets as viewers rose from a two-hour viewing of Judy Garland and the Wicked Witch in the Wizard of Oz.

Generally on Sunday night, the works department prepares for an excessive demand of water at regular 30-minute periods.

One engineer said: "It's the first time I've ever been caught."

He said at one transfer station, the water level dropped 30 feet when the Wizard of Oz show ended. At 9 p.m. when the Ed Sullivan show ended, the level dropped only two feet.

He described the three-minute period after the Wizard ended as the biggest pressure drop, because of television, in seven years.

The engineer said the operators also keep a careful eye on the nights of the Stanley Cup playoffs. One operator takes along a transistor radio so he can tell when the hockey periods end.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Record Levels Scored

By JOHN BELANGER

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Most segments of the market gained in moderate trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange last week. Golds faltered.

The industrial index, the base metals index and the Toronto Stock Exchange index went to record levels at the close Friday. Western oils added about 2½ points.

Golds were affected by the U.S. treasury department's announcement two weeks ago the price of gold, pegged since 1934 at $35 (U.S.) an ounce—would not be increased. The 12-stock index, after falling a record-breaking 10.08 Jan. 8, dropped a further 7.72 Jan. 11. Golds finished the week down 3.62 at 172.27.

Hudson Bay Mining was the week's heaviest gainer, climbing 8⅛ to 78½ after trading as high as 80 and turning over 25,346 shares.

The company said Friday it has bought all the shares of Zinc Oxide Co. of Canada Ltd.

EARNINGS REPORTED

Dominion Bridge reported earnings for the 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1964, of $4,552,988 or $1.76 a share compared with $1,030,133 or 40 cents a share the previous year. The stock added ¼ to 26¼ and traded at a high of 26⅞. Volume was 7,919 shares.

Slater Steel went up after directors sought a two-for-one stock split. The stock traded as high as 24¼ and closed at 24, up 1¾.

Other firms reporting real or estimated higher earnings included Pembina Pipe, Walker-Gooderham, Jockey Club, Husky Oil, Lake Ontario, Portland Cement and Home Oil.

Bell Telephone, Aluminium, Lake Ontario Portland, Stelco, Abitibi, CPR, M. Loeb, Massey-Ferguson, Noranda, Jockey and Brazilian Traction, traded heavily.

Highs pitted the main list. Consumers' Gas, Interprovincial Pipe, Stelco, Canada and Dominion Sugar and Canadian Petrofina reached peaks.

PAPERS ADVANCED

Generally, financial issues, foods, papers and utilities advanced. Banks, beverages and metal-working issues declined and chemicals, construction issues, oils and pipe lines were mixed.

Denison climbed ⅞ to 25 after merger rumors linking it with a large mining firm. Affiliate company Roman Corp. added 90 cents to $7.30.

Inco dropped ¾ to 90 and Cominco 1⅝ to 41. Cassiar tacked on 1⅛ to 13¼ after hitting a high of 13⅜.

Among speculatives, Obaska gained 2½ to 17½ cents, Sudbury Contact 4½ to 26½ cents, Anglo United Development nine to 40 cents and PCE explorations 2½ to 38 cents. Heaviest trader was Canadian Australian with 737,600 shares. The stock gained two to 10 cents.

In golds, Dome dropped 1¼ to 39¾ and Giant Yellowknife ⅞ to 16⅞. Oils trading saw Hudson's Bay rise 1⅜ to 16⅛ and Calgary and Edmonton 1¾ to 21. Canadian Superior gained 1⅝ to 18⅞.

BBB Warns Owners Of Homes

Householders were warned today by the Better Business Bureau to beware of sales approaches from men selling various kinds of siding to renovate old homes.

Bureau manager Bill Tindall said several companies moved into the area recently and were using "a questionable sales approach."

Sometimes the approach is that the home has been selected as a model one and thus the price is reduced. Some have been told there is a 35 per cent government subsidy when in fact there is none, said Mr. Tindall.

Reluctant buyers find salesmen dropping estimates in half. A Sooke man was offered siding for $2,500 and the price come down to $1,200.

Another reluctant homeowner found the price fell from $3,600 to $2,300.

The bureau has received a number of calls.

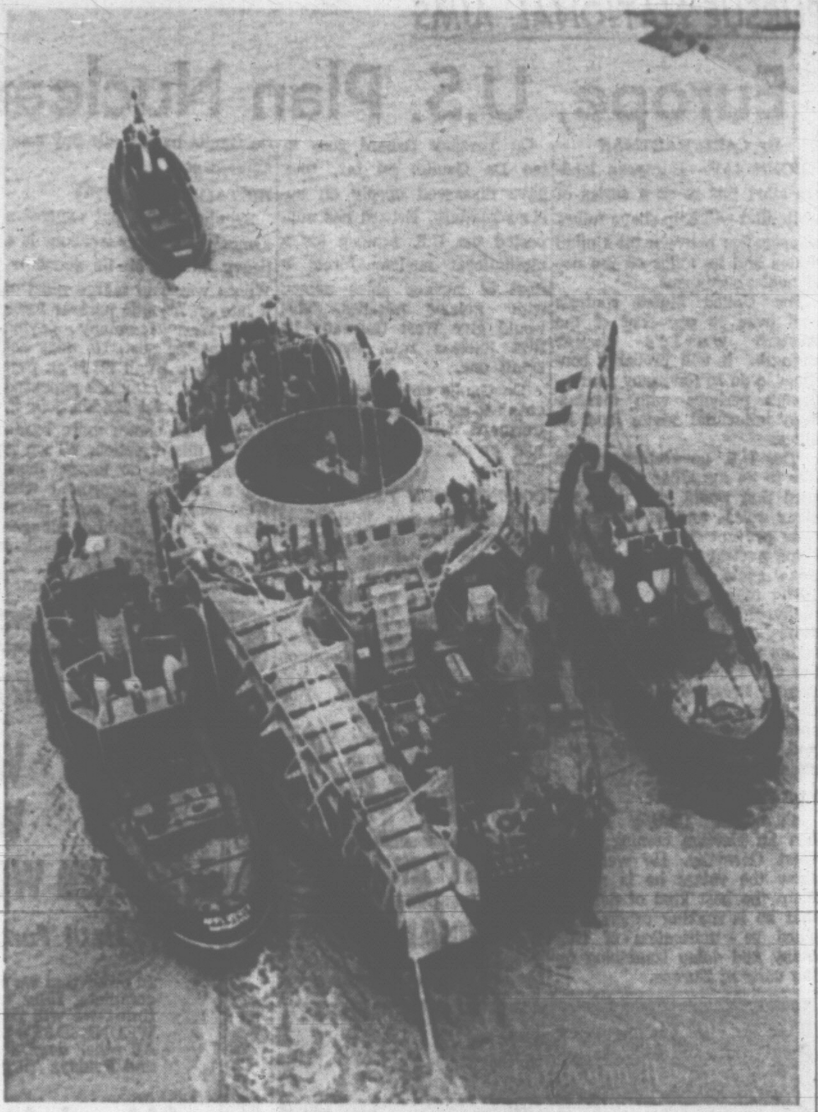
The sales pitch was "as old as the hills" but some persons fell for it.

He advised householders to obtain comparable estimates from local firms to reassure themselves they are getting a fair price.

Court Clears Kirby Of Fraud Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Court of Appeals has cleared Allan P. Kirby, chairman of the Alleghany Corp., of a $60,000,000 fraud charge.

The charge grew out of a proxy fight in 1960 for control of Alleghany, a holding company whose assets include 15 per cent of the stock of the New York Central Railroad.



NURSED BY THREE TUGS this strange craft is seen in process of laying Britain's first oil-filled submarine power cable from British mainland to Isle of Wight. MAC-POWELL PRESIDENT WARNS

'Further Price Cuts May Be Necessary'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A setback that would take years to correct faces the British Columbia forest industry if capital spending, manufacturing costs, taxation and product prices become excesive, C. A. Specht, president of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited, said Friday.

He warned that the industry couldn't afford a speculative attitude for long, but must be content with a steady, long-term investment.

Mr. Specht, in a speech to the B.C. Truck Loggers Association convention, said B.C. operators may have to reduce some prices if they are to maintain the markets in a highly competitive world situation.

MacMillan, Bloedel recently cut the price of newsprint by $10 a ton. The move was followed by similar price cuts by newsprint manufacturers in Canada and the United States.

He said his company cut the price because its customers—publishers — were becoming hard-pressed and proposed to go into the newsprint business in Oregon. He didn't elaborate.

"We acted to preserve, protect and perpetuate an important segment of the wood products industry in B.C."

He said other decisions, equally bitter, still confront the industry in the future.

"It takes foresight to anticipate trouble and courage to do something about it.

"If we fail to read the signs of the future and insist on such high product price that we encourage competition . . . then we are living in a fool's paradise."

In another speech, the man in charge of a balloon logging experiment for MacMillan, Bloedel said the experiment achieved both its objectives.

L. N. Tagseth said the company had sought to prove that use of balloons to bring logs from inaccessible areas was feasible and to recommend a balloon design most suitable.

"We are now on the threshold of a new system of logging which will open up whole new areas previously considered inaccessible."

In the experiment, two balloons in tandem—one above the other—were able to log a 300-foot wide strip with no problems in reaching and yarding the logs.

However, he said many improvements are required before the system will become financially acceptable.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

Strike Clouts Economy

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—A dock strike clouted the United States economy with a $67,000,000-a-day loss last week.

Sixty thousand longshoremen walked off their jobs, closing Eastern U.S. ports from Maine to Texas.

The strike left idle about 150 ships. Federal and management officials said the walkout would have a "disastrous impact" on the U.S. economy if it lasts long.

The New York locals of the International Longshoremen's Association, which set the pattern for tht industry, rejected a proposed four-year contract that called for a package increase of 80 cents an hour, including 36 cents in wage increases. The agreement also called for higher pensions, longer vacations and more paid holidays.

Union leaders considered the contract acceptable and recommended that their members ratify it.

TURNED IT DOWN

When the New York locals turned it down, the leaders undertook an educaion program to acquaint members more fully with its provisions and planned to hold another vote.

The Association of American Railroads issued an embargo on most rail shipments headed for export at Atlantic and Gulf coast ports.

Meanwhile, operations in the automobile and steel industries continued to boom.

The 3,000,000th passenger car o fthe 1965-model season rolled off an assembly line just about a week behind the similar milestone in the 1964-model run as manufacturers attempted to make up ground lost in last fall's strikes.

Production last week again topped 200,000. The output, estimated at 210,800 cars, was down a bit from the 213,323 turned out last week but up 23 per cent above the 158,905 assembled a year ago.

Murphy Oil Reports Big Earnings Jump

CALGARY (CP)—Earnings of Murphy Oil Co. Ltd. reached $895,000 or 33 cents a share in 1964, a 65 per cent jump from 1963 level of $544,044 or 20 cents a share, the company has announced.

In its annual financial statement the company said 1964 total sales were $11,000,000, up 30 per cent.

Habs Find Cure

By Canadian Press

Home ice blues has become a contagious disease around the National Hockey League.

But the initial carriers, Montreal Canadiens, apparently have found the cure.

The Canadiens, losers of three straight home games going into the weekend, snapped out of their Forum slump Saturday night by edging Boston Bruins 3-2. But the other five home teams lost during the weekend.

Detroit Red Wings dumped the Maple Leafs 4-2 at Toronto Saturday night while New York Rangers trounced their hosts, Chicago Black Hawks, 6-3.

On Sunday night, the Leafs invaded Boston and handed the Bruins a 3-1 setback, New York downed the Wings 4-2 at Detroit, and the Canadiens won a 4-2 decision at Chicago.

The results left Montreal atop the standings with 49 points, two more than Chicago and three more than third-place Toronto.

SINKS BRUINS

The Canadiens twice rallied from 2-1 deficits in the third period to sweep their two games, supported by the goaltending of Gump Worsley, recalled from Quebec Aces to give regular goalie Charlie Hodge a rest.

Claude Larose sank the Bruins with his 12th of the year at 14:15 of the finale, four minutes after Ralph Backstrom had tied the game. Johnny Bucyk and Murray Oliver had tallied for Boston in the first period and J. C. Tremblay provided Montreal's reply.

Worsley performed admirably, kicking out 24 shots and making a game-saving stop on Leo Boivin. On the next play Backstrom scored on a breakaway to tie it.

TOUGH ON JOHNSON

Larose was alone in front of the net to score the winner on Backstrom's pass from behind the net. Defeat was hard to swallow for Bruin goalie Ed Johnston, who made 36 saves.

The Canadiens also trailed the Hawks 2-1 early in the final period but rallied on goals by Larose, Leon Rochefort and Claude Provost.

Provost gave Montreal a 1-0 lead in the first period but Phil Esposito scored the equalizer on a power play in the second. Eric Nesterenko put the Hawks ahead at 3:29 of the third.

Larose, however, tied it while Chicago's Chico Maki was penalized at 11:51 and Rochefort, called from Quebec along with Worsley, got the winner at 15:41. Provost's second goal and 17th of the year went into an empty net in the last minutes.

WORSLEY STARS

Again Worsley was outstanding, turning in 34 saves. He stopped 14 shots in the first period alone, including four off the stick of triggerman Bobby Hull.

New York was the only other team to win both weekend games and climbed within six points of fourth-place Detroit.

Camille Henry almost single-handedly whipped the Wings, registering a power-play goal in each period and bringing his season total to 18.

HULL SCORES 36TH

Don Marshall scored for the Rangers and Paul Henderson got Detroit's other goal. Henry had the lone marker in the third period, beating Roger Crozier again while Bill Gadsby was off with a minor.

Henry also scored Saturday after the Rangers had jumped to a 4-0 lead by the early minutes of the second period in Chicago. Phil Goyette, Marshall, Earl Ingarfield, Bob Nevin and Rod Gilbert also scored for New York.

Maki, Fred Stanfield and Bobby Hull tallied for the Hawks. It was Hull's 36th goal in 41 games.

PLANTE INJURED

Jacques Plante was injured in the late stages of the game and gave way to Marcel Paille, who handled the contest in Detroit as well.

Glenn Hall was New York's victim in the Hawks' nets, but Denis DeJordy was the losing netminder against the Canadiens.

Heads Up, Gump!

Goalie Gump Worsley strikes puckish pose as he follows old hockey rule and keeps eye on puck after stopping shot with chest. Worsley was weekend star for Montreal as Canadiens chalked up a pair of victories. They nipped Boston 3-2 Saturday and bopped Black Hawks 4-2 Sunday in Chicago. Worsley made 58 saves in the two games. (CP Wirephoto)

Gutoski, Comox Airman To Carry Island Hopes

PORT ALBERNI—Rinks from Victoria, Courtenay and Campbell River are carrying Vancouver Island's hopes for provincial championships in curling.

Former provincial champion Tony Gutoski and Dave Patterson of Courtenay emerged as the Island's two representatives in the men's Pacific Coast finals after coming out on top in the zone finals here at the weekend.

Winner of the women's Island title is a Campbell River rink skipped by Frank Serjeant. Only one woman's rink advances to the Coast finals at Cloverdale.

Gutoski and Patterson lead their rinks to Chilliwack, where the Coast finals will be played Jan. 30-31.

DEFEATED NEFF

Gutoski, backed by Jim Dickson, Dick Fisher and Stew Mason, picked off his berth Sunday by defeating Nanaimo's Doug Neff 9-8 in the "B" final of a double-knockout playoff.

Gutoski defeated Esquimalt's Lyle Gordon 13-7 to reach the "B" final.

Patterson clinched his spot by winning three straight games, the final an 11-8 decision over Neff in the "A" windup. Neff's setback in the "A" final sent him directly to the "B" final.

Patterson, an airman based at Comox, is supported by third Gerry Munro, second Al Thompson and lead Sandy Sandbery.

UPSET VICTIM

The upset victim in the eight-rink final was Duncan's Glen Harper, two-time B.C. champion. Neff handed Harper his first loss, 10-8, and then the Duncan skip fell out of the picture when he dropped an 11-10 thriller to Gutoski.

Also reaching the Island finals were rinks skipped by Don Moss of Victoria, Bob Cummings and Jim Marasco of Port Alberni.

Mrs. Serjeant, a former Island champion who curled in Nanaimo until this year, scored a thrilling, last-rock 9-8 victory over Port Alberni's Ev Stirzaker to win the ladies' berth.

FORCED PLAYOFF

Rounding out Mrs. Serjeant's rink are Jean Barber, Louise Montieth and Cathy Enns.

Mrs. Serjeant was assured of a berth in the final by coming out on top in the "A" section of the double-knockout affair. But Mrs. Stirzaker forced a sudden-death playoff by defeating the Campbell River crew 9-5 in the "B" final.

Knocked out earlier were foursomes skippered by Carol Williams of Saanich (Allan's), Agnes Thien of Nanaimo, Ruth Jackson and Dorothy Fukuyama of Victoria, Helen McLauglin of Comox, Marg Harper of Duncan and Marg Brillinger of Esquimalt.

FREAK TRUCK MISHAP KILLS STOCK-CAR FAN

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A fork-lift truck supporting spectators on a platform rolled suddenly down an incline at a stock-car race Sunday, killing one man and injuring two other men and two boys.

Killed when the vehicle ran over him was Ronald Eugene Pickle, 20, of San Diego.

The mishap occurred in an infield area just after the start of the 500-mile $65,000 Motor Trend-Riverside Raceway road race for stock cars.

Officer Paul Kearney of the California Highway Patrol said the truck rolled forward down an incline about 10 feet into an embankment and part way through a chain-link fence.

Pulling Goaltender Lucky for Luckies

Up-Island entries swept five out of a possible six points from their Victoria-area rivals in the Vancouver Island Hockey League over the weekend.

Second-place Saanich Safeway Cavaliers salvaged the lone point, playing to a 7-7 draw with Port Alberni Luckies at Memorial Arena on Sunday.

Alberni tripped winless Victoria Cougars 7-5 while Nanaimo thumped the Safeways 8-3 in Saturday games.

Cougars and Cavaliers swing right back into action tonight, meeting in a 7:45 p.m. clash at the Arena.

Luckies salvaged their draw Sunday by scoring the tying goal after pulling out goalie Dave Thein in the final 30 seconds. Gary Skolos scored the equalizer with only 14 seconds showing on the clock.

Larry Meyers and Bob Harris each scored two goals for Safeways while Ken Walls and Dale Newbury each countered a pair for Alberni.

SILLY ATTITUDE . . . . . . SAYS NHL BOSS

Must Conform to Rules

MONTREAL (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said today he is "terribly disappointed" at the "silly attitude" adopted by linesman George Hayes which led to his suspension Friday.

"He is the employee with the longest service to the league outside of myself and I have always been happy with his technical work on the ice," Campbell said.

"But he must conform to the rules laid down for control of the staff. We can't have one set of rules for him and another for everyone else."

Hayes, an NHL official for 19 years, was suspended when he refused to undergo an eye examination made compulsory for all league officials. He said it is against his principles.

"I feel I should be judged by the job I do on the ice and not by some report from an eye doctor," he is reported to have said.

Campbell reiterated that every other referee and linesman underwent the eye examination which he termed "a confirmation of fitness." The results were "very encouraging," he said.

Campbell said at present Hayes is under suspension but that his contract will be terminated if he does not comply with the rules "within a reasonable period of time."

Totems Were So Angry That Zeidel Could Spit

And Larry Did Just That As Leafs Defeat Leaders

The way Victoria Maple Leafs have been rampaging through the Western Hockey League in recent weeks they have several times had rivals almost mad enough to spit.

Leafs finally went all the way Sunday at Seattle. They whipped the league-leading Totems 3-2 and in the process left the Seattleites so frustrated they actually started spitting.

Anyway, one Totem did.

The saliva tosser was boisterous Larry Zeidel, who had been feuding with Victoria rookie Rollie Wilcox all night.

Larry eventually spouted over mid-way in the third period. Whistled down for his fifth penalty of the game by referee Willie Papp, Zeidel spat at the official and was ejected from the ice with a game misconduct sentence, which packs an automatic $50 fine.

It was a completely frustrating evening for all the Totems, who were returning home after a long road trip with their once healthy lead over Portland shrivelled to a single point.

Bothered all the way by tenacious Victoria checking, the Totems scrambled to 1-1 tie with the Leafs in the opening period, dropped behind 3-1 in the second session and didn't get back within one goal until only 62 were remaining.

ROLLIE WILCOX

DANNY BELISLE
. . . four-point weekend

One Point Away From Third Spot

Victory was the second in two nights for the Leafs, who have lost only three of their last 14 games. They whipped Vancouver Canucks 6-2 Saturday night at Memorial Arena and Sunday's win boosted them within one point of the third-place Canuks.

Coach Rudy Pilous' Leafs get a chance to jump into the third spot Tuesday night. They tangle with the Totems again at Memorial Arena while Portland Buckaroos play at Vancouver.

Several rugged exchanges marked Sunday's game with Zeidel usually in the middle of things. Apparently bearing a grudge against Wilcox, he took a double minor with the Victoria rookie early in the second period and later in the session Zeidel and Wilcox tangled.

TAYLOR JOINS FRAY

Bobby Taylor of the Leafs barged into the fight and was followed by Chuck Holmes of Seattle. When peace was restored, Zeidel, Wilcox and Taylor each had a minor and major penalty, and Holmes picked up a major.

Larry got another minor in the third before he started acting like a fountain.

On the hockey side of the action, Dick Lamoureux, Steve Witiuk, on a picture play, and Danny Belisle scored the Victoria goals. Veteran Gordie Sinclair and Holmes replied for Seattle.

Victoria goalie Al Millar came up with another sharp performance, blocking 28 shots while Seattle's Jim McLeod was making 20 saves.

For Belisle, Sunday's goal was his fourth in a happy weekend.

Now skating at his best lick of the season, Belisle enjoyed his first three-goal game in three seasons Saturday to emerge as the Victoria star.

Defenceman Fred Hucul stepped out of the penalty box to open the scoring and Milan Marcetta potted his 21st goal of the season to give the Leafs a 2-1 lead as they soundly outskated the Canucks in the opening period.

Canucks had more of the puck in the second session, but Belisle counted twice to make it 4-0.

Bob McCusker and Ron Mathews scored for Vancouver around Belisle's third counter in the final session before Leaf defenceman Claude Labrosse wrapped up the scoring with his first tally of the season.

Victoria's Larry Keenan, who needed a goal to tie a WHL record of scoring one or more goals in consecutive games, had a few good chances but couldn't connect and saw his streak snapped at eight games.

RON HOWELLS FOUND GUILTY OF BOOT FIX

NOTTINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Ronald Howells, a former player for English professional soccer teams Walsall and Scunthorpe United, was found guilty in court here today of conspiring to fix an English League match.

Howells, 29, was one of 10 players or former players accused of similar offences.

He was convicted of conspiring with former Mansfield town players, Sam Chapman and Jimmy Gauld, and others "unknown," to ensure that Scunthorpe lost its match with Derby County in April, 1963.

Gauld and Chapman previously pleaded guilty.

Sensational Putts Ruin Billy's Hopes

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Wes Ellis, Jr., tied Billy Casper, Jr., on the 18th hole with a sensational 45-foot birdie putt Sunday and then holed an eight-footer on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff to win the $34,500 San Diego Open golf tournament.

The 32-year-old Ellis, a club pro from West Caldwell, N.J., came from behind with three brilliant birdie shots.

He sank a 35-footer on No. 17, which narrowed the gap, tied the score with the 45-footer on No. 18, and then won the $4,850 top money.

Ellis had rounds of 66-65-71-65 and Casper had 70-68-65-64, both for 267 totals.

In the playoff, Casper reached the edge of the green, a par-four, 347-yard hole, and Ellis' ball went on the green, eight feet to one side of the flag. Casper almost holed his shot and tapped it in for the par four. Then came the sudden-death shot by Ellis.

Johnny Pott, who missed a four-footer on No. 16 which would have given him a tie, finished with a 65 for 268. Casper and Ellis tied at 267.

George Knudson of Toronto came in with a 64 for 269.

Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont., faded from the tournament Friday with 68-76-144.

The playoff was the third in the last five years. Tommy Jacobs defeated Pott in 1962 and Arnold Palmer won over Al Balding of Toronto in 1961.

West Clobbers East In AFL Star Test

HOUSTON (AP) — Keith Lincoln caught a 73-yard touchdown pass and scored on an 80-yard run and John Hadl threw three touchdown passes Saturday in a 38-14 West romp over the East in the transplanted American Football League All-Star game.

SLIM CROWD

A slim crowd of 15,446 watched the game at Jeppesen Stadium.

The game was moved from New Orleans on short notice last Monday after 21 Negro players claimed racial discrimination.

It was close in the first half when the West took a 17-14 edge, but it turned into a runaway in the second half.

Hadl, San Diego quarterback who played most of the game after Len Dawson of Kansas City suffered a nose injury in the first period, had three touchdown passes but it was Dawson who tossed the bomb to Lincoln, fleet San Diego running back, on the first scrimmage play of the game.

DEFEAT PORTLAND

Blades Block Buckeroo Bid

Los Angeles Blades kept pace with the hot Victoria Maple Leafs Sunday in the Western Hockey League race.

They remained two points behind the Leafs and blocked a Portland bid to take over first place by whipping the Buckaroos 6-3 at Los Angeles while Victoria was tripping the leading Totems at Seattle.

The Bucks have 48 points in league standings to 49 for Seattle.

Los Angeles jumped to a commanding 4-0 lead in the first two periods, but the Buckaroos bounced back to make a close contest of it.

Portland's Dick Van Impe, Andy Hebenton and Pat Stapleton connected on consecutive goals to trim the Blades' lead to one goal at 4-3.

A Portland goal that was apparently scored by Tommy McVie was disallowed when officials said he kicked it in. From there, Brian Smith and Norm Johnson tallied for Los Angeles to clinch the victory.

Johnson scored twice in the game, as did Stan Maxwell. Willie O'Ree got the other tally.

Nats Sharp At Passing, Shoot Poorly

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's national hockey team could stand a little improvement in the shooting department.

The team displayed a knitted defence and some smart pass combinations Sunday night in registering a 5-2 victory over a make-up junior team of players from Montreal and Peterborough of the Ontario Junior Hockey Association.

It was the nationals' 17th win in tune-up games for the world amateur championships March 4-14 at Tampere, Finland. They have lost 10 and tied two.

"We're a little weak around the nets," Rev. David Bauer, the team adviser, said after the game.

Canada fired 40 pucks at goalie Chuck Goddard, one of eight Peterborough players with the juniors. But the nationals failed to capitalize on lapses by the junior defence.

Doesn't Hold a Grudge

The German Shepherd in this picture obviously holds no grudge against the human race . . . although it wouldn't be surprising if she did. The young bitch was found in the Langford area Sunday with five coils of wire wrapped tightly round her throat. SPCA officials who removed the wire are searching for the person who tried garrotting the friendly animal. Meanwhile, all is forgiven as she shows by giving vet's assistant Leslie Belfit a wet but loving kiss in return for her treatment.

BONNER MUM ON JONES SUSPENSION

The government's next move in dealing with purchasing commission chairman George Jones, acquitted of charges of accepting benefits, was still a mystery today.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said there had been no decision yet whether the case would be appealed.

He would not comment on whether Mr. Jones' suspension by an Oct. 2 Cabinet order would be lifted or his withheld pay cheques released to him.

Meanwhile, Mr. Jones—who has consistently gone to work since the suspension order—said he is busy preparing the commission's annual report to the legislature which employs him directly.

He said he had no thought of resigning.

Horse Hunt Continues On Island

A search was still on today for several horses missing in snow-covered country near Campbell River.

The horses, missing since late November, belong to the K Bar X dude ranch, 12 miles south of the up-Island village.

Weekend searches rounded up 25 of the 34 horses.

Many were half-starved and one colt had to be carried back on an automatic sled.

Twelve were rounded up Sunday.

Many were found sheltering in wooded areas where they were able to scrounge among the lighter covering of snow for food.

Heading the search is ranch owner Ken Canfield.

In a bid to rescue the animals before they starve to death, he called in an aircraft and an RCAF heliocopter from Comox.

Also lending a hand was Victoria SPCA chief David Beeching.

Mr. Canfield, who took over the ranch after coming from the prairies last May, was hindered by not knowing the countryside.

WORTH $300

The horses, including a Shetland and a Welsh pony belonging to his young children, are worth up to $300 each.

Said his wife Georgeliene today: "We had no idea the winter was going to be as bad as this.

"As far as we knew it was customary to put the horses out in winter and we did likewise."

Meanwhile, back in Victoria, Mr. Beeching criticized owners who put livestock out to graze in winter.

He said: "The custom seems to have grown of letting some stock winter graze.

"The terrain in this part of the world is secondary growth and bush with a few swampy meadows.

"It is not fit to put stock out unless they get some supervision and supplementary feed.

"Horses are dying as a result of this practice."

Official Stand On Pollution Taken By City

City council today wallowed 90 minutes in special debate on the question of treated sewage, finally opposing in principle the discharge of effluent into Gorge waterway.

The meeting was called to enable council to make a stand by today's deadline on a Saanich proposal to increase the flow into Colquitz River of treated effluent from a plant serving North Ridge subdivision.

The Saanich application was made a month ago and a 30-day period is allowed for objections to be made.

Council's resolution makes no reference to the Saanich application, which must have pollution control board approval.

It authorizes city solicitor T. P. O'Grady to appear at any hearing the board may call and make known Victoria's position, which is that the city and Metro Health Board are in harmony and on record in opposing pollution of the Gorge or other inland waters.

City engineer James Garnett reported to council as a result of discussion that council was advised to point out to the pollution board there are hazards involved in the Saanich scheme for a treatment plant, or its alternative — individual septic tanks.

Foulis Story 'Involved' Says Banker

Hearing Started On Fraud Charge

A city bank manager testified today that an explanation of an allegedly fraudulent transaction by Robert A. Foulis "seemed pretty involved to me."

Foulis is the former Vancouver man, now living on Salt Spring Island, who is charged with defrauding seven men in Victoria of $238,550 between 1958 and 1963.

The preliminary hearing of the charges began today in city court before Magistrate William Ostler.

Foulis is charged in connection with a scheme for buying discontinued lines of liquor and re-selling them. He is alleged to have obtained $56,800 from Dr. John G. Patterson and $73,000 from Ernest Benton, both of Victoria, among others.

E. C. Brown, manager of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce at Douglas and Cormorant, said Benton and Patterson brought Foulis to his office on June 6, 1963.

Mr. Brown said he wanted to hear from Foulis an explanation of his business dealings with Mr. Benton and Dr. Patterson.

BORROWING MONEY

Mr. Brown said, under questioning by Crown Prosecutor W. R. McIntyre, that the bank was not directly involved in the deals but Patterson and Benton "were borrowing money from me and I knew they were sending it to Foulis."

Mr. Brown said the explanation given by Foulis was so complicated that he called in his secretary to take notes of it.

According to the notes Foulis had said that distilleries sometimes decide to discontinue a line, or change its labelling or bottle.

RECALL STOCK

In such cases distilleries will sometimes recall existing stock from liquor stores.

Mr. Foulis said he had arranged to obtain this stock, on which tax had been paid, and could resell it to clubs. Mr. Foulis claimed distilleries sold discontinued lines at good discount because it cost too much to rebottle the liquor.

Mr. Brown said that after his secretary typed up notes of this explanation they all went and had coffee.

Robert Mason, purchasing officer for the Liquor Control Board, said it is common practice when a distiller makes changes in product or packaging to sell off the old line. He said that only rarely is the discontinued line exchanged for the new.

Evidence was also given by Detective W. R. McGrenera, of the Vancouver city police, about an interview he had with Foulis Nov. 21, 1963.

He said Foulis told him that he had been employed in the past as a salesman for Adam's Distillery, a sales manager for Alberta Distillers and as vice-president for sales of Potter's Distilleries.

Trio Scared Off In Burglary Try

A janitor frightened off three men who tried to rob the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Club, 1001 Wharf St., early Sunday.

Two of them apparently hid in the club after closing time. Police believe they huddled in a space above the men's washroom that is used for air conditioning equipment.

Janitor Charles Poole went upstairs in the club shortly after 6 a.m. Sunday. He spotted a car parked outside and saw it move up to the double doors. He heard a whistle and then surprised two men as they opened the doors.

Police surmise the two were about to let the third man inside. All fled before police arrived on the scene.

RVYC Sailors Drub Navy Frostbiters

Frostbite sailors of Royal Victoria Yacht Club gave navy crews a lesson in sailing Saturday and Sunday at the club's closed course at Cadboro Bay.

They drubbed members of the Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association 4-1 in team races in Davidson and El Toro classes.

The meet was the first in a home-and-home series for the two clubs. Return match will be Jan. 30-31 and it will be raced in El Toros and 420s.

The races, which turned into drifting matches at times because of light breezes, attracted more than 50 boats.

In RCNSA individual races, John Mallison won in the Davidson class and Robin Spear captured El Toro honors.

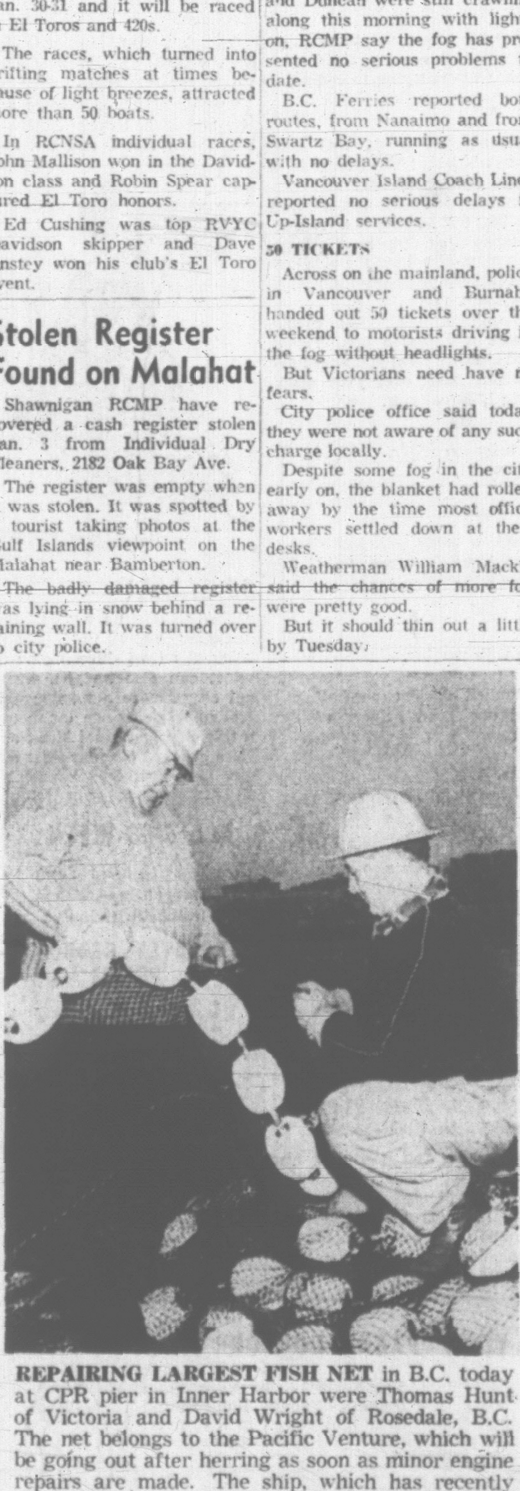
Ed Cushing was top RVYC Davidson skipper and Dave Anstey won his club's El Toro event.

Stolen Register Found on Malahat

Shawnigan RCMP have recovered a cash register stolen Jan. 3 from Individual Dry Cleaners, 2182 Oak Bay Ave.

The register was empty when it was stolen. It was spotted by a tourist taking photos at the Gulf Islands viewpoint on the Malahat near Bamberton.

The badly damaged register was lying in snow behind a retaining wall. It was turned over to city police.



REPAIRING LARGEST FISH NET in B.C. today at CPR pier in Inner Harbor were Thomas Hunt of Victoria and David Wright of Rosedale, B.C. The net belongs to the Pacific Venture, which will be going out after herring as soon as minor engine repairs are made. The ship, which has recently undergone overhaul at McKay-Cormack Shipyards, landed record catches at Prince Rupert in 1964. The huge net measures 325 fathoms by 55 fathoms, or 1,950 by 330 feet. 'No Precedent' Found For Stand-Up Drinks

City council may find it hard to catch the waiter's eye when it calls for drinks in the McPherson Playhouse foyer.

A spokesman for the attorney-general's department today indicated there is no precedent for a stand-up bar to serve theatre-goers between acts and no existing channel for obtaining it either.

"It is very questionable that the Liquor Act makes any provision for this type of licence in any event," the official said.

"The act says licences are issuable only to restaurants, resorts, dining rooms and hotels so it is more complicated than just applying for a licence — it would require a statutory amendment."

SIMILAR METHOD

City council is investigating the means by which a Vancouver theatre obtained a licence to serve liquor, in the hope that a similar method could be employed when McPherson Playhouse is operating.

Not counting the estimated 1,400 petitioners who have written the mayor and council opposing liquor in the civic playhouse, Mayor R. B. Wilson said last week the question is "academic" because there seems no legislation to permit it.

CLEAR TODAY?

Air Traffic Grounded For 4th Day

Dense fog continued to blanket most of Vancouver Island's east coast today, grounding all flights at Victoria International Airport and bringing traffic to a crawl.

As the weatherman predicted a possible break, visibility at Pat Bay was still almost nil this morning.

All incoming and outgoing flights have been cancelled indefinitely, including routine flights by the navy's VU 33 Utility squadron stationed there.

No regular flights have left the airport since the blanket descended Friday.

The picture was the same in Vancouver and all flights to and from Eastern Canada had to be diverted to Edmonton.

COMOX CLOSED

Regular flights from RCAF Comox were grounded.

Crews stood by in the hope of getting airborne this morning as visibility stood at one-quarter mile.

But by noon visibility was only 220 yards.

Except for a brief spell Friday, aircraft have been grounded now four days.

Back on the ground, traffic fared a little better.

Although vehicles in Nanaimo and Duncan were still crawling along this morning with lights on, RCMP say the fog has presented no serious problems to date.

B.C. Ferries reported both routes, from Nanaimo and from Swartz Bay, running as usual with no delays.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines reported no serious delays in Up-Island services.

50 TICKETS

Across on the mainland, police in Vancouver and Burnaby handed out 50 tickets over the weekend to motorists driving in the fog without headlights.

But Victorians need have no fears.

City police office said today they were not aware of any such charge locally.

Despite some fog in the city early on, the blanket had rolled away by the time most office workers settled down at their desks.

Weatherman William Mackie said the chances of more fog were pretty good.

But it should thin out a little by Tuesday.

FOR CONVERSION

Swedes Win $14 Million Hydro Deal

B.C. Hydro has awarded a $14,000,000 contract for electrical conversion equipment to a Swedish firm.

A spokesman for the Hydro said this morning that the Swedish company Asea of Vaesteras would supply the bulk of the new equipment.

Two substations, one at Arnott on the mainland, the other at Stratford on Vancouver Island, will be involved in the conversion which will enable the mainland station to convert A.C. current to D.C. for transmission by submarine cable. The Island substation will convert the current back to A.C. for domestic and industrial use.

The changeover will result in an extra 130,000 volts being transmitted to the Island.

At present seven submarine cables provide two complete circuits to bring power to the Island with one cable spare.

The spare cable will be used to carry the extra voltage.

MAXIMUM LOADS

"The other six cables are already carrying maximum loads," the spokesman said. "By converting the power from A.C. to D.C. and then back again for consumer use is the most practical way of getting more power to the Island to serve its growing needs."

Lack of available sea floor for the laying of extra cables makes it necessary to use the conversion method rather than attempt to locate new submarine cables.

BY 1967

Work on the conversion of the two substations will commence as soon as the Swedish company makes the new equipment available.

It is expected to be competed with the new equipment operating at capacity by 1967.

The Arnott substation is located near the Tsawwassen ferry dock. The Stratford substation is near Duncan.

HUSBANDS TO SHOOT LEOPARD, BUFFALO AS WIVES SHOOT FILM

Victorians Going to Africa for Big Game

By JIM HUME

Eight Victorians—four husband and wife teams—are heading for Equatorial Africa January 30 to hunt big game.

The husbands, George Farmer, George Goy, Dr. Robert Gale and Norman Lougheed, will seek the trophy heads while the wives record the 21-day Uganda safari on film.

The group will operate out of Enfebbe, Uganda, in Eastern Equatorial Africa with leopard and water buffalo the main targets.

Mrs. Goy said this morning all the preparatory work has been done, but packing is lagging a little.

"We've had all the shots we need and all the paper work has been done," she said. "But about the only thing ready so far as packing goes is my husband's rifle."

"While hunting big game will be nothing new to the four men, the African scene and its animal life will be.

"My husband has hunted big game all over B.C. and the Yukon," Mrs. Goy said. "But none of us have been to Africa before or hunted leopard or water buffalo."

Mr. Farmer said he would be happy with whatever trophies he could find.

"We shall be happy to hunt whatever game is in the area the guide takes us to," he said. But added: "I would like a leopard but I understand they're pretty scarce."

Luther King Hit, Kicked

Negro Leader Assault Victim

Alabama Hotel Scene of Attack

LUTHER KING
. . . attacked

The man, who previously had asked and obtained permission from King to attend a Negro rally tonight, waited at the edge of a small crowd while King and 11 other Negroes were registering, and then without warning he hit King in the right temple and kicked him in the groin.

The assailant was arrested immediately by Selma's public safety director, Wilson Baker, and taken to jail.

The man talked to King earlier on the sidewalk and gave his name as Jimmy George Robinson.

After the attack, other Negroes grabbed the man and Baker, who was standing on a stairway, rushed in, seized the man by the neck and hustled him outside.

King said later he suffered a slight headache but otherwise did not appear to be injured.

A short time earlier, other Negroes had integrated three downtown Selma restaurants without disorder while scores of others lined up to seek registration as voters.

King was attacked in the lobby of the century-old Hotel Albert of Selma's main thoroughfare, Broad Street.

The hotel is next to one of the restaurants which was integrated, and across the street from another.

MANAGER APOLOGIZES

The hotel manager, Robert Gay, apologized to the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner and said he would sign a warrant.

Baker replied, "I'll sign one myself."

Outside the hotel, the man tried to lie down on the sidewalk and drag another officer with him. Baker picked the man up off the sidewalk and gave him to other policemen who took him to city jail. Baker, a former catcher for Cincinnati Reds and more recently chief law enforcement instructor for the University of Alabama, is more than six feet tall and weighs about 250.

He had promised before the integration test came today that he would tolerate no disorder and that anyone who violated the law would go to jail.

Robinson, of Birmingham, was charged with assault and disturbing the peace.

Robinson was wearing khaki pants and shirt, uniform of the segregationist National States' Rights party, a white supremist organization active in the segregation movement.

ARREST NEO-NAZI

Earlier, a white youth who claimed to be a member of the American Nazi party was arrested by city police while he was waiting to taunt the Negroes at one of the restaurants. The American Nazi party is another white supremacist group.

A group of Negroes, a white minister and his wife from Maryland ate lunch at Selma Del, one of the city's most popular downtown cafes and one which previously was charged by the justice department with racial discrimination for refusing earlier to serve Negroes.

The white clergyman was Rev. W. S. Causey, assistant pastor of the Warner Memorial Presbyterian church at Kensington, Del.

Across the street, 12 Negroes in two groups were served lunch at Tim's Cafe.

Otis Adams, owner of the cafe, angrily told reporters he had no choice under the civil rights law.

"It's a hell of a thing when you can't run your own business," Adams said.

The group sat three in each of two booths, while about 20 white patrons ate at other tables and the lunch counter.

Earlier King led approximately 200 Negroes to the Selma County Courthouse in the first step of the voter registration campaign.

There were no incidents.

RUSSIA SEEKS VOTE BEFORE UN PAYMENT

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Soviet chief delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told UN Secretary-General U Thant today the Soviet Union will make a substantial voluntary contribution toward United Nations solvency—once the General Assembly has resumed voting.

The United States has insisted that the Soviet Union make a large payment before being allowed to vote.

Fedorenko's restatement of the Soviet position meant that the Soviet-U.S. deadlock on the issue persisted, just before the assembly's afternoon resumption of its 19th annual session.

U.K. Statesman Grows Weaker

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill has had a "peaceful day" today "with no change in his condition," his physician, Lord Moran, said tonight.

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill's strength is gradually ebbing and his physician, Lord Moran, today announced that "he is a little weaker."

The valiant 90-year-old warrior was slowly giving way to the cerebral stroke that felled him last Friday.

Sympathy and sorrow was welling up around the world as British officials quietly began preparations for the great homage that will be due the wartime leader in the event of his death.

There was no doubt that although a commoner, Churchill would be accorded a state funeral with all the ceremony due a sovereign. It would be the greatest honor since the death of the Duke of Wellington in 1852.

Lord Moran, 82, who served Churchill all through the Second World War, arrived at Churchill's residence at 11:17 a.m. und issued his medical bulletin 30 minutes later.

'A LITTLE WEAKER'

The bulletin said:

"Sir Winston had a restful night. He is a little weaker, but otherwise there is nothing to report."

This was the seventh bulletin since Churchill was stricken with cerebral thrombosis Friday. All have told of the steady decline of the aged statesman.

Moran, examined Churchill twice Sunday. After the second examination he said: "After a restless start, Sir Winston has had a peaceful day, but he has lost ground."

CHILDREN STAY LATE

Churchill's three surviving children stayed late with 79-year-old Lady Churchill near the bedside, dispersing only in the early hours this morning.

His actress daughter Sarah, 49, said as she left: "He is sleeping peacefully."

The increasing gravity of Churchill's condition became apparent at noon Sunday when his doctor announced after a 45-minute examination that his patient showed pulse irregularity.

Throughout Sunday, millions of Britons prayed for the man who resolved 25 years ago never to surrender their country.

HIS MOTTO

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Near death as in full life, Sir Winston Churchill fights on.

"They say he's unconscious," said an old friend of Britain's wartime leader, "and medically they must be right, but how can Winston ever be unconscious"

Blinking back a tear, the friend added:

"Ever since he was born, he's been a fighter. Every bone and muscle of the man has been taught fight. Fight's the very soul of man."

The friend, who wouldn't be quoted by name, tiptoed into Churchill's ground floor bedroom Sunday and found the old man lying with his eyes closed, his heavily veined arms and hands outside the covers of his bed, the hands paler than the white sheets.

Seeing the old friend enter, a nurse bent over the patient and, raising her voice, said into his ear:

"It's —— ——. It's —— ——."

PRESSED HIS HAND

"I put my hand on his," said the friend, "and he pressed my hand. Imagine.

"Unconscious? Perhaps he is. Perhaps the whole thing's automatic, and I would be surprised. But whatever it is —he fights on."

In a speech 24 years ago Sir Winston told the boys at his old school, Harrow, on the northern outskirts of London:

"Never give in. Never give in. Never, never, never, never, in nothing great or small, large or petty—never give in except to convictions of honor and good sense."

Powerful New Missile Announced by Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Lyndon Johnson sent the U.S. Congress a special message on defence today, disclosing plans to develop a new submarine-carried ballistic missile with twice the destructive power of the Polaris.

Called the Poseidon, the new missile was one of a range of new strategic weapons outlined by the president as means of keeping American retaliatory power ready to deter attack.

The president said that a new short-range attack missile called Spam will be developed for possible deployment on B52 or other bombers. It will be a winged missile, a "vast improvement" over present types.

Despite improvements in military power to be made in the fiscal year starting next July 1, Johnson said expansion in previous years and rigorous economies will make it possible to cut defence spending $300 million.

DEFENCE COSTS

He estimated defence spending for the present year at $49.3 billion, indicating that next year's will be $49 billion.

"The danger of war remains ever with us," Johnson said in outlining the policies that will guide his defence program.

"But if the hope of peace is sturdier than at any other time in these two decades, it is because we—and free men everywhere—have proved preparedness to be 'the most effectual means of preserving peace'."

Johnson's allusion to preserving peace by preparing for war was taken from George Washington's first message to Congress.

The president described

ARROWS LOSE HEADS FOR JOHNSON PARADE

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—The secret service has made sure President Johnson won't be ambushed by Indians during his inaugural parade.

Joe Herrera, sponsor of the Indian dancing group, volunteered to remove the arrowheads for the parade.

19 DEAD

Vicious Storm Lashes Britain

LONDON (AP)—At least 19 persons were feared dead today after the worst gales in 10 years battered the British Isles and the Bay of Biscay.

Four hunters were missing in the Lancashire marshes; police found the body of a fifth. Two fishermen were drowned in Dover Harbor and two others were killed in a highway accident.

The search continued for 10 men feared drowned off southern Ireland after a French trawler sank in a hurricane.

Weathermen said gales up to 100 miles an hour lashed the English Channel. The storm also brought rain, snow and sleet.

The Norwegian motor vessel Fossum's 27 crew members were saved after the ship, on a maiden voyage from Bilbao, Spain, sank in the Bay of Biscay. Her skipper clung to a frail raft for hours before he was rescued.

BUSH FIRE RUNS WILD IN AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—A 100-square-mile bush fire took eight lives including seven members of one family Sunday and killed thousands of animals in central Victoria State. Damage was expected to run into millions of pounds.

Police and soldiers using automatic weapons today began the mercy killing of at least 6,000 sheep and cattle maimed in the fire at Longwood, about 80 miles north of here.

Skilled Worker to Get Nod In New Immigration Policy

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's on-again-off-again immigration policy has been abandoned in favor of a long-term program tied directly to Canadian manpower requirements.

Responsibility for a new forward-looking approach to immigration has been delegated to one of four new directorates established recently in a major reorganization of the immigration department.

The policy and planning directorate will take a continuing hard look at Canada's immigration requirements and plan ahead to obtain the kind of qualified immigrants Canada will require. The aim will be to obtain skilled and professional workers and educated persons who can be trained by Canadian industry in a variety of skilled occupations.

The new policy brings to an end the former practice of opening the immigration gates when times were good and closing them when unemployment threatened.

The work of the new directorate and the three others—Canadian services, overseas services, and special services—was discussed in Ottawa at a three-day immigration conference which concluded Saturday.

SENIOR OFFICIALS MEET

It brought together for the first time senior officials of the immigration department in Canada and abroad to discuss future immigration requirements and develop a positive program to ensure that these requirements are met.

The reorganization of the department also includes steps to:

- Make immigration posts abroad more attractive.
- Improve the pay of immigration officers abroad.
- Give officers at home and abroad more responsibility to make decisions on their own initiative, a step to speed the handling of immigration applications.
- Improve the morale of immigration department employees by giving them the prestige accorded career diplomats.

DOES NOT AGREE

R. B. Curry, assistant deputy minister of immigration, said in an interview the department does not agree that sources of skilled immigrants are drying up or Canada will be seriously affected by a United States decision to discard its quota system and admit immigrants on the basis of skills, a policy adopted by Canada a few years ago.

"We can get skilled immigrants even if the competition does increase," he said.

"Skilled people are available and can be persuaded to come to Canada even from countries with healthy economies. Can-

VISITORS GET TRANSLATION

OTTAWA (CP) — Simultaneous translations, French to English and English to French, will be available to the general public when the House of Commons reconvenes next month. Each of the 476 seats in the public gallery will have its own attached ear phone. This is the first instance of such a translation system being supplied to the parliamentary public galleries of any country.

Car Pact Scored As Rules Breach

(See Story Page 7)

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Board of Trade considers that the Canada-United States agreement for a tariff-free cross-border market on motor vehicles and parts may be a breach of international trading rules.

A spokesman for the government department said Sunday that the Canada-U.S. pact "seems to conflict with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade."

The breach, he added, appears to be more on the side of the United States than on Canada, though the board understands that the U.S. may seek a GATT waiver to implement the agreement.

"If a waiver is requested, the U.S. would need the support of two-thirds of the votes cast."

Asked if Britain would support such a waiver, the spokesman said he could not comment at this time. It would depend on many things.

ASKED TARIFF CHANGE

The implication of his remarks appeared to be that Britain will press for removal of U.S. tariffs on British cars. Other European motor-vehicle exporters may take a similar attitude.

The spokesman said Canada allows British cars to come in duty-free but the U.S. charges a tariff of 6½ per cent. Britain maintains far heavier tariffs on both Canadian and American cars. In addition, it charges a heavy road tax on six and eight-cylinder North American vehicles.

THE WITCHING HOUR

Ding Dong, Water's Gone

TORONTO (UPI) — Public works department engineers got caught with their pressure down Sunday night. They didn't know the Wizard of Oz was on television.

At 8:30 p.m., Toronto and its 12 suburbs echoed to the sound of running bathwater and flushing toilets as viewers rose from a two-hour viewing of Judy Garland and the Wicked Witch in the Wizard of Oz.

Generally on Sunday night, the works department prepares for an excessive demand of water at regular 30-minute periods.

One engineer said: "It's the first time I've ever been caught."

He said at one transfer station, the water level dropped 30 feet when the Wizard of Oz show ended. At 9 p.m. when the Ed Sullivan show ended, the level dropped only two feet.

He described the three-minute period after the Wizard ended as the biggest pressure drop, because of television, in seven years.

The engineer said the operators also keep a careful eye on the nights of the Stanley Cup playoffs. One operator takes along a transistor radio so he can tell when the hockey periods end.

Sympathy and sorrow was welling up around the world as British officials quietly began preparations for the great homage that will be due the wartime leader in the event of his death.

There was no doubt that although a commoner, Churchill would be accorded a state funeral with all the ceremony due a sovereign. It would be the greatest honor since the death of the Duke of Wellington in 1852.

Lord Moran, who served Churchill all through the Second World War, said Sir Winston had a peaceful day and there was no change in his condition.

This was the eighth bulletin since Churchill was stricken with cerebral thrombosis Friday. All have told of the steady decline of the aged statesman.

Moran examined Churchill twice Sunday. After the second examination he said: "After a restless start, Sir Winston has had a peaceful day, but he has lost ground."

CHILDREN STAY LATE

Churchill's three surviving children stayed late with 79-year-old Lady Churchill near the bedside, dispersing only in the early hours this morning.

His actress daughter Sarah, 49, said as she left: "He is sleeping peacefully."

The increasing gravity of Churchill's condition became apparent at noon Sunday when his doctor announced after a 45-minute examination that his patient showed pulse irregularity.

HIS MOTTO

'Never Give In—Never Give In'

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Near death as in full life, Sir Winston Churchill fights on.

"They say he's unconscious," said an old friend of Britain's wartime leader, "and medically they must be right, but how can Winston ever be unconscious"

Blinking back a tear, the friend added:

"Ever since he was born, he's been a fighter. Every bone and muscle of the man has been taught fight. Fight's the very soul of man."

The friend, who wouldn't be quoted by name, tiptoed into Churchill's ground floor bedroom Sunday and found the old man lying with his eyes closed, his heavily veined arms and hands outside the covers of his bed, the hands paler than the white sheets.

Seeing the old friend enter, a nurse bent over the patient and, raising her voice, said into his ear:

"It's —— ——. It's —— ——."

PRESSED HIS HAND

"I put my hand on his," said the friend, "and he pressed my hand. Imagine.

"Unconscious? Perhaps he is. Perhaps the whole thing's automatic, and I would be surprised. But whatever it is—he fights on."

In a speech 24 years ago Sir Winston told the boys at his old school, Harrow, on the northern outskirts of London:

"Never give in. Never give in. Never, never, never, never, in nothing great or small, large or petty—never give in except to convictions of honor and good sense."

Alabama Hotel Scene of Attack

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—A man wearing a Nationa States Rights party uniform attacked Dr. Marti Luther King Jr. today when the Negro leader registered at a previously white Selma hotel.

LUTHER KING

The man, who previously had asked and obtained permission from King to attend a Negro rally tonight, waited at the edge of a small crowd while King and 11 other Negroes were registering, and then without warning he hit King in the right temple and kicked him in the groin.

The assailant was arrested immediately by Selma's public safety director, Wilson Baker, and taken to jail.

The man talked to King earlier on the sidewalk and gave his name as Jimmy George Robinson.

After the attack, other Negroes grabbed the man and Baker, who was standing on a stairway, rushed in, seized the man by the neck and hustled him outside.

King said later he suffered a slight headache but otherwise did not appear to be injured.

A short time earlier, other Negroes had integrated three downtown Selma restaurants without disorder while scores of others lined up to seek registration as voters.

King was attacked in the lobby of the century-old Hotel Albert of Selma's main thoroughfare, Broad Street.

The hotel is next to one of the restaurants which was integrated, and across the street from another.

MANAGER APOLOGIZES

The hotel manager, Robert Gay, apologized to the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner and said he would sign a warrant.

Baker replied, "I'll sign one myself."

Outside the hotel, the man tried to lie down on the sidewalk and drag another officer with him. Baker picked the man up off the sidewalk and gave him to other policemen who took him to city jail. Baker, a former catcher for Cincinnati Reds and more recently chief law enforcement instructor for the University of Alabama, is more than six feet tall and weighs about 250.

He had promised before the integration test came today that he would tolerate no disorder and that anyone who violated the law would go to jail.

Robinson, of Birmingham, was charged with assault and disturbing the peace.

Robinson was wearing khal pants and shirt, uniform of th segregationist National State Rights party, a white supremi organization active in the segr gation movement.

ARREST NEO-NAZI

Earlier, a white youth wh claimed to be a member of th American Nazi party was a rested by city police while h was waiting to taunt the Ne groes at one of the restaurants The American Nazi party is a other white supremacist group.

A group of Negroes, a whit minister and his wife fro Maryland ate lunch at Selm Del, one of the city's most pop lar downtown cafes and o which previously was charge by the justice department wi racial discrimination for refu ing earlier to serve Negroes.

The white clergyman wa Rev. W. S. Causey, assistan pastor of the Warner Memoria Presbyterian church at Kensington, Del.

Across the street, 12 Negroe in two groups were serve lunch at Tim's Cafe.

Otis Adams, owner of th cafe, angrily told reporters h had no choice under the civi rights law.

"It's a hell of a thing whe you can't run your own business," Adams said.

The group sat three in eac of two booths, while about 2 white patrons ate at othe tables and the lunch counte

Powerful New Missile Announced by Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Lyndon Johnson sent the U.S. Congress a special message on defence today, disclosing plans to develop a new submarine-carried ballistic missile with twice the destructive power of the Polaris.

Called the Poseidon, the new missile was one of a range of new strategic weapons outlined by the president as means of keeping American retaliatory power ready to deter attack.

The president said that a new short-range attack missile called Spam will be developed for possible deployment on B52 or other bombers. It will be a winged missile, a "vast improvement" over present types.

Despite improvements in military power to be made in the fiscal year starting next July 1, Johnson said expansion in previous years and rigorous economies will make it possible to cut defence spending $300 million.

DEFENCE COSTS

He estimated defence spending for the present year at $49.3 billion, indicating that next year's will be $49 billion.

"The danger of war remains ever with us," Johnson said in outlining the policies that will guide his defence program.

"But if the hope of peace is sturdier than at any other time in these two decades, it is because we—and free men everywhere—have proved preparedness to be 'the most effectual means of preserving peace'."

Johnson's allusion to preserving peace by preparing for war was taken from George Washington's first message to Congress.

The president described

ARROWS LOSE HEADS FOR JOHNSON PARADE

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—The secret service has made sure President Johnson won't be ambushed by Indians during his inaugural parade.

Agents in Santa Fe examined the arrowheads of four New Mexico Indians who will appear in the parade in Washington Wednesday and found them to be steel.

Joe Herrera, sponsor of the Indian dancing group, volunteered to remove the arrowheads for the parade.

Vicious Storm Lashes Britain

LONDON (AP)—At least 19 persons were feared dead today after the worst gales in 10 years battered the British Isles and the Bay of Biscay.

Four hunters were missing in the Lancashire marshes; police found the body of a fifth. Two fishermen were drowned in Dover Harbor and two others were killed in a highway accident.

The search continued for 10 men feared drowned off southern Ireland after a French trawler sank in a hurricane.

Weathermen said gales up to 100 miles an hour lashed the English Channel. The storm also brought rain, snow and sleet.

The Norwegian motor vessel Fossum's 27 crew members were saved after the ship, on a maiden voyage from Bilbao, Spain, sank in the Bay of Biscay. Her skipper clung to a frail raft for hours before he was rescued.

Skilled Worker to Get Nod In New Immigration Policy

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's on-again-off-again immigration policy has been abandoned in favor of a long-term program tied directly to Canadian manpower requirements.

Responsibility for a new forward-looking approach to immigration has been delegated to one of four new directorates established recently in a major reorganization of the immigration department.

The policy and planning directorate will take a continuing hard look at Canada's immigration requirements and plan ahead to obtain the kind of qualified immigrants Canada will require. The aim will be to obtain skilled and professional workers and educated persons who can be trained by Canadian industry in a variety of skilled occupations.

The new policy brings to an end the former practice of opening the immigration gates when times were good and closing them when unemployment threatened.

The work of the new directorate and the three others—Canadian services, overseas services, and special services—was discussed in Ottawa at a three-day immigration conference which concluded Saturday.

SENIOR OFFICIALS MEET

It brought together for the first time senior officials of the immigration department in Canada and abroad to discuss future immigration requirements and develop a positive program to ensure that these requirements are met.

The reorganization of the department also includes steps to:

- Make immigration posts abroad more attractive.
- Improve the pay of immigration officers abroad.
- Give officers at home and abroad more responsibility to make decisions on their own initiative, a step to speed the handling of immigration applications.
- Improve the morale of immigration department employees by giving them the prestige accorded career diplomats.

DOES NOT AGREE

R. B. Curry, assistant deputy minister of immigration, said in an interview the department does not agree that sources of skilled immigrants are drying up or Canada will be seriously affected by a United States decision to discard its quota system and admit immigrants on the basis of skills, a policy adopted by Canada a few years ago.

"We can get skilled immigrants even if the competition does increase," he said.

"Skilled people are available and can be persuaded to come to Canada even from countries with healthy economies. Can-

She said a "rather shabby" looking young man about 22 came into the store as she was alone and told her to clear the till.

"It looked like a real gun and I was in a trance."

After snatching up the money, he ran from the store down Dorlieth Crescent where a widespread search was in progress at press time.

(See Story Page 7)

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Board of Trade considers that the Canada-United States agreement for a tariff-free cross-border market on motor vehicles and parts may be a breach of international trading rules.

A spokesman for the government department said Sunday that the Canada-U.S. pact "seems to conflict with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade."

The breach, he added, appears to be more on the side of the United States than on Canada, though the board understands that the U.S. may seek a GATT waiver to implement the agreement.

"If a waiver is requested, the U.S. would need the support of two-thirds of the votes cast."

Asked if Britain would su port such a waiver, the spoke man said he could not comme at this time. It would depe on many things.

ASKED TARIFF CHANGE

The implication of his r marks appeared to be that Bri ain will press for removal U.S. tariffs on British car Other European motor-vehic exporters may take a simila attitude.

The spokesman said Canad allows British cars to come i duty-free but the U.S. charges tariff of 6½ per cent. Britai maintains far heavier tariffs o both Canadian and America cars. In addition, it charges heavy road tax on six and eigh cylinder North American ve hicles.

THE WITCHING HOUR

Ding Dong, Water's Gone

TORONTO (UPI) — Public works department engineers got caught with their pressure down Sunday night. They didn't know the Wizard of Oz was on television.

At 8:30 p.m., Toronto and its 12 suburbs echoed to the sound of running bathwater and flushing toilets as viewers rose from a two-hour viewing of Judy Garland and the Wicked Witch in the Wizard of Oz.

Generally on Sunday night, the works department prepares for an excessive demand of water at regular 30-minute periods.

One engineer said: "It's the first time I've ever been caught."

He said at one transfer station, the water level dropped 30 feet when the Wizard of Oz show ended. At 9 p.m. when the Ed Sullivan show ended, the level dropped only tw feet.

He described the three-mi ute period after the Wiza ended as the biggest pressu drop, because of television, seven years.

The engineer said the ope ators also keep a careful ey on the nights of the Stanle Cup playoffs. One operato takes along a transistor radi so he can tell when the hocke periods end.

SHASTRI FACES UNITED ATTACK

NEW DELHI (AP)—A crisis of confidence grips the Indian government.

New Delhi's top leaders privately say they are unsure of foreign policy and worried about India's internal health. Most important, their confidence in Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has slipped.

Shastri, 60, in office eight months, is coming under fire from his political opposition—rightist as well as leftist—and the Indian press is bombarding him with charges of indecisive rule of this land of 480,000,000 people.

Six months ago, when the stunning impact of Jawaharlal Nehru's death united India's ruling elite around Shastri, he could have easily withstood all this.

Today, even top aides in his Congress party are angry at what they call the prime minister's diplomatic ineptitude and political fumbling.

WANT HIS JOB

Several influential politicians quietly are campaigning for Shastri's job.

The only thing preventing an open political battle is fear among the aspirants that they lack the necessary party backing and that to challenge Shastri publicly at this time would unleash disruptive factors that could do immense harm to party and country.

This is reported by leading political and government figures who say nothing must be done to disturb India's precarious balance on the edge of economic chaos and political turmoil.

They see Shastri—a middle-roader—as the only man acceptable to the many factions of his huge Congress party. Almost all potential rivals in sight have carried leftist or rightist tags most of their political careers.

Nevertheless, political empire building is under way.

JOCKEY FOR SUPPORT

Railway Minister S. K. Patil, a pro-American conservative, is seeking support. A few months ago, he was strongly backing Shastri. Morarji Desai, an influential conservative, and V. K Krishna Menon, a leftist, are active. Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, who has acknowledged an ambition to be prime minister, is trying to work her way into the capital's inner circle.

Shastri, at first a reluctant hero, appears convinced that at this juncture he must hang on to the top job. But he also is aware that contenders are lining up.

"I have to carry on this burden," he said in an interview. "Given the time, some of the ticklish problems we are faced with at present will be resolved."

If any one ever kicked off Shastri's troubles it was his performance at the Cairo non-aligned conference in October. India hoped Shastri could take over Nehru's leadership of the non-aligned. Instead, Shastri took a licking in the backroom politics at Cairo.

Keener Interest Suggested In Latin American Affairs

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Canadians would be wise to take more interest in the 18 diversified republics of Latin America.

This was stressed by speakers at a three-hour seminar conducted by the Canadian Union of Students Committee of the University of Victoria in the Union Building on the Gordon Head campus Saturday afternoon.

The students showed keen interest by questioning the speakers.

W. A. Irwin, former Canadian ambassador to Brazil and Mexico and now publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, predicted the population of Latin America will reach 600,000,000 by the year 2000, compared with about 310,000,000 in Canada and the United States.

"In the changing pattern of world affairs," he said, "this diversified continent will play a very important part, and its future development is of vital concern to Canada."

Senor O. N. Brito, Brazilian consul in Vancouver, deplored "a widespread tendency" to regard Latin America as irresponsible, politically unstable and hindered by bad administration.

Prof. J. C. M. Ogelsby of the University's history department said Latin America has developed some of the world's most modern cities, huge steel and power plants, up-to-date factories and modern schools.

"Only a continent with the peculiar history of Latin America could have evolved so dramatically," he said.

Senor Brito spoke of the dangers of "generalizing" the characteristics of Latin American countries.

'MISLEADING'

"This presumption seems to arise from the common Iberian origin of Latin America, but it is indeed a misleading tendency."

He said it is hardly possible to point to a single identity as the characteristics of each country and its people are concerned.

Yet, in spite of this diversity, Latin America has ideals, aspirations and interests which date back to the Panama Congress in 1826.

The incipient Latin American states sought peace and friendship as well as mutual protection against reconquest by the mother countries or intervention by other foreign powers.

These long-standing aspirations had their fulfilment in the Inter-American Defence Treaty of Rio de Janeiro in 1947 and the signing of the charter of the Organization of American States at Bogota in 1948.

Now, Senor Brito said, the Latin American states are cooperating in such ventures as the Central American Area of Economic Integration and the Latin American Free Trade Association.

And "Operation Pan America," launched on the initiative of the Brazilian government in 1958, sought to reduce poverty and raise living standards through large-scale development.

DIVERSIFIED

He said the industries of Brazil are now as diversified as those of Canada, producing almost everything from clothing to electrical household appliances, from pins to heavy machinery, from precision tools to atomic reactors.

"We have the capacity to product 70 per cent of all our future needs of basic equipment as far as evaluation of presently known techniques allow.

"The main part of the task ahead will fall on our shoulders, but there is a wide field open for foreign aid and investment."

Answering questions from students, the consul said Brazilian industry is now being encouraged to seek new markets abroad.

To another question, Senor Brito said agriculture now accounts for only about 30 per cent of Brazil's gross national product. Yet 55 per cent of the country's population is supported by earnings from agriculture.

He said the passing of the Agrarian Bill would help correct the imbalance between high industrial production and a backward agricultural system.

Prof. Ogelsby traced the history of the Latin American countries from the days of the early Spanish and Portuguese settlers. More than half the population, he said, is one white, Indian and Negro.

Only about one-third of the people live in cities compared to two-thirds in the United States; many live in slums and many cling to old world customs.

The hope of the future, he said, is that prosperous farmers and industrial workers will create a new middle class to counteract the extremes of poverty and wealth.

DRAWN IN

Small communities would join to become larger communities, and isolated communities, now struggling to make a bare living, would be drawn into industry and modern finance.

Mrs. Olivia Barr, president of the Alma Mater Society of the University of Victoria, presided over the seminar, which was arranged by Miss Marie Howes and Miss Rosalind Boyd.

Among the special guests were Charles A. Sheehy, instructor in Spanish at the university; George Vincent, who travelled in South America with his family last year; Christopher Archer, a student of Latin American history and politics at the university; John Craddock, a Uvic student who formerly lived in Colombia; and Mr. Irwin, publisher of The Times.

HOME GARDEN

New Dwarf Strain Is Medal Winner

By HILDA BEASTALL

An all-American bronze medal winner for 1965 is a new strain of delphiniums of a desirable dwarf stature suited, it seems to me, to seaside gardens.

Hilda

Growing only to a height of 30 to 36 inches, Connecticut Yankee delphinium has been on trial at Canadian seed nurseries for two years.

The plants are neat yet bushy, having a spread of about two feet, and the blooms are two to two-and-a-half inches in diameter, excellent for mass planting.

Stems are strong and long lasting, suitable for cutting. Colors so far are mixed, predominantly purple, dark blue and light blue, but including also lilac and lavender.

As with all delphiniums, a well cultivated soil is needed, and mulching with compost or old manure by midsummer is beneficial.

Seed of delphinium should be sown now in flats indoors or in a greenhouse or coldframe to produce plants to flower outdoors this summer.

A temperature around 50 deg. F. is suitable for germination, and pricked out seedlings must be kept cool and airy until they are large enough to go outdoors.

After a hardening-off period in a coldframe, the young plants would do well in prepared rows in the vegetable garden for the first few weeks' growth.

Later removal to the flower garden can then be done without disturbance of the roots.

This new strain of dephiniums may add another dimension to some of our more exposed, cool summer gardens.

They should be worth a trial by those who have been unable to cope with the stately six and eight footers.

Gardeners entering the spikes in flower shows this year, should be careful to label their entries with the name Connecticut Yankee so that judges will not confuse them with the taller Pacific Giants.

'White Man Treats Indian Like Child'

EDMONTON (CP)—The most insidious enemy of the Canadian Indian is the white man's paternalism, but the Indian also suffers from his own "sectionalism and tribalism," William Wuttunee of Calgary, chief of the National Indian Council, said Friday.

Mr. Wuttunee said in an address to the annual meeting of the Edmonton Friends of the Indians Society that whites treat Indians "like children . . . second-class citizens . . . something that's sub-human."

He said the Alberta government has contributed to this sort of approach.

"In Alberta the Indian does not have the right to vote, nor does he have the right to decide whether he should drink.

"Indians shouldn't have to crawl on their bellies to ask for these rights."

He said if Indians could avoid sectionalism and tribalism they would be able to unite and work for a better lot.

The national Indian council was attempting to bring about such a united voice.

The federal administration concerns itself with the problems of people all over the world but not the problems of people in Canada, the Saskatchewan-born lawyer said.

"Canada has been very successful in hiding the skeleton in her closet."

The council had asked the National Centennial Commission for a $40,000 grant to help the Indians celebrate Canada's birthday, Mr. Wuttunee said.

"After a year of dawdling, the commission pared down the grant to $7,000."

The council had intended to use the money to finance the exchange of students and adults across the country to unify not only the Indian but the white man as well, he said.

Despite the setback, Mr. Wuttunee said the council means to go ahead with its plans. His organization hopes to represent Canadian Indians at the world's fair in Montreal, through backing from private interests.

Judge Splits Decision

Magistrate William Ostler made a split decision when it came to sentencing two 18-year-old youths in city court Friday.

He decided it would do "no good" to put Robert Richardson, 2862 Sooke Road, on probation so he sentenced him to eight months definite and four indefinite at the Young Offender's Unit at Oakalla.

But he gave a two-year suspended sentence to Glen R. Galbraith, 963 Isabel, although he agreed with Crown prosecutor Peter Birkett that it was "risky."

Richardson had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Industrial Iron, 343 Tyee Road, and to unlawful possession of housebreaking tools.

Galbraith pleaded guilty to possession of housebreaking tools.

'EASILY LED'

The magistrate said Richardson needs discipline and guidance.

Galbraith's counsel, Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre, said his client was "easily led." The magistrate said Galbraith was "not going to lay his troubles at Richardson's door."

Magistrate Ostler said he wouldn't have given a suspended sentence to Galbraith if there had been two charges against. The suspended sentence is for two years on a $500 bond.

ASTHMA & BRONCHITIS

Hard breathing, coughing, rattling and wheeziness due to recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis ruin your health and happiness. Try quick-acting MENDACO to combat allergy, relax bronchial tubes and help remove thick, congestive mucus. This usually eases breathing fast, allays coughing; making both life and work easier. Get MENDACO at druggists. Feel better fast. Advt.
